

Everett Looks Good Defeating Salem High, 28 to 0 Score

Willamette U Retains Football Championship of Northwest Conference

Seagulls, Led By Hatch Play Excellent Game

The Everett high Seagull football team came to Salem with a reputation of being the best prep club in the state of Washington. They went home Thursday afternoon with their renown unblemished—in fact it was a bit brighter if anything. The reason? A 28 to 0 whitewashing of Salem high's Vikings who didn't have a prayer against the smooth functioning Gulls.

If there had been any skepticism concerning the ability of Larry Hatch, halfback, none remained when he left the field late in the game after having had the wind knocked out of him. He did everything credited to him and did it with an ease seldom seen in high school football. His passes were accurate and sufficiently high to prevent interceptions while his ball carrying was above the average. He didn't perform quite so well in the punting department, one of his efforts rolling off the side of his foot for less than 10 yards.

A stubborn Salem defense plus a couple of fumbles on the part of the Gulls kept the Everett squad away from the Viking goal until near the end of the second period. And it was one of a number of Salem misplays which led directly to the first touchdown. An attempted reverse deep in Salem territory was fumbled and in the ensuing scramble third place was kicked further toward the Vikings' goal. As was the case all during the game a Seagull was right on the spot when the Vikings got into their frequent bits of trouble. Pass snagging Francis Bacoka fell on the ball on the Salem 14. Hatch was stopped cold on a line thrust. But on the next play Hatch looped a beauty of a pass to Bacoka in the northeast corner. All he had to do was step over for the touchdown. Hatch and Bacoka repeated the performance for the extra point after faking a pass.

Salem's "pass attack" which functioned in reverse during the entire contest, gave the Gulls their second scoring opportunity, when Peterson intercepted a pass in midfield and ran it back to the Salem 28. With a first down on the Viking 5 as the result of four plays by Hatch, Peterson and Barnes, the latter a hard hitting fullback, Hatch again passed to Bacoka for the touchdown. From place kick formation Hatch tossed to Gerstenberger for the extra point.

The Gulls tallied twice in the fourth period. A fumble by Simmons and a recovery by Bacoka of Hatch's punt on the Salem 20 late in the third period was the starting point for the third score. As the fourth got under way Peterson reeled off 11 yards at right end and then when the Vikings expected Hatch to toss another pass he simply outmaneuvered the defense and scored without being touched. Anderson, regular kicker who was nursing an injured leg, was sent in to attempt the extra point and he made good.

Interception by Hatch of another of Coons' 14 tosses gave the Gulls a first down on the Salem 39. A forward and a lateral, Hatch to Bacoka to Gerstenberger was good for 21 yards while another pass Hatch to Gerstenberger netted off 10 more. And two plays later Hatch went over through left tackle. This time Hatch showed his own versatility by kicking the extra point.

Early in the game Salem advanced to the Everett 43 after Sederstrom had recovered a fumble on the Seagull 46. That was the closest they got to the visitors' goal during the entire proceedings.

The yardage was all in favor of the Everett club, 286 to 90. Salem attempted 14 passes, completed 2 for short yardage and had eight intercepted. Everett attempted 12 and completed 8.

Substitutes for Everett: Anderson, Hartman, McDonald, Mori, Dickie, Blanton, Bernard, Alverson, Servis, Christensen, Olson, Wallenberg, Cooney, For Salem: Zellert, Wilder, Bellows, Winkler, Burt, Warren, McLennan, Palmatier.

Officials: Dick Weisberger, Willamette, referee; John Orsow, Willamette, umpire; Al Lichtner, Compton, head linesman.

Jefferson Closes Good Grid Year

Jefferson—Jefferson high closed a successful six man football season by defeating Rickrealt 52 to 21. It was the fifth win in six starts for Coach Pat Beal's club which amassed a total of 202 points to 77 for the opposition. It was the first year of football for Jefferson after a lapse of many seasons.

When railworkers struck for higher pay in Mexico the railways said they were not financially able to meet the demands, so the workers compromised.

Huskies May Unveil Fast Break Offensive

Seattle, Nov. 21 (AP)—A Washington football team that has banked on running power to take it into a three-way tie for the Pacific Coast conference leadership is expected to unveil an offensive of fast breaks and aerial thrusts against Oregon here tomorrow.

