

Rural Fire Protection Organization Is Launched

Lebanon City Council Acts For Formation

Lebanon—A movement to organize a rural fire district providing protection to industries and homes on the outskirts of Lebanon received the approval of the city council Tuesday night. 24 hours after the process of organization was outlined to industrial leaders by city firemen and M. J. Gilson of the state fire marshal's office.

A unanimous vote disclosed the council in favor of cooperating with a rural fire district plan, but councilmen advised that the lead must be taken by communities outside the city. Leading the movement are officials of the Evans plywood plant, which lies outside the city.

The council vote was on a motion to take in the plywood mill and other industries just outside the city, and later another district which eventually would reach out to similar districts covering the rural areas separating Lebanon from Scio, Sweet home, Brownsville and Albany.

Legal aspects of the organization have not yet been worked out. Fire Committee Chairman John Zimbrick said, however, 35 per cent of the landowners in the proposed district must petition for the setup. It was explained.

Fire committee members of the council made it plain that any rural district depending upon the Lebanon fire department for protection will have to provide enough funds to purchase a new pump, since present equipment is inadequate to serve outside areas.

The committee members met Monday night to outline the proposal. Included Zimbrick, Ralph Sevogin and Elmer Fitzgerald of the council's fire committee, and Jack Stolsig, George Surry and Assistant Chief Ken Fuller of the Lebanon fire department.

F. D. Mayer Tuesday evening took his seat in the city attorney's chair, replacing W. K. Shepherd, who was called into the army two weeks ago. Mayer held the same position for two years until he was succeeded by Shepherd following last November's election.

In one other action the council appointed the citizen members of the 1942 budget committee, as follows: Ed Bohle, J. M. Burtenshaw, Mr. J. G. Gill, Harold Irvine, Dolph Reeves and Dr. H. J. Whelan. The committee will probably meet and outline its fiscal policy some time before September 1. The budget next year will be made out for a six-month period only to conform with the new state law setting the fiscal year at July 1 instead of January 1. City Recorder Randle was elected budget officer.

Church Pastor Leaves for Missouri; Idaho Resident Summer Visitor

Mrs. Ethel Guekumst, pastor of Assembly of God church here, has left for Missouri, where she will visit for some time at the home of her mother.

With her grandchildren, Joan and Gordon, Mrs. Ethel Guekumst has gone to the coast for a two weeks' vacation.

Here from her home at Rupert, Idaho, Mrs. W. C. Mitchell spent the week-end with her son and daughter-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. John Mitchell at the Methodist parsonage. Mrs. Mitchell saw Silver creek falls while here and was much impressed by the beauty of the park.

Mrs. John Mitchell attended meetings at the Methodist young adult camp at Smith creek last week.

The Chet Stewarts received a surprise visit from his brothers, Rex Stewart from Amity and James Stewart from Jefferson, recently.

Mrs. W. B. Hagedorn is home from the Salem convalescent hospital where she underwent a "The Blister" operation. She is reported to be improving steadily. Miss Iris Hagedorn is visiting in Tacoma with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Holt are now living in Seattle where he is taking an advanced course in aviation.

One of the Grim houses is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Collins from Roseburg. The Collins may locate here permanently.

Society Entertained

Fairview—Mrs. Charles Hill entertained the Hopewell United Brethren Ladies Missionary society at her home. There were 15 members present. Mrs. Howard Stephens had charge of the book review, the subject of which was "The Bible. How It Was Started and How It Grew." Mrs. Hill served refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Parvin are spending one week at Seaside. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Knoche are away on a one week vacation.

Rutherford Showing Slight Improvement; Relatives Are Visitors During Week

The condition of Walter Rutherford, who is a patient at a local hospital, is showing a slight improvement. Rutherford suffered a fall from a load of baled hay which caused a broken back coupled with severe internal injuries when a bale of hay struck him after he fell. He will be in a cast for an indefinite period and is still unable to take nourishment due to the internal injuries.

The Guy Looney family had as guests the past week a cousin and former resident of this community. Mrs. H. Clinton Powell of Lodi, Cal. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clemens have as their guest, Mrs. Clemens' mother, Mrs. Logan of Wasco, Cal. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stock of Veneta, Calif., have been visiting with Mrs. Stock's brother, Ben Clemens of this vicinity.

Victim of Bovine Attack Improving

Silverton—Mrs. Ed G. Morrison, who was badly injured when the family cow attacked her while giving the animal water late Monday, is reported as showing improvement though still in serious condition.

Mrs. Morrison was knocked unconscious by the animal and received facial and head wounds from the cow's horns and was bruised painfully on the body, left leg and right arm. She recalls only the first attack of the cow during the incident. She was alone at the time and later became sufficiently conscious to get into the house and call a neighbor for help. She is under hospitalization at the Silverton hospital.

Advanced Club Members Gave for Splash Party; Teacher Signs Year Contract

Silas Torvend of the Bethany community entertained advanced 4-H clubbers at his home yesterday from the local communities and Salem with a splash party closing an informal social time following a brief business session.

The A. L. Gostle family has as their house guests their relative, Robert Johnson of Long Island, N.Y.

A reunion of three former residents in Norway was held this week when Anna Lee of Hopland, Calif., Mrs. S. Berglund and Mrs. Frank Lund met at the S. Berglund home.

Visiting for several days with Mrs. Josephine Steen and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson is Miss Hannah Strand, formerly of Silverton. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Amos are spending a week at the Portland home of their son.

