

Weaving Guild Names Officers For This Year

Mt. Angel—Mrs. Valerie Begin was reelected president of the Mt. Angel Weaving Guild cooperative at the annual election on Thursday. Mrs. Florence Epping again received the office of vice-president, and weaving director. Miss Dorothy Dieker was chosen secretary-treasurer, and Miss Clara Duda, Miss Minnie Weis and Mrs. Tille Shepherd were named directors of the flax weaving guild.

Mrs. Epping conducts classes every Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons from 2 to 5 o'clock. Since there are only nine looms only a limited number can be admitted at one time, because all members must take the complete course in weaving before another group is started. It is imperative that the work turned out must be of the highest class and only skilled weavers can be permitted to weave the articles to be sold.

The baby co-op has progressed considerably in the last year, and has now risen to the financial status where a 50 per cent dividend of the receipts for the sale of linen articles is returned to charter members. The other 50 per cent is retained by the guild as a revolving fund for the purpose of purchasing new material and the upkeep of the guild. New members will receive 25 per cent for the first year of their membership and thereafter be paid on the same basis as the charter members. Articles woven by the guild members include aprons, towels, luncheon sets, dresser scarfs, finger towels, and cocktail napkins.

One of the original ideas in forming the guild was to promote the weaving in individual homes. The loom must be purchased by the weaver, for none of the guild's looms may be removed to private homes. Mrs. Epping and Mrs. Begin each have a loom. These are the new folding-type made by Ganzmiller Loom company of Portland. The products are sold to Timberline Lodge, the Irish shop in Portland, a New York firm, and a contact has lately been made with Better Bedding store in Salem.

70-Car Train Bill Needed Pupils Find

Albany—About 80 Madison school pupils were tardy Thursday morning, but Miss McCourt, principal of that school, assured yesterday that none of the late comers will be penalized.

Cause of the lateness of these pupils to report for classes was ascribed to a Southern Pacific freight train which for 35 minutes blocked all streets in East Albany, including Lafayette, Madison, Hill, Main and Santiam roads.

One-hundred and two cars were counted on the train. The children asserted that they were compelled either to wait for it to pull out or to go around it to the east as far as the Santiam crossing, and west as far as the Lyon street viaduct.

Silverton, Stayton Lions Join Forces

Silverton—Clifton Dickerson, president of the Silverton Lions club, turned the meeting of that group over to the Stayton Lions Tuesday evening at the regular meeting of the Silverton club. Stayton president is Gilbert Schastick.

About 50 members from Stayton were present. Songs, readings and instrumental piano music furnished the program for the evening with the Hughes sisters, Miss G Jordan and Ken Thompson performing.

In two weeks Silverton will return the visit to Stayton and will conduct the meeting and furnish the program.

Stayton—Members of the Lions club motoring to Silverton Tuesday evening for a gathering with members of that unit were Gilbert Schastick, Hub Saffield, Ken Thompson, Lawrence Stegmann, Grant Murphy, Charles Morgan, Lindsey Wright, Farmer Smith, Pat O'Grady, Wendie Weddie, Charles Berger, Virgil Tuel, Merton Cox and Clifford Likes. Gilbert Schastick, president of the Stayton club, presided over the meeting. Miss Eunice Jordan gave a reading and Misses Margaret and Helen Hughes rendered musical and vocal numbers. The entire evening was spent in fun.

Scio to Celebrate Diamond Jubilee

Scio—A diamond jubilee, commemorating Scio's 75th birthday, found unanimous favor with committeemen and others who attended the lamb show meeting in this city Tuesday night.

According to tentative plans, this feature is to be staged on the same date, May 24, as the seventh annual fat lamb exhibition in this city. Participation in the parade, however, will be the only feature in common with the day's big event, the lamb show, it was stated.

Heading the jubilee committee is John T. Brook, pioneer farmer and shepherd of the Scio community, who has spent many years on his farm near Providence, six miles southeast of this city. Selection of Brook was made by reason of his long residence here and his knowledge of pioneer conditions as well as those obtaining during the intervening years.

Serving with Brook on this committee are Dr. A. G. Prill, Rolla Shelton, Fred Bilyeu and Joe Lytle. Shelton and Bilyeu are natives of the Scio community. Dr. Prill, a 40-year man here, and Lytle a tenderfoot of 13 summers in this city.

