Greece Renews Aid Appeal

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Greek government, it was learned today, has made a second urgent appeal to the United States for help—particularly for warplanes—"before it is too late."

The result has been to start defense officials on a fresh canvass of available supplies in search of aircraft that can be spared to reinforce the Greeks in their struggle with the Italians.

Greece's renewed plea for the assistance promised by President Roosevelt some time ago reached here during the last several days. It arrived just before the signing this week of the Turco-Bulgarian non-aggression pact which may alter the Balkan status quo and exert a decisive effect on the military and political future of Greece.

Climon P. Diamantopoulos, the Greek minister, conferred with Undersecretary Welles yesterday, but both refrained from statements on their talk. It was reported, however, that they had discussed Greece's situation in the light of the most recent developments, including the Turco-Bulgarian pact, and that the question of speedy American aid had been "mentioned."

The problem of finding planes for Greece is admittedly beset with difficulties, for aircraft factories already are loaded with orders for the army, navy, Britain and China. The question, however, was understood to be under study by the navy department and the national defense commission's priorities board.

Motorized Corps Moving South From Rumania

Craiova, only 40 miles north of the Danube.

The Yugoslav cabinet went into emergency session in the early afternoon as the Belgrade government's attitude toward the fast-moving international events still lacked complete clarity.

Dispatches from the Bulgarian port of Ruse, on the Danube facing Rumania, where German troops are massed, said the Rumanian people fought "communist demonstrations" against the expected entry of naz troops into Bulgaria.

Airports Active
Unusual activity was reported from all Rumanian airports controlled by the German air force, with fighting and bombing planes lined up on the runways.

Military observers at Ruse (Rusochuk), Bulgaria, on the Danube, facing Giurgiu, Rumania, said that German engineers continued their drill of floating pontoon bridges, but they insisted that none had touched the Bulgarian shore.

This drill has been going on daily for many weeks, apparently in the naval effort to have everything in readiness when and if the time comes for crossing.

The Balkan situation was typically complex.

High-lighted was the belief expressed by observers that Adolf Hitler had approved cessation of another slice of dwindling Rumania to Soviet Russia in return for Moscow's "cooperation"—that is, a passive attitude—with his plans for southeastern Europe.

Russia's reward, these observers said, probably will be the province of Moldavia on which the Soviet long has cast covetous eyes, as even recent diplomats acknowledge.

$2,460,000 for Tongue Point

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—The way the navy seeks to spend funds on five Pacific northwest and Alaska defense projects, under authority of the regular naval appropriation bill, was set forth Wednesday in a report of the house naval affairs committee to the house.

The money will be in addition to the emergency construction asked by the president last week, for which funds are expected to be appropriated next week.

The totals, in the committee report, were:

Kodiak Station, $4,331,500; Unalakpa, $4,855,000; Sitka, $4,305,000; Tongue Point, Ore., $2,460,500; and the naval air station, Seattle, $603,000.

For the Seattle station, it listed: Additional gasoline storage $100,000; extension of seaplane parking area $30,000; additional recreational facilities, $50,000; improvement to and purchase of outlying fields, $150,000; and extension of warming up platform, $100,000.

American Aid Sought for Use Of Irish Ports

London, Feb. 21 (AP)—The British government is seeking the aid of the United States and Canada to gain the use of Irish ports on the ground that a German-dominated Ireland would constitute a definite threat to their interests in the Atlantic, an usually reliable source said today.

This source asserted that despite Prime Minister Eamon De Valera's insistence on absolute neutrality for Ireland, there were almost "continuous discussions" regarding Irish ports which Britain says she needs to counter German aerial and submarine attacks on her shipping.

It was said there was a movement to get the United States and Canada to take a lead in these discussions.

"The feeling here," this source said, "is that Ireland is a potential enemy base in the Atlantic which is just as much a problem from a long range viewpoint to the United States and Canada as it is immediately to Britain."

It was reported that at the instance of Britain De Valera already had given an unofficial American intimation that there is considerable sentiment in the United States that if the British need Irish bases they should have them.

To this was added a reputed American view that Ireland's neutrality actually leaned backward in favor of Germany.

Wendell Willkie was said to have given some hints of American opinion during his conversations with De Valera in Dublin February 4 and some sources expressed the hope that the United States might return Willkie or another as an official emissary to urge Ireland to stop Irish ports at British disposal.

