

Stocks Rally Only to Fade In Closing Hours

New York, Jan. 21 (AP)—An early stock market rally, touched off by renewed strength in rails, faded in the latter part of today's proceedings and gains running to a point or more were substantially reduced or transformed into losses of as much.

Prices were at the best in the forenoon.

Motors, lower throughout, weakened quickly and steel, trailing with the carriers in the morning, soon slipped into the minus column. A little bidding appeared in the final hour and closing quotations were above the laws in many instances.

Transfers were around 600,000 shares compared with yesterday's turnover of 377,000, smallest since October 21.

Main market drawbacks, brokers said, included possible actual entry of this country in the European war, taxation problems, likelihood of extensive administration controls of industry, and possibility of a congressional battle over the lend-lease bill acting as a deterrent to rearmament.

Among shaky stocks were General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. steel, Youngstown Sheet, Westinghouse, du Pont, Allied Chemical, Anacosta, Texas Corp., International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, Goodyear, Western Union and Montgomery Ward.

Up the greater part of the day were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Great Northern, Union Pacific, U. S. Rubber Preferred, and Armour Preferred.

Bonds were fairly steady, with rails and utilities doing better than other loans.

Dow Jones preliminary closing stock averages: Industrial 128.20, up 1.04; rail 28.90, up 0.05; utility 20.94, off 0.11; 85 stocks 43.30, off 0.25.

Stock sales approximated 580,000 shares compared with 380,000 yesterday when turnover was the smallest since last October 1. Curb stock sales were 98,000 shares against 89,000 yesterday.

Annual Session Of Jersey Club Here Saturday

The annual meeting of the Oregon Jersey Cattle club to be held at Salem, Saturday, January 25, promises to be one of interest to all Jersey breeders of Oregon according to Oscar Hagg of Redview, president. Among the guest speakers will be Governor Charles A. Sprague, Earl Small, secretary of state, and Prof. P. M. Brandt, head of the department of animal industry, Oregon State college.

Last year national recognition was given the state club's annual report of activities when it was awarded the Jersey Bulletin silver trophy for first place among similar clubs throughout the country. This speaks well for the Jersey breeders of Oregon and for the local and state club secretaries who made the report through W. C. Leih.

T. R. Warren, western fieldman for the American Jersey Cattle club, recently reported that more than 2500 purebred Jerseys were registered or transferred to new owners during the past year. He also stated that of the 42 Jerseys that have produced records above 1000 pounds of butterfat, 12 have been developed in Oregon. Several herds averaged over 500 pounds of butterfat per cow on official test.

The national association report further indicates that during the past year Oregon breeders had more cows on official production test than any other state except Ohio, that only 10 states have recorded more new Jersey breeders, and that only 12 states have been granted more junior memberships. Mr. Warren stated that 245 qualified Future Farmer and 4-H club members had been granted membership privileges during the year.

Matters slated to receive attention include the improvement of the Pacific International exhibit; the extension of the Jersey creamline marketing program; and location of future annual meetings. Meetings are now held regularly in Salem by authority of the constitution whereas it has been proposed that each of the dairy breed association meetings be held in conjunction with and on the first day of the Oregon Fair association meetings.

The state club was comprised of 15 county clubs of which the following men are presidents and they serve with state officers as a board of directors: M. N. Tibbles, vice-president; Independence; Jack Gribble, Canby; Homer Shelby, Albany; Henry Werner, Silverton; E. McIlvanna, 5408 N.E. Masson, Portland; David Ryner, Astoria; C. J. Hunter, Talent; M. D. Ackley, Tillamook; Edward Robertson, R. 1, Forest Grove; and Frank Finicum, Dayton, Oregon.

Air Search On For Lost Bomber

Portland, Jan. 21 (AP)—Eight army bombing planes took off from the Portland Columbia airport today on a search for a missing army bomber with seven men aboard which disappeared last Thursday on a flight from McChord field, Tacoma, to Sacramento, Calif. Captain J. J. O'Hara of the 17th bombardment group directed the search in the Columbia river area.

