Young America Learns About Army Planes—You can pretty certain none of the spectators at the dedication of the army's $3,500,000 air base at Savannah, Ga., was more interested than this group of youngsters. Army officers invited them to get right in the cockpit of a fighter plane and examine guns and gadgets just as they liked. — Associated Press Photo.

Active Has Celebration of Founder's Day

Active International celebrated its 19th birthday on Thursday evening with a banquet at Silverton. The Portland, Silverton and Salem clubs each had a large delegation present in honor of the first Active club which was founded in Aberdeen, Wash., during the month of February, 1922.

Distinguished guests present for the occasion were Ted Little, international president from Olympia, Wash.; Ed Williams, executive secretary from Seattle; Don Hood, past international president from Portland; and Laurence Fletcher, district governor from Portland. Mr. Little described the growth of the organization from the small group in Aberdeen to its present international scope, and stressed the need of a young men's service group in communities of today.

The guest speaker of the evening, Dr. R. Franklin Thompson of Willamette university, was introduced by Garlen Simpson. Dr. Thompson gave an inspiring talk on Americanism and the preservation of our democracy. One of the factors advanced by Dr. Thompson, which should do much toward developing men to accept responsibilities and thereby guarantee our democratic institutions as they are today, was the Active club and other service groups operating in our United States. Their steady influence will have a good effect during the troubled times ahead.

Hicks President of Community Chest

T. M. Hicks was elected president of the Salem Community Chest by the board of directors last evening succeeding T. L. Windshar who has served the past year. Mr. Windshar had indicated his desire to be released from the duties in connection with the office.

Other officers named were Iri McSherry, first vice-president; Guy Hickok, second vice-president; Mrs. R. S. Keene, secretary, and Linn C. Smith, treasurer.

The board of directors passed a motion offered by former president, William M. Hamilton, highly commending the retiring president for his work and the time which he gave unselfishly during his incumbency.

H. J. Braden, executive secretary, reported that the audit for the 1940-41 chest showed a total in pledges receivable of $45,835 and 71.5 per cent of the pledges already collected. The percentage is the highest as to pledges collected for a similar period for the past four years, his statement showed.

Salem Lodge No. 4, A. F. & A. M. will act as host lodge Saturday evening, February 22, to Washington Lodge No. 4, A. F. & A. M. from Vancouver, Wash. It is unusual for a lodge from one grand lodge jurisdiction to visit a lodge operating under another jurisdiction and particularly to have lodges of the same number from each state visiting together. The purpose of this particular event is so that the two lodges may join together in the celebration of George Washington's birthday.

Of particular interest to Masons in this vicinity is the fact that Washington Lodge No. 4 will confer a Master Mason degree using the Washington ritual and paraphernalia which is quite different from Oregon's work. Elbert Bede, editor of the Masonic Analyst, will give a talk on "George Washington in 1841."

The members of Washington No. 4 have chartered a 40 passenger bus in which to make the trip and expect to have a large attendance in Salem.

This meeting to which all Masons are invited will commence at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening and will be concluded by a supper.

Month-Long A-C Strike May Be Settled

Hopes brightened today for speedy settlement of the month-long strike at the Milwaukee plant of Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company, which holds $45,000,000 in national defense orders.

Company negotiators announced last night their acceptance of a strike-settlement formula offered by the office of production management in Washington, D. C. The agreement remained to be acted upon by the CIO-United Automobile workers, representing 6,800 striking workmen.

Arbitration of disciplinary matters was the principal stipulation in the agreement prepared by the production management office.

Another bright spot in the defense labor picture was a reported tentative agreement to end a strike of 400 employees of the Vanadium Company of America plant at Niagara Falls, N. Y. The strikers, members of the CIO-United Mine Workers union, were to vote on ratifying the agreement today. Wage increases and a closed shop were at issue. The company manufactures ferro-vanadium, used in making many articles of defense.

Big Michigan automobile factories felt repercussions of the strike of 2,500 employees of the Motor Wheel corporation at Lansing, Mich., called February 13 by AFL-United Automobile Workers who sought a closed shop.

Officials of Packard Motor company at Detroit announced that automotive divisions of their plant would not open today, because of a shortage of wheels caused by the Lansing walkout. The shutdown made 7,500 men idle.

Two automobile plants at Lansing—Oldsmobile and Fisher body—shut down last night. Fisher officials said a "slow-down" forced the closing last night only, but that the plant, employing 2,200, would reopen today. Oldsmobile reported lack of material forced their shutdown, affecting 2,500 men.

Nation Bigger Than Party Says McLeod

That the nation is bigger than the party must be recognized if the democratic party wants to continue as a national one, George McLeod, dean of the Willamette university law school, told the Young Democrats at a luncheon yesterday attended by nearly 150 persons, including delegations from 16 counties and a number of democratic members of the legislature.

Party solidarity was emphasized by Charles H. Leach, Portland, state democratic central committee chairman, and Ed Howell, The Dalles, chairman in charge of plans for the Young Democrats' state convention there in April, who were speakers. Paul Plank, state president of the Young Democrats, presided. He was introduced by Lee Crawford, local attorney.

Greetings were read from Vic Meyers, lieutenant governor of Washington, who had been scheduled to speak; Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., Homer Adams, national president and Congressman Walter M. Pierce.

A cocktail party was held late in the afternoon at the apartments of Senator Lew Wallace.

Hike Planned For Saturday

That young people of today still like to hike is being proven by the enthusiastic response given to plans for a Washington's Birthday trip to be taken this coming Saturday by the young people of the First Presbyterian church of Salem. The hike will be led by Don Douris, youth director at the Presbyterian church.

The group will leave the church at 6:30 a.m. on Saturday, with their goal being Indian Prairie lake, sometimes known as Snow Peak lake, and located in the beautiful mountain country near Seilo. Lunches and cameras will be taken, and upon reaching their destination, a brief stay at the lake will be enjoyed while lunch is eaten and pictures taken. The group will return to Salem by 6:00 p.m.

Mr. Douris states that several more cars are still needed to care for the transportation of the 49 hikers who have registered for the trip, and asks that any friends or members of the church who could take a carload, either taking the hike or returning in the evening to bring back a load, call the church office.

Those who have registered for the hike include: Rosemary Gaiser, Laura Jean Bates, Dale Bates, Lucille Reed, Roy Burns, Marion Phelps, Ray Loter, Barbara Ann Ricketts, Lois Barrick, Maxine Wagner, Jean Fowler, Edna Fisher, Paul Nestell, Milton McClain, Myrtle Meier, James Kirkland, Gil Adams, Gertrude Meier, Cameron McDonald, Shirley Silbertorne, Ruby Kearns, Shirley Parker, Elizabeth McGee, Dorothy Hunt, Patricia Noble, Buena Stewart, Phyllis Nelson, Pat Sears, Marjorie Reeves, Margaret Hood, Beulah Kearns, Bob Dallas, Elen Kearns, C.