Lutes Battle Pilots Tonight

Tacoma, Nov. 21 (AP)—Pacific Lutheran college, undefeated in 18 straight games and three-time Washington Intercollegiate conference champion, tonight draws a tough and clever Portland university eleven that may prove its undoing.

Two weeks ago this game would have been considered a "breather" for the mighty gladiators coached by Cliff Olson. But Portland's astounding 37-0 triumph over Gonzaga Sunday, followed by indications that Fullback Marv Harshman won't see action against the Pilots, brought the odds down to an even basis.

Harshman, whose blocking and plunging complement the more publicized achievements of Fullback Marv Tommervik, was in the infirmarium most of the week with an infection.

Tommervik will fulfill Harshman's duties as signal caller and captain.

Portland, Nov. 21 (AP)—A special train will take Portland university football followers to Tacoma tonight for the Pacific Lutheran game.

Encouraged by their 37-0 drubbing of Gonzaga here last Sunday, Coach Matt Mathews' squad had high hopes of snapping the Lutes' 18-game winning streak.

Albany Defeats Eugene Hi, 7 to 0

Eugene, Ore., Nov. 21 (AP)—Albany high school moved into a three-way tie with Corvallis and Salem in the No Name football league by nosing out Eugene 7-0 here yesterday. The favored Albany Bulldogs scored in the opening quarter and dominated play throughout the first half.

Overlin, Hostak Tangle Tonight

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—Ken Overlin of Washington, D.C., and Al Hostak of Seattle, a pair of former midweight champions, square off tonight at Madison Square garden to go 10 rounds or less in a light-heavyweight scrap.

Since the two fighters no longer are able to get down to the middleweight poundage, both are eyeing the light-heavyweight crown worn by Gus Leavich.

Hostak, formerly regarded as king of the 160-pounders by the N.B.A., will be making his first eastern appearance. His record lists 114 fights, most of which he won by knockouts.

Overlin, a veteran of 12 years in the ring, has had six fights since he lost the midweight throne to Billy Soose in May and is rated the favorite at odds of about 1 to 2.

Oregon State Faces Montana in Portland

Portland, Nov. 21 (AP)—Oregon State college, a team that is trying to counterpunch its way into the Rose bowl, takes on small but potentially dangerous Montana here tomorrow. The game, secondary to the 42nd Washington-Oregon battle at Seattle, still was expected to draw 10,000 because of OSC's m.

Rose Bowl gossip and because of belated interest in the Beavers' shifting defense.

This system of improvising resistance has been developed to new limits, Beaver partisans claim. It baffled and blanked a Stanford team which had won 13 straight games, and limited seven opponents to 26 points.

Portland handicappers gave Montana little chance to win unless the Beavers get to day-dreaming about Pasadena. Coach Lon Stiner is worried. He warns that the Grizzlies have won six out of eight games and have a fine scoring record.

If Oregon State posts its expected victory, only Oregon will stand between the Beavers and a possible bowl bid. OSC figures it will have the superior claim if it finishes without another defeat, inasmuch as it defeated both Stanford and Washington, only other twice-beaten teams.

Saturday's game in Seattle between Oregon and Washington could clarify the situation a bit, or, on the other hand the result could easily add considerably more fog to the matter. A win for the Huskies would make the job more difficult for the selectors. A triumph for Coach Tex Oliver's Webfoots would mean that the engagement on Hayward field November 29 would decide the issue should Oregon State come through on that date.

Thanks for the compliment, Mr. Broadcaster. Prior to the start of yesterday's encounter between Salem and Everett on Sweetland field, the fellow from the Seagull community who was keeping the folks back home informed concerning what was happening in Oregon said that "the turf has been worn out except around the edges." He wasn't very charitable concerning the physical set-up at Willamette and he may expect to be sued for defamation of character byirate Walla Walla citizens for early in the afternoon he had the game being played on Whitman field.

Larry Hatch, the Seagull halfback, latched as a future all-American, turned in a good performance with a bit of assistance from the Vikings, who insisted upon passing despite the fact that the wrong side was doing the receiving. His forward passing appears to be his best angle of the game, although he's no slouch when it comes to picking up a bit of yardage through the line. However, the Vikings succeeded in holding him for no gain whatsoever, on a few occasions.

