

Open House—The sliding glass doors looking out on a terrace are not the only features making for freedom of perspective and movement in this dining-living room, the design for which won a first prize for Margaret Timmel of New York in the 1941 contest sponsored by the American Institute of Decorators. Dining area is adjacent to kitchen and sliding serving door opens on a convenient shelf near the table. Fireplace serves the entire room. Radio (flush with wall) and book shelves are convenient to built-in couch. Note desk (work area) at extreme right and modern conservatory behind glass panels giving mural effect at extreme left. Except for desk lamp, all lights are set in ceiling.

Bigger, Bolder plaids appear in new spring suits. Here beige and brown combine in a lively tweed. The hat, of yarn pompoms, echoes the red of the suit. Shown recently at a New York fashion show.

Mrs. Ficklin Incentive For Gay Party

Stayton—The home of Mrs. Wendel Weddle was the scene of a delightful affair, Tuesday evening, when she entertained with a dessert bridge party, honoring Mrs. Hattie Ficklin. Valentine motifs were carried out in the appointments about the rooms and at the supper hour.

Bridge score honors were won by Mrs. Kentin Thompson, high, and Mrs. Eugene Spaniol, second. A Valentine prize was won by Mrs. Lawrence Siegmund.

The guest list included the honored guest, Mrs. Hattie Ficklin, Mrs. V. R. Tuel, Mrs. Eugene Spaniol, Mrs. C. A. Beauchamp, Mrs. George Bell, Mrs. Dave Johns, Mrs. Everett Gettman, Mrs. Walter Bell, Mrs. Lawrence Smith, Mrs. Burl Betzer, Mrs. Kentin Thompson, Mrs. Gilbert Schastlick, Mrs. Herman Darley, Mrs. Lawrence Siegmund, Mrs. Fernando Smith, Mrs. D. B. Bryant, Mrs. Douglas Heater and the hostess, Mrs. Wendel Weddle.

Mrs. Ficklin was the recipient of many beautiful gifts.

Jefferson — Mr. and Mrs. Guy Aupperle entertained at a birthday dinner Sunday, honoring the birthday anniversary of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Aupperle. Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Ferris Pease of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. William Duckworth, and George Dunn, of Eugene; Mrs. Myra Reed and daughter, Mrs. Ruth Reed, of Salem; Mrs. S. A. Pease, of Jefferson; Mr. and Mrs. Aupperle and the honor guest, Miss Aupperle.

Campus Chatter

by Adele Say

University of Oregon—The tingle of victory is still alive at Oregon after Oregon won the basketball game from Oregon State, 36-35, Saturday night as the big climax of Dad's week-end.

Saturday night tables were lined all over Gerlinger assembly room for the Dad's banquet and cherry pie and scalloped potatoes were piled high. Shirley Huntington and Molly Jean Malson looked excited and busy as they served food to pleased papas, sons and daughters. Barbara Pierce walked up on the stage to receive the cup for the Pi Phi house—given to them because they had the largest attendance of dads on the campus. Bob Lafky and Don Seeley, Peter Smith and Bud Vandenynde all were enjoying their roast pork, with or without fathers.

Dads from Roseburg, Pendleton, The Dalles mixed at the banquet, lighting each other's cigars and imaginations. There were several songs by sorority and fraternity choruses and Mary Ellen Mills was spotted in the front row of the Pi Phi chorus.

Mary Anne Owen and Margaret Barrett both had their dads down to visit. Mary Anne said hers could only stay for Saturday, but Margaret's stayed all week-end, and attended the banquet with her, along with Amos Jahn, who looked very cherry-pie'd and happy after it was all over.

Eleanor Sederstrom, chairman of the banquet, could very well have breathed sighs of contentment on Saturday night when the banquet closed and everyone walked out well-fed and happy.

Booked for the campus this week was Gladys Swarthout, beautiful coloratura soprano whose brushed, heart-winged brunette hair is as famous as her voice.

Next campus entertainment will be the Heart Hop on Thursday evening, for which a King of Hearts will be elected. The lucky campus man who wins this title by the votes of co-eds who have bought tickets to the dance, will be first crowned, then crowned. He will receive the first honor at the Alpha Chi Omega house at 4 o'clock on Thursday. From then on his friends will give him a little "rippling rhythm" in the millstream for being King of Hearts. Even a king is not too great to be dunked, according to the campus code.

Last Friday night Gerlinger was a dancing tabloid when Alpha Delta Sigma, advertising honorary, gave its annual Krazy Kopy Krawl. The ceiling was covered with Emeralds, Oregonians and Capital Journals. The walls were decorated with huge ads and just above the orchestra was a big Pettie drawing. Free samples were given out at the Krawl, and no matter what Emily Post says about chewing gum, Krawlers disregarded it after they were all given free gum, and that was something to chew on. In the united press because that's how crowded it was, Edythe Davis, Barbara Jean Vincent, Betty Annunnen and Betty Anne Lemon were dancing.