The eight planes he sent out searched a quadrangle bounded by Mount St. Helens, Mount Hood, Spirit Lake, Wash., and Oregon City.

At Sacramento, eight other bombers assigned to the search were grounded indefinitely by bad weather.

Capt. O'Hara said invisibility was fair in the immediate vicinity of Portland but the planes encountered ground fog in southern Washington. The planes will return this afternoon, gas up, and continue the search.

Similar bases were established at Pearson Field, Vancouver, Wash., Medford, Ore., and Sacramento, Calif.

Lieutenant O. W. Miller of Medford, air corps communications officer of the 17th bombardment group, has set up a field radio outfit in a truck on the Medford airport to facilitate communications with the searching planes.

Capt. O'Hara said the bombers would be concerned principally with running down scattered reports of persons who believed they saw or heard the missing plane.

18 Drowned in Ship Collision

Boston, Jan. 21 (AP)—Eighteen men drowned today, almost within sight of their homes, as the Boston schooner Mary E. O'Hara, homeward bound from a week on the fishing banks, was split open in a collision as it approached Boston harbor, and sank.

Five half-frozen survivors dragged to safety from the protruding mainmast of the sunken schooner by the crew of the trawler North Star told their rescuers that the O'Hara apparently had struck a barge and that the remainder of the crew of 23 had fallen from the rigging one by one, as their hands froze.

Brought ashore with their own hands and feet frozen, half dead from drenching and exposure, the men said their schooner had sunk so fast that there was no time even to launch a dory, and that they had fled into the upper portions of the rigging to cling there for three hours, in the early morning darkness, from 3 a.m. until 6.

The faint cries of the survivors were heard by members of the crew of the North Star as they passed Finn's Ledge, on the outer fringe of Boston harbor, a dozen miles from the city.

Lowdermilk to Give Lecture

W. C. Lowdermilk, who has traveled over much of the world observing how agriculture and entire civilizations have been wiped out by soil erosion, will give an illustrated lecture at the Neighbors of Woodcraft building in Portland, Friday, February 7, at 8 p. m. R. A. Ward, manager of Pacific Wool Growers, is sponsoring the appearance of Dr. Lowdermilk; and farmers, business men, teachers, students and all others interested are invited to attend the lecture.

"We are most fortunate in having such an internationally recognized authority bring his important message to the northwest," explains Mr. Ward. "Last summer when Dr. Lowdermilk made a lecture tour through the northwest his appearances met with such favor that he was induced to come back for another series. His colored slides and movies are especially outstanding, showing how reckless land use and erosion have changed rich farming areas into desert wastes, with the forewarning lesson that Pacific northwest land should be protected by sound conservation practices before further damage occurs here."

In his capacity as assistant chief of the soil conservation service, Dr. Lowdermilk recently was given a special commission to study land use and erosion conditions in other countries for the U. S. department of agriculture. His studies took him into Libya, Egypt, Palestine, Algeria, Tunisia, Trans-Jordan, Lebanon, Syria, Iraq, and several European countries. Formerly he made five agricultural explorations in China.

Dr. Lowdermilk points out that the present emphasis on national defense also should take into account the need for safeguarding our country's farms and ranges against waste and ruin. "It is well to remember, in this connection, that while we go through the formality of buying defense guns and battle-ships and planes with money, these armaments must in reality be paid for out of the production of our soil in the form of food and fiber. We can maintain a strong nation only by maintaining our soil resources on a sound basis."

Decline in Wheat Prices

Chicago, Jan. 21 (AP)—Wheat prices declined about a cent a bushel today. Rye was at a new low for the season on July and September contracts.

Wheat ended the day with net losses of 1/2 to 3/4 cent. Corn was off 1/4 to 1/2, oats off 1/4 to 1/2, rye off 1/4 to 1/2 and soy beans off 2-3¢.

