

Polk Pomona Granges Hold Skit Festival

Rickreall—A Polk county Pomona grange activity which has covered a period of nearly two years, came to a close, when the skit festival was held at the Rickreall high school gymnasium, with Mrs. Arthur Brown, Pomona lecturer, of West Salem, in charge.

Brush College presented an interesting musical number to open the program. It was a group of Swiss songs by the Meier family, with Mrs. George Meier and daughters, Myrtle and Gertrude, singing in Swiss costumes and accompanied by George Meier.

The Rickreall skit was "Some Like 'Em Thin," a shadow play by Ted and Edith Dewey. From West Salem was "Shantytown Scandal"; Monmouth, "A Bit of Blue Ribbon," with Mrs. Morris Powell, starring; Buell, "A Hot Sale"; Fort Hill, "Abroad at Home"; Pomona, "A Model Housewife."

Myrtle Meier sang two groups of songs. Her accompanists were Wayne Meusey and Gertrude Meier. She also sang the obligato to "America the Beautiful," with Mr. Meusey singing the air and accompanying.

Miss Meier was the first class prize winner in the solo division of the State Grange song contest at the state fair.

The skit festival was not in the nature of a competitive program. It was sponsored in order to give small groups sources of material and to bring out dramatic talent.

Mrs. Arthur Brown led the assembly in a group of marches at the close of the program, after which, all went to the grange hall for light refreshments and visiting.

Mr. Reader, Tillamook county Pomona lecturer, expressed his appreciation of the Polk county project and said he was going to try it out on his Tillamook granges. He closed his talk with the poem, "The House by the Side of the Road."

The Rickreall H. E. C. of the grange will sponsor an apron and pot holder sale Saturday, November 12, in the afternoon and evening of that day.

Music Groups Are Organized

Mt. Angel—The Mt. Angel college orchestra has organized and is preparing pieces for the first performance, under the direction of Alexander Scharbach. Total membership of this year's group is somewhat below last year's number. Several new students have joined the organization.

Efforts are being made to organize a college men's glee club for the first time since pre-war days. During the last several years the seminary glee clubs have provided all the vocal entertainments on college programs. At present Scharbach is selecting voices for the group, from the many who are trying out. The movement was started by the students themselves and is primarily a recreational project.

William Dooley, director of the Seminary glee club for the past two years, has organized this year's chorus. Members of the four voice group are: first tenors, Emmet Harrington, John Kendrick, John Ritz and Urban Schmidt; second tenors, Robert Coyle, Patrick Curran, James Galvin, John Klein, Roy Patnaude, Virgil Rensower, and Kerry Volker; baritone, Gregory Frank, James Harris, Jerry Linehan and Joseph Neville basses, John Voves, Patrick McCabe, Joseph Gallagher and Thomas Bollen, Harold Sander is soprano soloist.

The Seminary glee club made its initial appearance recently at the Serra club banquet in the seminary refectory.

Miss Hutton Leaves for San Francisco; Woman's Club Issues Annual Year Book

Miss Elma Hutton left Thursday for San Francisco where she has employment.

Mrs. Pearl Davenport of Seattle, Mr. and Mrs. James Search of Philomath, Mr. and Mrs. Clare Jarvis of Salem and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lockwood of Dayton were among the out-of-town homecomers for Armistice day program and other activities of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Christenson, (Marcel Frey) Salem, have taken apartments at the Edgell Courts in Tacoma. Christenson is in the federal emergency service.

Earl Hartman, Jr., who has been very ill at the Silverton hospital, is reported improved. Young Hartman is second lieutenant in the local squadron of Sons of Legion.

Mrs. Glen Breedwell and her program committee of the Silverton Woman's club have issued the yearbooks for the winter and spring months.

Dallas—There is every indication that the Chamber of Commerce banquet room will be jammed to capacity Thursday night when the members of the Dallas-Independence and Monmouth Chambers play host to farmers from all parts of Polk county.

An air of secrecy is still being maintained by the committee relative to the program they have prepared for the occasion and the only thing they have made public, other than the fact that the demand for tickets has been heavy, is the name of the speaker.

Dean U. G. Dubach of the Oregon State college and staff is well known in Polk county and the fact that he, with a wide knowledge of the Orient, as the speaker, is sufficient in itself to attract a crowd.

Another item of note is the fact that, while the merchants are the hosts, one or two of the guests are providing the main course. Several of Polk county's leading sheep men have donated lambs to grace the banquet table, thereby fulfilling a promise they made in the spring that when the merchant-farmer dinner was held in the fall they would furnish the meat. The time for the dinner is 7:00 p.m.
