

Council to Get Report of Sewer Committee Soon

After meeting Thursday to consider the proposals of five engineering firms for the position of consultant on design and construction of the sewage treatment plant, the city council committee on sewerage and drainage announced they will have a decision ready for the council at the Monday night meeting. Alderman Glenn Gregg, chairman of the committee, will have a recommendation to make to the council at that time.

Engineering firms seeking the job include L. R. Stockman, John Cunningham and associates, Stevens Koon, Jenks and Corey and D. Arthur Lowe and Son and associates.

The council may also have an ordinance authorizing the sale of bonds for the sewage plant pending the approval of Portland bond experts is given in time.

Crocheted Oven Mitt

By Baroness Planton

When seconds count in the perfection of your baking, do you often go scurrying about the kitchen in search of your pot-holders? If you do, you will appreciate the hand-crocheted oven-mitt pictured above. It is the most practical and protective covering your hands can have when reaching into a hot oven, and can be slipped on at a moment's notice. The mitt is made of a particularly interesting one. The oven-mitt is worked in solid color with edging in contrasting color. Pattern envelope contains complete easy-to-read and easy-to-follow directions for above. Send 10c (coin) for No. 1642 to Capital Journal, Needle Arts Dept., 149 New Montgomery St., San Francisco, Calif.

Lodge Has Initiation

Stanton—Mrs. Lena Baker and daughter, Mrs. Marcelle Ware, were initiated into the Stanton Eva Rebekah lodge Tuesday evening. Twenty-one members of the Mt. Jefferson lodge of the Ideal lodge of Turner were special guests. Following a short program refreshments were served with Mrs. Agnes Stupka, Mrs. Flora Mae Shuck, Mrs. Minnie Hamlin and Lawrence Lierman, in charge.

Birthday Party For Connie Jean Coon

Woodburn—Mrs. W. A. Wangerlin entertained a group of girls at her home Wednesday afternoon at a lawn party in honor of the 10th birthday anniversary of her niece, Miss Connie Jean Coon, of Portland. Colored balloons lent a festive air to the gardens where small tables were arranged for refreshments. Games were played with Kerin Gay Magnuson winning in "musical chairs," and Joanne Garver in the guessing game. A fish pond also provided much amusement. Mrs. Lawrence Coon of Portland, Miss Lena Riggi and Mrs. Howard Magnuson assisted the hostess in serving. Miss Coon received many gifts.

Invited guests were Virginia Whitman, Virginia Burt of Portland, Betty Lou Burt, Janice, Delores and Lorraine Hanauka, Patty Nibler, Beverly Wangerlin, Kerin Gay Magnuson, Valena and Joanne Garver, Janice Glinther of Canemah, Larry Kromling of Portland, Joyce Ann McKenzie and the honor guest, Connie Jean Coon, of Portland.

Dallas—Mrs. Roy Woodman was an attractive hostess at a desert luncheon Tuesday afternoon for members of her Sewing club. Present were Mrs. Sidney Hanson, Mrs. W. H. Effenberger, Mrs. L. S. Piffet, Mrs. Harold Mulkey, Mrs. A. J. Brown, Mrs. Elmer Ray, Mrs. Henry Priesen and the hostess.

This coming Sunday (June 15) will be, as you probably know, Father's day. And as you perhaps know too, though you may not have thought very much about it, Father's day comes in for a great deal of fun-making—some kindly and some very cruel. And since it really comes down to a question of bad manners, I'd like to tell you that bad manners are nearly always evidence of ignorance, and that there are few evidences of ignorance greater than the Father's day attitude of treating it as a joke at Father's expense—forcing him to appear in a light that is not of his making.

Reader's letters tell me, though I'm glad to say I have never come upon it personally, that in many American families Father is someone who is not as appreciated as he ought to be. Personally, I can hardly imagine that this is true, because in my own experience, fathers have always been, and still are, "tops." It is true that of my new book it has been said that fathers are idealized. To this I can honestly reply that each father about whom I have written is as accurately portrayed as would have been possible with a candid camera. And so I for one want to enter by protest against a joke that isn't funny. I want to shout out loud to all sons and daughters, to stop belittling Father's day—as though it were something he thought of himself, something at that rather to his discredit. It is only fair to think of it instead as a day on which to show father—instead of taking for granted that he knows—how deeply we love him.

Seating Three People in a Car

Dear Mrs. Post: I do not find that the question of correct seating in an automobile is ever brought up in your column, and I'm wondering if perhaps I am being superstitious when I feel hurt at being put alone on the back seat of the car of some friends. They live in the country and I visit them often and enjoy my day with them—all except for this one occurrence. When they drive me back to town they always take for granted that I am to sit on the back seat alone and the wife gets in beside her husband. I feel that if anyone sits alone it should be his wife. (We're all about the same age in case that would affect your answer.)

Answer: If you were invited to go for a drive and nothing else, then I would agree with you that it would be more polite if you were asked to sit with either one or the other, unless of course their car were one of the newer models that has the gear shift on the wheel and you could all three sit in front together. But since your letter suggests that you often spend a long part of a day with them and that you know these people very well, it is understandable that they may feel that you, as well as they, are both tired and talked out and glad to be left quiet, or put differently, that they think it will please you to be treated as they would treat a member of their family.

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad however to have many printed slips on a variety of subjects to offer to her readers. Today's slip is "Dinner Entertaining." Be sure to send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Mrs. Post, in care of this paper, P. O. Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y.

Methodist Church Scene of Wedding

Turner—Robert Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Edwards, and Frances Clark, daughter of the Frances Clark, daughter of the Charles Clark, who owned and operated the Turner paper several years ago, were quietly married in the First Methodist church in Salem May 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Edwards were witnesses.

