

Jack Lelivelt Dies Suddenly in Seattle Hospital

Heart Attack At Ball Game Proves Fatal

Seattle, Jan. 21 (AP)—John Frank "Jack" Lelivelt, 53, reputed to have been one of the highest paid managers in minor league baseball, died last night two hours after he was stricken with a heart attack while watching a basketball game.

Lelivelt, who piloted the Seattle Pacific Coast League baseball club to two successive pennants and was preparing to bid for a third the coming season, seemed in good health when he went to the game.

But before play had ended, he became ill and was taken by Roscoe Torrance, vice-president of the Rainiers, to the Washington Athletic club for first aid. He was then removed to a hospital where he died.

His widow, in southern California, was notified immediately by Emil Sick, president of the Seattle baseball club.

Lelivelt arrived here two days ago from their three-acre estate in the San Fernando valley to send out player contracts marking the start of his fourth season as manager of the Rainiers.

Before affiliating with the local ball club, he had gained national recognition for molding some of the most outstanding teams in minor league history while piloting Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League.

When a disagreement ended his management of the Angels, he decided to retire, but re-entered baseball as a scout for the Chicago Cubs.

Lelivelt spent more than 35 years in a baseball uniform. In his playing days he ranked high at bat for Washington, New York and Cleveland in the American league. He held down first base and outfield positions. Later he went to the American Association.

When his playing days ended, Lelivelt managed teams in the American Association, the Western and Texas leagues before entering Pacific coast baseball.

But by the way his Pioneers have been traveling, he may be teacher's pet before the No Name league season has been concluded. Oregon City won its fourth game out of five played at the expense of the Milwaukee Maroons last Friday night. Incidentally the Pioneers will be in Salem the night of Jan. 31.

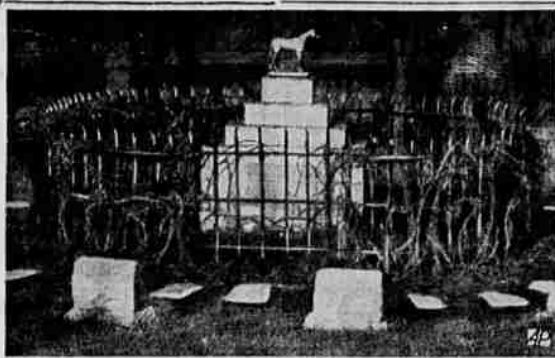

Camp Mary Creek Wins Ball Game
Camp Mary Creek, Coffin Mtn.—In a close basketball game played in the CCC Camp Mary Creek gym the locals triumphed over Co. 6418 from Camp Arboretum 16-15.

At quarter time the Southerners from Arboretum led five to nothing and at the half still held a 9-6 advantage. It was held for basket in the third which wound up 13-10. In the final frame the Mary Creek quintet took a deep breath and eked out a one-point victory.

This was Camp Mary Creek's second league victory in two starts against other Vancouver Barracks CCC district teams. The winner of the Camp Brice Creek-Camp Oakridge contest only stands in the way of a trip by the Santiam boys to the district tourney at Vancouver Barracks in February.

There was support also for J. A. (Babe) Brown, Moscow high school coach whose teams have not lost a game on Idaho gridirons for two years.

Meantime University President H. C. Dale promised the dismissal of Coach Fred Bank and his assistant did not mean "de-emphasis" of Idaho football.

Spokane Bombers Invade Portland
Portland, Ore., Jan. 20—Faced by the league's two outstanding rookie defense men, the Spokane Bombers will invade the Coliseum in Portland Thursday night to renew Pacific coast ice hockey league hostilities.

The two defense aces, who feature a body-bruising type of play, are George Steeves and Don Emery. A year ago they were the bulwark of the Gonzaga university hockey club. Now they are considered the pro-league's two best possibilities for graduation to the major circuits.

Meanwhile, the Portland Buckaroos, who got off to a mediocre start, have begun to click. As the rookies on the club go, so go the Bucks. The experience of 29 games has put the youngsters in form and they are more than carrying their share of the burden now.