Plan Trip up North Santiam

County Commissioners Gloyd and Smith and County Engineer Hubbs are scheduled to make a trip over Junction Monday with Market Road Engineer Cutler of the state highway department and probably other state highway officials to look over the road.

The trip is an offshoot of the offer by Marion and Linn county courts to give the road to the state for a secondary highway, the state to take over its maintenance and future improvement.

Examination will probably be followed by a report by the state highway engineers to the commission on the condition of the road and as to just what the state will be getting if it accepts the offer.

While the commission is mulling over the offer of the county to give it the North Santiam road, the county court this morning in turn accepted from the state the remainder of the old Pacific highway immediately south of town which was abandoned by the new improvement made there last year.

The highway commission sent a letter and map to the county court today along with a copy of a resolution it had passed abandoning the pieces of roadway. The letter advised that unless the county court accepted these pieces of abandoned highway for public use they would revert to the property owners.

The court, on motion of Commissioner Smith, voted to accept the pieces of road which are used by property owners in the vicinity.

Auto Crashes Into Laden Farm Wagon

A spectacular traffic accident that, miraculously, did not result in serious injuries to anyone, occurred near the Big Chief service station north of Salem about 5:30 o'clock this morning.

Edward Ira Platt, route 1, Canby, an employe in the state senate chamber at the legislature, was driving north. Ahead of him was James Delbert Weathers, Salem route 8, driving a team of two horses hitched to a light vehicle on which were loaded a plow, harrow and other farm implements. He also was driving north.

Platt's automobile crashed into the horse-drawn vehicle, badly wrecking it, scattering the implements and injuring Weathers to some extent.

Weathers had a lighted lantern on the rear of his vehicle, but weather was foggy, and Platt said he didn't see the light.

to some of the provisions of HB 450 which, among other things, would require licensed barbers in Oregon to be high school graduates.

These upstate barbers say they were not consulted as to the provisions of the measure, backed by the Portland union and championed before the legislature by the secretary of that union in person, and they object strenuously to the proposed increase in the annual license fee for employers to $3 and the boosting of the license charge for new shops to $10.

No Recess Likely
Efforts of a group of Portland members to induce the house to recess for the week-end at the close of today's business were apparently blocked by Speaker Farrell's insistence that they remain in session Saturday to clear the way for the earliest sine die adjournment possible. It will be the first Saturday that the house has worked this session.

Today is the 40th day of the session and the last for which members can draw $3 pay, although observers predict that another 15 days at least will be required to clean the calendars.

Favor Organization Of Indian Youth

Chemawa, Ore., Feb. 21—The unanimous decision of Indian youth attending the conference at Chemawa this week was that a national organization of Indian youth should be formed, modeled somewhat after the Future Farmers of America of their white brothers. The report was submitted today, signed by Loraine L. Fry of the Colville tribe of Washington, who was secretary of the group.

At the same time resolutions of the adult division, which included government officials in the Indian service, gave support to this ambition of the youth. On the resolutions committee were Carl Stevens, superintendent of Indian education in the northwest, with headquarters at Salem; George P. LaVatta, field agent, Portland; I. R. Bowman, of the Rocky Boy reservation of Montana; Miss Wynona Florence, of the Tongue River reservation of Montana, and C. H. Lockett, of Wind River reservation of Wyoming.

The youth committee expressed in its report a desire that the national youth organization be jointly for boys and girls, and include junior high school students and members beyond the high school level. This form of organization they held desirable because it would give opportunity for wider interest and greater membership, develop more cooperation on the reservations and in the Indian communities. In general the plan is development of character and training for better citizenship, and encouragement of the appreciation of opportunities at home and on the reservations. It would, said the report, strengthen the confidence of the Indian youth in himself and in his work and improve home and surroundings.

The students among the visitors numbered 16, representing 14 tribes. Total attendance was about 65.

The resolutions committee mentioned that recent surveys showed that most Indian boys and girls remain in their home communities after leaving school.

"Cognizant of this information," said the report, "it behooves us to provide them with training that fits them for a more satisfactory life at home."

It was held that the youths should be free in their choice of a way of life, and that "Indian initiative and active participation are essential in any program of planning."