It was good entertainment but the turnout wasn't any too strong. In fact, it is doubtful whether the Salem athletic department broke even. Which makes this observer wonder if "Thanksgiving day football" encounters are worth the effort. The nippy weather undoubtedly kept many fans at home, but the trend in recent years has been decidedly away from the gridiron on the November holiday.

That 40 to 0 drubbing dished out by the Dalles to Pendleton yesterday would indicate Medford is in for a busy afternoon late next week for a busy afternoon late next week. Coach Bowman's southern Oregon squad meets the Indians in a game which will go a long way toward establishing a high school champion. A win for The Dalles would leave that squad in an enviable position. Nevertheless, Medford can be expected to give the Indians a whale of a battle with a chance of winning.

The Golden Gophers face the high-scoring Badgers of Wisconsin in a contest which can give them their second straight Western Conference crown and stretch their victory string to 17 consecutive triumphs. Duke meets North Carolina State in a game expected to settle matters in the southern conference and produce the Blue Devils as a top bowl eligible.

While they aren't running for any sectional title, the Irish of Notre Dame will oppose Southern California in a bid for their first undefeated season since 1930—the year the late Knute Rockne came up with his last and probably greatest eleven. Although the Irish are suffering from many injuries, the Trojans have been beaten four times.

Mine People Meet

Scio—Between 50 and 60 of the 300 stockholders of the Crown Mining and Milling company attended annual election Monday night at Odd Fellows building in Scio, at which present directors were named for another year: David Schrock, Tanager, president; Merle Gilkey and Cyrus Peery of the Scio area, Peery is company secretary.

Hollywood Bears Thump Bulldogs

Hollywood, Nov. 21 (AP)—The powerful Hollywood Bears copped an easy 17 to 2 victory yesterday over the Los Angeles Bulldogs in a Pacific Coast league professional football game. Attendance was about 15,000.

The triumph resulted largely from two Bulldog fumbles, one in the first period and the other in the third, with Halfback Kenny Washington figuring prominently in each instance.

In the second period, Halfback Cleveland, on a reverse, bobbled the ball right into Stonebraker's hands on the Bulldog 35. On first down, Washington cut through left tackle and went over the goal standing up.

Gaels Press Agent Does Excellent Job

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—The Galloping Gaels of St. Mary's are coming all the way from California to play the Fordhams in our town tomorrow, and no matter how good their football team may be, the story that has crossed the continent ahead of them is better.

There is a rumor, as yet undebated by the St. Mary's coach or publicity man, that the Galloping Gaels have a forward passer who throws curves and drops. There is also a rumor that the St. Mary's publicity man started the rumor, and, as a veteran rumor-runner-downer, I am inclined to believe the rumor about the rumor.

Anyway here is the story. The miracle man's name is John Podesto and he had the foresight to be born in a California town called Modesto. Therefore, he now is known as "Presto Podesto from Modesto." Poetic, eh?

It seems that Presto Podesto started throwing curves and drops some time ago. At first he had only a wide-round-house out and a drop that hung quite a while before it broken down. Gradually he began to develop a jug-handle curve that compared favorably with the one thrown by Tommy Bridges of the Detroit Tigers.

And then—hold your breath, now—the opposition began to complain that Presto Podesto was doctoring the football. They accused him of throwing spitters, shine balls, slippery elm balls. They said he emulated big league pitchers who used to cut the cover of the baseball with their finger nails so it would perform weird antics. Above all, Presto Podesto had superb control. One day the coach was giving him instructions:

"Podesto, I want you to throw that ball right at the pass receiver's eyes. Curve it so that the ball will hit him right in the eyes. Then he can't miss catching it."

"Okay, Coach," said Presto Podesto, "but which eye shall I shoot for, right or left?"

Gervais Finishes Successful Year

Gervais—Gervais finished his second successful season by hanging up six victories in seven starts, losing only to Dayton one of the states strongest B teams. Last season Gervais won 5 and lost 1.