Vikings and OSC Rooks meet Tonight

Coach Harold Hauk will put on the floor at 8 o'clock tonight the five contenders who have played good basketball in prep circles when Salem high's Vikings encounter the Oregon State rooks on the local court. These include Selstrom and Simmons, forwards; Bob Irish, center; Coons and Bower, guards.

A preliminary at 6:30 will bring together Coach Tom Drynan's junior varsity and the First Baptists of the Church league.

While little information concerning the capacities of the OSC yearlings is available, it is known the outfit includes a number of boys who gained recognition during their high school days. The roster of Coach Bill McKally's squad issued a couple of weeks ago listed 18 men. Since then, at least one has been dropped. With the exception of one, all are from Oregon. The exception is Don Drullner, a six-footer from Redondo Beach, Calif.

That isn't quite the way a Washington sportster heard it, however. Al Stump writes in the Vancouver Columbian that Twogood might have put up a successful fight against removal but that he was sick and tired of the Idaho billet with its increasing faculty pressure and decided to quit before he went quietly crazy.

This originated in The Dalles gymnasium after The Dalles' cage team had defeated the Bend Lava Bears, 50 to 28.

As a gesture of courtesy Coach Vern Sprague of The Dalles sent a messenger to the Bend dressing room to ask Coach Hank Nilsen if there was anything he needed.

Returned the messenger with: "Nilsen says yes. He needs a new ball club."

Hurney, former Oregon football and baseball star, will coach basketball, track and baseball. McClellan will direct the physical education program and teach health education of the school of physical education at the University of Oregon.

Hendrickson, first lieutenant in the reserves, will return to his coaching post here after a year's active service in the army at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Giants Grid Coach Cracks 'Wildcat' Game

Parrish Plays Leslie Friday

Parrish and Leslie junior highs will square off Friday night at 8 o'clock in the first of a series of three hectic hoop tilts which are always a series of rivalry surpassed by few senior institutions.

The intramural standings favor Parrish but slightly and even though the north end junior high is favored the Leslie quint has the edge in both shooting averages and reserve power.

Ticket selling has been carried on at both schools throughout the week and expectations are for the biggest crowd of the three games. The game will be played on the Parrish floor.

The Pioneers will start with Bob Warren and Jim Wenger or Bill Morgan and Travis Cross at forwards; Ed Brande at center; and Eldon Farlow, Captain Don Chapman or Jack Carter as guards.

This originated in The Dalles gymnasium after The Dalles' cage team had defeated the Bend Lava Bears, 50 to 28.

Giants Grid Coach Cracks 'Wildcat' Game

Los Angeles, Jan. 21 (AP)—Big Steve Owen was talking straight from the shoulder, and this hefty coach of the New York Giants professional football team has very large and very wide shoulders.

"As long as you have such disgraceful 'wildcat' games as you had Sunday, you'll never see major league pro football in Los Angeles or California," he declared in an interview.

Owen, preparing to shove off for New York, referred to a belated grid engagement between the Los Angeles Bulldogs and a hastily recruited, rapidly-drilled squad made up largely of college seniors who but a few weeks ago were the toast of their scattered football worlds. The collegians won 9-7. The promotion, financially speaking, was hardly a success.

"It was a shame," continued Owen, "to see those kids exploited out there, taking all kinds of bodily risks—and for $10 a head. Yes, that's what some of the boys told me they got after the game was over. A million dollars worth of talent promoted and sold for 10 bucks a head."

The All-Star collegians included several lads who took the banners of the University of Southern California into the Rose Bowl two years in succession. One was Al Krueger, the rangy end who was a hero when he caught the pass that beat Staunch Duke in the closing seconds of that 1939 battle.

Big Jim Kisebergh of Oregon State, one of the best fullbacks in the Coast conference, was another. "Kisebergh told me that was the only time he'd ever played football for his supper," Owen commented.

"And how," he went on, "these kids could get together, practice a week or less, and then beat the seasoned Bulldogs, most of whom have been playing pro ball for years, is something I can't answer. The Bulldogs had won the Pacific coast pro championship the Sunday before. Now what does that make professional football look like?"

Scotts Mills—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dale and small daughter of Oswego were over weekend visitors at the home of Mr. Dale's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dale.