Mrs. Hugh Rogers Rural Club Hostess

Oak Point—Mrs. Hugh Rogers entertained the Independence Rural Women's club Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Grove Peterson gave a report on her visit to the Polk County Federation of Rural Women's Clubs held at Buena Vista recently.

Mrs. Clyde Comstock, chairman of the ways and means committee, announced the club would sponsor a cooked food sale and bazaar to be held in April at Inley's. Numbers on the program were: two piano solos, by Elton Rogers; reading on traffic safety, by Mrs. Bert Givin; reading, by Hazel Hughes, and Valentine contest, with Mrs. Ollie Rutherford, and Jean Black, prize winners.

Mrs. A. Terjerson will entertain the club February 25, with a 1 o'clock luncheon. Mrs. Rogers was assisted at the tea hour by Mrs. Rutherford.

Guests and members present were Mrs. Leonard Peterson, Mrs. Ollie Rutherford, Miss Jean Black, Mrs. Hattie Black, Mrs. Anna Allen, Mrs. Grove Peterson, Mrs. A. Terjerson, Mrs. Bert Givin, Mrs. Steve Van Houten, Mrs. R. A. Alderson, Mrs. Clyde Comstock, Mrs. LaVant Pease, Mrs. T. J. Primus, Miss Florence Titus, Hazel Hughes and the hostess, Mrs. Rogers.

Hayesville—Mrs. Elsa Frey is announcing the coming marriage of her eldest daughter, Marcelle Edna, to Harvey Bruce Christenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Christenson of Silverton. The young folks have chosen Saturday, March 8, as their wedding date, the services to take place in the Christ Lutheran church of Salem. Mr. Christenson is now stationed at Camp Murray.

College Capers

by Mary Jane Conmy

Oregon State College—Tired co-eds slept later than usual Saturday morning following the Nickel Hops of the night before. They had danced from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock Friday night with college men who had paid a nickel for 15 minutes of dancing. Every women's living group opened its doors to the men and turned on their personality charm as well as their photographs, each attempting to outdo the other by collecting the most nickels for the Associated Women Students. Kappa Alpha Theta succeeded in collecting more money than any other group. This broke the seemingly endless record of Alpha Chi Omega, which had obtained the most nickels for the past three hops.

Initiation week at Willamette did not keep all of its students at school as Al Ferrin, Kappa Gamma Rho; John Martin, Sigma Tau, and Bob Ewing were seen spending their nickels Friday night. Peggy Reinholdt was the house guest of Virginia Stead at Delta Delta Delta for the hop. Saturday night, Peggy went to the Delta Upsilon formal. Jean Moore of Salem spent the week-end with Ruth Annunnen.

Bob King and Bill Carrol seemed to make all the houses on their dancing tour of the hop. Maybe Bill was making up for his loss to Tom Hill, Phi Delta, in the table tennis tournament played February 5. Jack Hayes and Bill Fillmore danced most of the hop at Kappa Alpha Theta. Jack and Irene Paulson must have reserved the west end of the Theta living room or were they dancing there because there were more men cutting in at the east end of the room?

Virginia Stead and a Tri-Delta sister drove to Salem Saturday with Mary Ellen Bywater. They rode in the turtle-back of Mary Ellen's escort's automobile, serenading the couple as they drove.

The choice of the ten most beautiful Oregon State girls for the '41 Beaver yearbook has begun as students started voting Wednesday for the 20 out of the 56 girls nominated for this picture contest. These 20 pictures chosen will be sent to Tyrone Power, moving picture star, for selection of the final ten. Jean Dawson will be on the committee in charge of the voting.

Frances Ann Mott, one of the 56 beauties chosen, as is Marjorie Wilcox of Albany, will participate in a skit put on by the etiquette committee to be presented at Albany high school February 14. Gene Holstein, Phi Delta Theta, will also be in this skit concerning table manners and introductions. Saturday morning, Frances Ann was in charge of an etiquette program over station KOAC giving information on manners for Nickel hop-goers.

The inter-fraternity sing, Thursday night, as usual caused the men's gymnasium to be crowded. Beta Theta Pi again took the cup for the best singing. Sigma Phi Epsilon came second and Kappa Sigma third with 64½ points.

The final checking of names and proof reading has been completed on the winter term student directory. The "Fussers Guide" has been completed and is now on sale. The directory is renewed every term.

Sunday night's tea dance attracted Salemites as Elizabeth Anne Herrick escorted by Hank Tortmann of St. Louis, Jack Hayes and Irene Paulson and Eleanor Rosson were there.