The following boys won letters this year:

Bearcats Drop Whitman by 28 to 0 Count

Walla Walla, Wash., Nov. 21 (AP)—Willamette university today held the northwest football conference title by virtue of a 28 to 0 victory over Whitman college before a crowd of 4,000 persons.

Undefeated in nine consecutive games, Willamette now goes to Honolulu for a game with University of Hawaii early in December.

The winners set up each of their scores on long passes from Reynolds to Reeder, Morley and Ogdaht. Whitman, completely outclassed, made only one scoring threat late in the third quarter.

The 'Cats turned in 20 first downs to six for the Borleske squad. However, it was a Missionary fumble on its own 31 early in the contest that gave Willamette its first scoring opportunity. Buddy Reynolds, one of the best passers in the conference, tossed to Reeder for 20 yards and then Al Walden went around right end to within a short distance of the goal. Reynolds' smashet over for the score. A pass, Gene Stewart to Kelly set up Willamette's next touchdown, with big Neil Morley scoring from the five.

Six plays in the third period with Walden carrying the ball on the sixth, netted the third touchdown while a pass from Reynolds to Ted Ogdaht resulted in the fourth.

Willamette made 300 yards by rushing and 145 from passes. Whitman lost yardage on the ground but picked up 96 from passes, as they once drove to the Bearcat 5.

Reeder, Stewart and Fitzgerald accounted for the extra points with Reeder converting twice.

Angels Start Hoop Pactice

Mt. Angel—Initial Mt. Angel college hoop scrimmage is slated for next Monday night in preparation for the first pre-season court game with the Pacific college Quakers of Newberg, tentatively called for the Quaker maple floor, November 28.

Previous hoop drill has consisted of calisthenics, conditioning exercises, developing the players' wind, passing the ball and in general getting the feel of the ball and court.

Pacific college has an increased enrollment this year and is figured to be one of the tougher small college quintets in the state. Last year the Angels dropped the Quakers in both ends of a home-and-home series, 51-31 and 30-25.

Probable starting line-up for the White and Gold includes Cal Bonney at center, Al Kuppenbender and John Kaminsky, forwards, and Jerry Baria and Vic Kromeberg, guards.

Reserves more than likely to see much action in the fray are Francis Waser, Jerome Epping, Al Bernard, and the Lulay brothers, Ralph and Orville.

Other college hoop games added to the schedule include Portland university here January 25, and a return game on the Pilots' maple February 13. Both games will see the preps meeting Columbia prep in preliminary contests.

Boxing Resumed At Mount Angel

Mt. Angel—Father Anthony Terhoar has been appointed by Father Edward Spear, director of athletics, to take over boxing instruction at Mt. Angel college until it is definitely decided whether Tony Kahut, ex-Oregon middleweight champ, will be available to give instruction in the pugilistic sport.

At present it is hoped to give a smoker Thursday, November 27. The card would consist of bouts between high school students. Several three-round affairs are planned.

Matches already slated are Leon and Neal vs. Richard May; Gerald Dardis vs. Roy Bleiemoier, and Red Griffith vs. Martin Kropp.

"Although no fighters of the polish of Bud Clark or Nick Klassen are expected to be developed, several of the boys show good form and we should be able to get a number of interesting events on the card," said Father Anthony.

Amity Hi Extends Win Streak to 17

McMinnville, Ore., Nov. 21 (AP)—Arlington's winning streak in class B high school football was snapped 13-12 yesterday as Amity extended its own consecutive win list to 17-nine this season.

Arlington and Newport meet Saturday and Coach Orle Robbins of Amity said Newport had asked for a post-season game if it downs the Honkers.

A 60-yard run on a pass interception contributed to Amity's win. With Arlington leading 6-0 on Dutch Strehme's first period touchdown, Amity Quarterback Giesey plucked a Honker aerial and went 60 yards to the 20. From there he passed to Chandler for the score and McReynolds ran for the point.

A second Amity score made it 13-6 at the half. McCluskey added an Arlington touchdown in the third quarter but the conversion try failed.

Linfield Ties With Artillery

Astoria, Nov. 21 (AP)—With neither team displaying power, Linfield college and the 249th coast artillery football team played a scoreless Turkey day game here. The contest was largely a punting duel, with neither side getting a decisive advantage.

Elre's Football league decided not to fix a minimum wage for football players this season.