Scope and program of the jubilee are to be worked out by the committee, to which other members may be added if needed, it was decided.

The "City of Scio" was incorporated October 24, 1866, but celebration of her 75th birthday was advanced a few months on account of possible unfavorable climatic conditions in late October.

Turk Poults Are Valentine

Dayton, Ore.—Unique was the Valentine received at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Murphy in the Pleasantdale district when a chicken hen setting on turkey eggs presented her keepers with five husky poults, Friday, February 14. These are the first turkeys hatched this year, and reported in this area.

School Unit Being Rushed

Silverton—With the weather man largely responsible for the continuance of work hours, the new agricultural building at the senior high school grounds is making unusual showing in construction.

S. M. McClung, local contractor, is supervisor. Around 20 young men between the ages of 17 and 24 years from the NYA group work under McClung in shifts of six or seven each day.

A tool shack went up in three hours Wednesday; the building is staked and the footings are dug for pouring cement.

From three to four months will probably be required for completion of the project.

Under the federal project the building is to cost $7,200 with the district contributing a maximum of $2,000. The latter item was voted by the district at a special election a week ago making the building possible for Silverton, one of six such offers to the state of Oregon in the interest of national agricultural plans under NYA work.

H. W. Adams is school superintendent and Leonard Hudson agricultural instructor.

Existence of malnutrition, Easton said, is brought sharply up by the rejection of many draftees whose diets were found far below standard.

If 60 per cent of the persons eligible to use food stamps in Linn county would take advantage of the plan, he said, an additional annual market will be created here of $34,958.

Easton is covering a large portion of the coast and the Pacific northwest on his educational tour. He addressed several other organizations in the county Wednesday and Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. McGrahana, Mr. and Mrs. James Stewart and Elizabeth and Mr. and Mrs. Orville Chastain and Deloras attended a dance in West Salem on Saturday night.

John Miller has been giving the oak trees that interfere with the power lines an excellent trimming, thereby lessening the danger along the line and getting a nice little pile of oak wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Curt Mellis and children and families were Sunday guests at Mellises.

Mr. James E. Nelson drove out from Salem Saturday afternoon and Howard and Norman Mellis with their wives arrived Saturday night. When Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mellis and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Mellis returned Monday little Elwood Mellis accompanied them.

Newly Formed Sewing Group Entertained

Casey Council Has Ritual

Mt. Angel—Over 70 members of the Knights of Columbus were present at the regular meeting to welcome the 14 newly initiated members who gave short talks.

Ed Stolle, grand knight, appointed Gregory Gerlitz as outside guard, to replace Gregory Frank who is a resident student of Mt. Angel seminary. John T. Bauman was again appointed to head the K.C. Study club. Father Alcun Heibel gave the main address, on "Catholic Press Month," and also urged members to attend study club meetings during Lent.

The local council voted to sponsor a series of six, electrically transcribed radio talks, given by Monsignor Pulton Sheen over the radio on the nation-wide Catholic hour, and present them locally during the lenten season. All the people of community will be invited to hear these transcribed talks. Committee to plan details are: the pastor, Fr. Alcun, P. N. Smith, and Tony Bigler.

The local Knights' monthly communion will be on the Sunday before the third Tuesday of each month.

The initiation and banquet committee reported that it had been very successful, and all had had a good time. A social hour followed the business session, and refreshments were served by Frank Erwert, Robert Von Hatten and Lawrence Gerlitz.

Food Stamps Are Explained

Lebanon—A comprehensive resume of the food stamp plan, recently adopted by Linn county, was given before the Lions club here Thursday night by P. J. Easton, field representative for the surplus marketing administration.

Easton emphasized that the plan is not intended as a relief measure for WPA families or for farmers, but is designed, he said, to remedy malnutrition, to use products shut off from exportation by the war, and at the same time to provide additional domestic markets for the farmer.

Existence of malnutrition, Easton said, is brought sharply up by the rejection of many draftees whose diets were found far below standard.

If 60 per cent of the persons eligible to use food stamps in Linn county would take advantage of the plan, he said, an additional annual market will be created here of $34,958.
