Pique, simple and white, touched up with brilliant or contrasting accessories or perhaps bright designs on the material, is a demand for the complete summer wardrobe. Mrs. Dale H. Wood exemplifies this with her white embroidered pique dress with black accessories bringing out the attractiveness of her hair.

A cloudless sky and the summer sun are a natural attraction to the out-of-doors and, of course, travel. With the new station-wagon coats there is no longer fear of clothes having that wrinkled look they sometimes attain when worn to travel. These coats are made of uncrushable linen along military lines. Pockets are essential and are found in multi-fold numbers on the new uncrushable rayon slacks suits and coats.

Miss Helen Pierce shows the tropical styles in accessories so prominent this summer. She wears a long strand of coral beads against her white polka dot dress with the light blue background.

Especially appropriate, black is popular for evening informal as well as formal dress, black sheers with lace trimmings. A new color is the fall and mid-summer navy blue made attractive with the added accessory of a large felt hat.

Speaking of felt hats, Mrs. Ronald Jones is up to the minute with her aqua felt matching her ensemble, coat and dress of harmonizing shades of aqua and accessories. Come out again Mrs. Jones!

Another accent along the tropical line is Mrs. O. Edward Bissell's hat of California Padre brown. The hat is wide brimmed having a sand colored felt ribbon with a little felt bow and a wide grosgrain bow on the back. It looks strikingly smart with her gold and brown plaid coat and gold shirtwaist dress.

Long waisted Bemberg sheers with brilliant floral designs and full skirts have that knack of making the waistline appear smaller. And, then there is the increasingly popular polka dot ensemble such as the Wingstrut rayon suits, the jacket a solid color and the skirt polka dot. These are to be found in all colors though shades of red and navy blue seem to be preferred.

Never to be forgotten jersey steps into the fashion picture with the Shantung and Jersey combinations to make a snappy sport suit. Brightness and cheerfulness of costume can be captured by the large figured materials in silk, cotton and Jersey. Mrs. Gerald Backstrand paints the picture in her white Jersey with purple and chaireuse floral designs and her large purple hat.

Floral designs on this summer's clothes can be as bold and colorful as is desired featuring flowers of realistic appearance and those that only the most vivid imagination could conjure up.

AT A BEAUTIFUL GARDEN ceremony to be performed tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hansen, Miss Louise Hansen will become the bride of Gerald Archer, son of Rev. and Mrs. F. J. Archer of Seattle. A large group of relatives and friends of the couple will witness the service.

The bridegroom's father, assisted by Dr. E. P. Blair of Seattle, will read the rites. William Fawk will play the wedding marches and also will accompany Herbert Hansen, Jr., who will sing "Oh, Promise Me," and Randall Wiencke of St. Helens, who will sing "At Dawning."

The altar tapers will be lighted by Miss Joybelle Johnson of Seattle and Miss Ruth Rensche of Salem. Lovely garden flowers in a variety of color will form the background for the altar.

The bride will be given in marriage by her father. She will wear a gown of white embroidered marquisette, made princess style with a closely-fitted bodice and a full, flowing skirt. Her finger-tip veil will be held by a white satin braid and she will carry an old-fashioned nosegay of sweetpeas and roses.

Her maid of honor, Miss Adelaide MacPhee of Portland, will wear blue dotted swiss, made in a style similar to the bride's gown, and will carry a nosegay of sweetpeas. Mrs. Rolland Millikan of Seattle, the matron of honor, will wear a pink cotton sheer in bouffant style, and Miss Evelyn Proudfit of Salem, bridesmaid, will wear yellow dotted swiss. Both will carry nosegays.

Wayne Archer of Seattle will be best man for his brother and ushers will include Eldon Turnidge of Jefferson and Herbert Hansen, Jr., of Salem.

A reception will follow the ceremony. Pouring will be Mrs. Eldon Turnidge of Jefferson and Mrs. E. P. Blair of Seattle will dispense the bride's cake. Assisting in serving will be Miss Althea Fenwick and Miss Lucy Barham, both of Salem. Mrs. Willard Wiencke of Portland will be at the gift table.

Following a trip to coast points Mr. Archer will take his bride to Seattle to reside. For traveling Miss Hansen has chosen a smart ensemble, consisting of a beige top coat, a rose dress and navy accessories. Miss Hansen attended Salem schools and Seattle Pacific college. Her fiancé was graduated from Seattle Pacific and is now in the postal service in Seattle.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Hansen will wear a redingote of navy blue over an attractive print.

Mrs. Ivan B. Rhodes (right) and her daughter, Mrs. John Goodwillie of New York City, who are busy in a round of entertainment these days. Mrs. Goodwillie is among popular visitors in Salem this month and has been the incentive for several parties.—(Jesten-Miller)

South-Demarest

Miss Betty Demarest, daughter of L. C. Demarest of Salem and Mrs. Jess Paschall of Portland, will become the bride of Orville South, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles South, tonight at 8 o'clock in First Presbyterian church at a beautiful candlelight service. Rev. W. Irvin Williams will officiate.

Miss Dorothy Bohle of Lebanon will be at the organ and Miss Ernestine Fredericksen will sing "I Love You Truly." A large floral spray, guarded by tall tapers, will center the altar and will be guarded with smaller bouquets of white flowers at either side.

Mr. Demarest will give his daughter in marriage. Miss Helen Smith will be her honor attendant and bridesmaids will be Miss Betty Schieman, Miss Valerie Karr and Miss Geneva Seamster. Little Miss Gloria Jean Butler will be the flower girl.

Best man for Mr. South will be Melvin Pilleite and ushers will include Roger Kellogg, William Hoyt and Herbert Hunt.

The reception will be held in the fireplace room of the church. Mrs. Otto Schieman and Mrs. Frank South will preside at the urns. Miss Alice Ann Wirtz will pass the guest book and the ushers will assist about the rooms.

Following their wedding trip, the couple will return to Salem to live at 472 North 24th street.

Miss Demarest, an attractive brunette, is a popular member of the younger set. She attended Oregon State college and is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority. Her fiancé attended Salem schools and is connected with Casper and Cutler.

Their Salem friends are interested to know that Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilbert (Betty Allen) of Berkeley, Calif., are the parents of a son born Monday, June 16. He has been named David Allen Gilbert. His grandmother, Mrs. Eric W. Allen of Eugene, is now in Berkeley visiting the Gilberts.