The bridegroom was a Turner high school graduate and both are well known in and around here. The young couple left soon after the wedding for a two weeks' visit in California with the bride's sister, Mrs. Claude Drennan of Los Angeles. On their return they will live in Salem where Mr. Edwards has work with the Woolworth company, where he has been employed about two years.

Vacation School Passes 200 Mark

The two hundred mark has been passed in the attendance at the Vacation Church school being held at the First Presbyterian church. Classes in craftwork are being conducted under the leadership of Bill Benson and Virgil Carl, with useful articles such as tie holders, corner shelves and book racks being made. A special class of basketry and weaving for girls is being conducted under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Bates. The attendance banner was won Thursday for the second consecutive day by the beginners department, which is in charge of Mrs. David B. Hill. A contest between the boys and girls in finding Bible verses was won by the girls in every department. New additions to the teachers and helpers staff include Mrs. James McClelland, Mrs. J. D. Patterson, Barbara Spaulding, Edgar Fitzsimmons and Ray Loter. Registration is still open for the remainder of the school, which will be in session until June 20. Children between four and fifteen years of age are included in the age limits.

Julius Alms Are Honored Wednesday

Silverton—Their three daughters residing in Portland, the Misses Nina and Bertha Alm and Mrs. Dena Davis, arranged a delightful surprise for their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Alm, on the occasion of their forty-ninth wedding anniversary. Wednesday afternoon at the large family home in Liberty Hill with near neighbors and members of the family present as guests.

Mr. Alm is Silverton's oldest merchant in term of years in business, coming here in 1893 from Sheldon, N.D., where he and Miss Carrie Olson were married June 11, 1892. Rev. O. H. Gerberding read the lines. As a further surprise gesture, Miss Bertha Alm read the original marriage license during the informal afternoon program.

Coming into Silverton from the west and north the visitor often wonders what the festive occasion is in the small town when he sees a large American flag flying in the breeze on Liberty Hill (named Liberty instead of the official "West Hill" because of the flag) above the Alm home. This is merely the expression of gratitude of Mr. Alm for being an adopted citizen of the "grandest county in the world," according to his explanation. That flag flies every day in the year over the Alm home from sunrise to sunset.

Mr. and Mrs. Alm have seven living children, two are deceased.

The Doctor MUST Give Service

A Medical Clientele Is Based On Confidence

Much of the Patient's response to treatment depends on confidence in his Doctor. Not only is there a physical reaction to this feeling of confidence in the method of treatment, but the fact that you believe in your Doctor, causes you to follow instructions more carefully.

This confidence of the Patient can come about through only one thing—satisfactory service and the knowledge that your Doctor is competent.

(This confidence of the Patient, is the chief foundation of a Doctor's practice.)

Naturally, it is up to the Doctor to render the highest type of service, if for no other than selfish reasons.

Silverton Council Accepts Manager

Silverton June 13—E. K. Burton, city engineer at Marshfield for the past 23 years, was elected as the first city manager of Silverton by the city council Wednesday. Burton will serve in the managerial post under Silverton's new charter, which was ratified last spring by popular vote.

The election has been delayed pending outcome of a suit in the Marion county circuit court which sought to nullify the new charter, according to the council. The court handed down a decision recently denying the suit.

Burton will draw a salary of $250 per month. Edwin McCleary, water superintendent, who has been acting as city manager during the interim, will resume his old post.

Camp Fire Group Has Surprise Party

The weekly meeting of the Sahalee Camp Fire group proved to be a surprise birthday party for their guardian, Mrs. L. T. Graves, when the group met at the First Presbyterian church last Wednesday night. The meeting place was decorated with bright colored paper ribbons. At the close of the meeting the group gave Mrs. Graves a birthday present, after which refreshments were enjoyed by those present. The girls voted to meet every other week during the summer months. Their next meeting will be held at Olinger field Wednesday, June 18, at noon, at which time a picnic and swim will be enjoyed. Those present for the birthday party were Peggy Sears, Patsy Larson, Peggy Frantz, Joan Lockhead, Beverly McCabe, Dorothy Bergvik, Mary Belmann, Nancy Buren, Betty Sellard and Mrs. L. T. Graves.

Special Music to Feature Services

Special music for the Sunday morning services at the First Presbyterian church will feature the singing of two anthems by the senior vested choir under the direction of Virginia Ward Elliott. They will sing "Praise Ye the Father" and "The Beatitudes." Rev. W. Irvin Williams will speak on the topic "The Voice of Inexperience." A young people's chorus will assist in the evening service. Colored moving pictures of migrant work in the west will be shown. The picture, which is entitled "Windings of the West," has received much attention for its vivid portrayal of the current problem.

NEXT TIME SPRAY WITH BIF—IT'S SCIENTIFICALLY MADE TO KILL FLIES DEAD

End fly spray troubles with Bif—the effective spray developed by expert research chemists.

Don't confuse Bif with half-remedies! Bif was created after literally hundreds of tests with actual flies. From these tests came a new, powerful formula. Bif is quick and positive—you can depend on it. It's economical. It's safe. Stainless to walls, furnishings and clothing. Pleasantly scented. Try Bif. Whether you use it for flies, mosquitoes, ants or moths, you'll be surprised how truly satisfactory an insect spray can be!

KILLS ALL FOUR. Being effective against flies, Bif makes short work of lesser insects, including clothes moths. Mosquitoes hate it! To halt or prevent ant "raids" safely, spray baseboards and doorways with Bif.

COMPLETE FLY FARM was established at Unocal laboratories for scientific tests which produced Bif's powerful High-Kill Formula.