Corn started steady but declined in sympathy with wheat and under moderate pressure from hedging interests. Liberal offerings of corn to arrive, 125,000 bushels, also had a depressing effect. Demand was mostly on resting orders. Receipts on track were estimated at 51 cars. Sales by shippers at noon were 35,000 bushels.

Selling was led by a leading elevator interest, resting orders by check checked the decline. Selling caused a recession in the soy bean market of better than 2 cents a bushel. The market recovered a small part of the loss.

Bill Would Cancel Oregon Deportations

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—The senate committee on immigration has before it a bill (S314) by Senator Clark (D., Ida.), which would authorize the attorney general of the United States to cancel deportation proceedings against 64 Basques now residing in Idaho, Oregon, Nevada and California.

A companion bill has been introduced by Representative Dworshak (R., Ida.).

The bill recited that the 64 were "legally admitted as seamen but who have remained in the United States longer than permitted by law."

The bill provided "that these aliens shall be considered as having been admitted for permanent entry as of the date of their actual entry (since 1929 in most instances) on the payment of the visa fees of $10 and head taxes of $8 per person."

Pratum—Enoch Welty has purchased some property in the Swegel district. He has had a well drilled and is building a house. This is strictly good and choice fed steers and yearlings fully steady. General undertone weak and rank and file steady crop dull, barely steady, mostly 80-85¢. Little above $14. Several loads going on shipper account, at $13.65-14.40, and strictly choice 80-85¢. Best light steers $14, med. grades 83-85¢. Fed heifers strong to 15¢ higher. Cows weak, bulls and vealers steady, weighty sausage bulls selling up to 8¢ and choice vealers to 14-25¢. Light vealers $10-12¢, packers in negligible supply, bulk steer crop comparatively short fed selling today measurably lower than last week's high price. Cattle—No. 1, 11-12¢. No. 2, 10-11¢. Sheep 17-20¢. All classes steady. Small lots fed lambs to city butchers $10-75¢; bulk good-choice handy and med. wt. $10-50¢, double 128 lb.

Wardlaw Talk Stresses Crisis

Spokane, Jan. 21 (AP)—In a prepared address which reflected throughout its length a sense of crisis facing the country, Pres. C. W. Wardlaw of Del Rio, Texas, opened the 76th National Wool Growers' association convention here today.

In the first paragraphs of the address, highlight of the opening session, Wardlaw asserted "the speed and destructiveness of the war (in Europe) have awakened the people of this country to the necessity for a real national defense program."

In the next paragraph, he added: "No individual and no organization should argue or protest at length regarding loyalty to our country and to the administrative officials chosen by the people. The national defense program will entail many sacrifices for the people of this country, but * * * I am confident the people of this country will leave no stone unturned to do their full part in carrying out the defense program. * * *

"And, I know the wool growers will wholeheartedly and willingly do their full part in carrying out the defense program."

Two notes of criticism of the federal administration entered into the address, when the speaker referred to the reciprocal trade agreements, "passed in spite of our best efforts," and the farm credit administration, which was inducted into the department of agriculture.

In his recommendations for the future, Wardlaw urged the wool growers to continue to fight against the trade agreements and to work for return of the P.C.A. to an independent status.

Survivors Tell Story of Horror

An Eastern Canadian Port, Jan. 21 (AP)—Twelve sailors died—some in agony and in madness, some quietly in sleep—but four lived to tell here today of 18 days of torture from thirst and exposure in an open lifeboat and adrift in the frigid North Atlantic.

An Italian submarine, which "just popped up alongside us," torpedoed and sank the 5162-ton British freighter Carlton 200 miles off Ireland December 20, the emaciated survivors related.

The crew of 34 put to sea in two lifeboats. One, with 18 aboard, still is missing. A British merchantman found the other and brought it here last night. They had subsisted on meager supplies of water and biscuits.

The four told of a battle between their ship, armed only with a Hotchkiss machine-gun, and the Italian warcraft.