Miss Phyllis Grogan is employed at the "Homebreakers" agency and justice court office of Judge Alf. O. Nelson replacing Mrs. Norman Eggenman (Emily Hart) who is making her home in Portland.

Miss Evelyn Torvend has signed to teach in the Stayton schools for the coming year. She was with the Harmony faculty last school year.

Members of the Albert Sather family and Mrs. H. E. Johnson, relatives, and a number of friends attended funeral services at the Amity church for A. R. Reinson who died August 19 at Portland Veterans hospital.

Miss Allene Meyer has returned from Eugene where she was with relatives for several days.

Miss Stella Dybek of the office of the Silverton school system, is enjoying a week's vacation in company with Mrs. Wallace Cochran of Hermiston, at different beach resorts.

Greenwood Bridge Rebuilding Starts

Dallas—Plans had been made and the material was already on the ground to repair the Greenwood bridge over the Rickreall creek but late sleepers in and saved the county crew from having to wreck the old structure. Tuesday afternoon when a county gravel truck, fully loaded, was in the act of crossing the bridge, it suddenly collapsed and dropped the truck, load and driver to the bed of the creek, some 10 to 15 feet below. There were no witnesses to the incident and by the time nearby residents reached the scene Sam Lowry of Rickreall, driver of the truck, had scrambled to safety with only minor cuts and bruises to show for his experience. Work of rebuilding the bridge was started Wednesday.

Silverton Police Docket Has Variety

Silverton—Recorded on the city police docket were the apprehension of Kenneth Thostreide for speeding who was given a $25.00 suspended fine and a warning by Police Judge Bert Terry.

A. M. Amos effected the arrest of J. B. McClaine on the following charge: "Arrested on N. Hill street driving car while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, parking on the wrong side of the street, drinking while sitting in parked car and had no driver's license."

Police Judge Terry gave McClaine on a plea of guilty to the combined charges, $25 fine and 30 days suspended sentence providing the fine was paid which it was not, and McClaine gave the city the right to the possession of his car until the fine was paid.

Savage and Ray Families to Meet

Kelzer—The annual reunion of the Savage Ray families will be held in the Grange hall here Sunday. A basket dinner is to be served at noon.

Descendants of Dr. John Savage, who came to Oregon from Missouri by covered wagon train in 1850, and Lewis Ray, who arrived from Tennessee in 1852, will attend.

At that time Lewis Ray's daughter, Margaret, was two years old, and when the party met a band of friendly Indians a squaw carried Margaret for quite a distance. W. E. Savage of the Kelzer View Dairy is the son of the late Frank Savage, and Margaret Ray Savage.

China Main Topic For Mission Study

Woodburn—The Presbyterian Missionary society met Wednesday afternoon at the church with Mrs. Olive Smith presiding. Mrs. Smith read the Scripture lesson, followed by prayer by Mrs. O. F. Larson. Mrs. John Thompson sang two solos, accompanied by Mrs. Henry Layman.

The topic for the afternoon was "China," led by Mrs. H. P. Butterfield, who read a letter from Miss Irene Forsythe, Woodburn girl who is a missionary in China, and other interesting articles on the topic. Mrs. Bert Byers dismissed the meeting with prayer.

Old Hoss Wranglin' Days Are Recalled

Scio—More than a third of a century ago, N. B. (Pokey) Moses, now residing on a farm a short distance west of Scio, handled horses on a range scale in the vicinity of Prineville, central Oregon. Learning through the local newspaper of the recent death of W. T. McBride at Elma, Wash., Moses recalled that soon after the turn of the century he and McBride gathered about 70 hunch-grass horses in the range country and trailed them across the mountains to the Scio area, where the animals were "peddled" during late summer and early autumn.

"Some of these animals were proverbially 'snaky' and hard to handle, while others were on the draft order and valuable as work stock," Moses said in Scio a few days ago in recalling his experiences.

"We hired pasture at the Al Arnold place near Scio and used that location for exhibiting and disposing of horses," Moses continued, referring frequently to McBride as "Bill." Both saddle and road stock was in demand, although the heavy animals also found ready sale where needed on farms.

"Bill decided to sell his share of the bunch, so I took on the entire cavy and made good sales before the advent of rainy winter, when it would have been difficult to handle the animals to advantage. Bill and I both felt pretty flush with 'coin of the realm,'" so

"I'll be dead in a few minutes—I made a mistake in medicine," Bill yelled in great fear and excitement. During his few minutes' lease on life, however, he had fully recovered from the strangling effects of the peroxide, and in the morning he mounted a rough horse and was on his way Seloward with his bolts, bunch-grassers and the other three wranglers, Moses recalled.

Silverton Lions Club Supports Legion Program

Silverton—The suggestion brought before the American Legion Delbert Reeves post No. 7, Monday night, by the commander, F. M. Powell, concerning Silverton groups getting together for some annual celebration in observance of some event to be named later, has already met with one cooperative ally in the Lions club that met in a dinner at George's cafe Tuesday night and named Clifton Dickerson and Byron Royce as a committee to serve with C. J. Tove, George Manolis and Glenn Price in contacting other organizations in the near future.

The original idea was to have the affair lined up for next year's first observance.

Other actions taken by the Lions club Tuesday night was a vote to purchase 1000 safety-suggestion book covers to help pay the expense of operating the municipal swimming pool during the present season.

The Lions took no definite action as to sponsorship of the proposed bicycle safety club campaign. They expressed themselves as desiring more time in which to contact both McMinnville and Salem as to their working plans before making a decision. The bicycle club proposition has been suggested by the Silverton safety council in conjunction with the office of the secretary of state, Earl Snell's office.