"Recognizing the fact that any progress we can make must be based upon the establishment of substantial happy homes, our educational program must be directed to that end."

A dance was given by the students of Chemawa last night for the enjoyment of the visitors. This afternoon the visitors from the inland reservations are being taken on a trip to the beach, most of them never having seen the ocean.

C of C Celebrates Burning of Notes

A fiery address is to be delivered by Bishop Bruce R. Baxter, and a real hot time enjoyed by members of the Salem Chamber of Commerce on the evening of March 24 at 7 o'clock in the Chamber dining room. The affair is to be a celebration, and the occasion for it will be the burning of two notes, signifying that the Chamber has paid itself out of debt.

The indebtedness was incurred three years ago when the headquarters of the Chamber on Liberty street was remodeled throughout. This was during the administration of Barkley Newman as president. Mr. Newman is now manager of the Montgomery Ward store at Port Angeles, Wash., and will be a special guest when the notes are burned.

The celebration will center about a banquet table, with the food considerably more elaborate than the usual Monday noon luncheon, and on that particular Monday there will be no noon meeting.

Plans are being made to seat several hundred members of the Chamber.

American-Japan Parley July 29

Pullman, Wash., Feb. 21 (AP)—The eighth annual American-Japan student conference will be held at the University of Washington, Seattle, July 29. Executive Chairman Carl Ronning, Washington State college senior, said today. American colleagues went to Tokyo last year for the sessions.

About 50 Japanese are expected to attend for round table discussions with students from western U. S. colleges. After the conference the Japanese will tour Washington, Oregon and California, sailing from Los Angeles for home in September.

Rations of Fats Cut in Italy

Rome, Feb. 21 (AP)—Italian rations of fats, including oil, butter and pork fats, will be cut in half effective March 1, and after March 1 the sale of ice cream and pastry will be banned entirely. Minister of Agriculture and Food Controller Giuseppe Tassinari decreed today.

Virginia Giaysa, writing in the newspaper Giornale d'Italia, said that "the new ration measures are inspired by the reality of facts."

"Heretofore, on paper, there have been greater amounts of fats which, however, could not be obtained because of the insufficiency of products," Giaysa wrote. "The government's policy is sincere and serious and it does not want to promise what it cannot really give."

At present Italians are allowed only 28 ounces of fats—oil, butter and pork fats—per person per month. After March 1 the ration will be 14 ounces per person per month. That will give Italians less than 1/4 pound of fats per week per person.

Eley Discusses 10 Year Plan

Development and beautification of the river front and Mill creek and the acquisition of additional parks and their betterment have struck a more popular chord among the residents of the city than any other portion of a so-called "10 year plan," Frederick Eley, Salem architect, chairman of the civic committee of the Chamber of Commerce, passed this information along to the Salem Realty board during its luncheon Friday. Eley said the development of river frontage should play an important part in any long term plan.

Eley warned that unless concerted effort is made by owners of business property in the district lying between High and Commercial and Perry and Center, to modernize their holdings, there is danger of two districts being established. He pointed out that in few instances have streets with business houses on one side alone really been important. He said High street would not develop because of the county property to the east. Eley said, in his opinion, the real civic center begins immediately east of the postoffice and extends through the capitol grounds. He made the suggestions that a courthouse with business houses on the lower floor might remedy the situation.

The speaker declared that his of the city working together on a committee hoped to get all groups coordinated plan which would be for the common good of the entire community.

Lumberman Raps U S Policies

Seattle, Feb. 21 (AP)—Leaders of the Western Retail Lumbermen's association predicted 1,000 delegates from the western states would be assembled today for the second day's session of the convention in which governmental policies' influence on the building industry is a dominant theme.

"It is most amazing," W. C. Bell, managing director of the association, told the gathering, "to see one branch of the government—the federal housing administration—spending huge sums of money to promote home building, and see this same program being constantly neutralized day by day through broad statements generally discrediting the building industry and its products."

"Whether we like it or not, we are being forced into the position of organizing a strong program of defense for private building."

He said the industry "every family in America it is easier for them to own their own home today than at the beginning of the century."

Counseling that the national defense program would bring further regulation and restriction, Bell cautioned:

"It is our duty as patriotic Americans to accede to these emergency measures as they are needed, but we must stand guard against those tendencies that may destroy the very things we have set out to defend—our homes and individual freedom."
