Tire Rationing Order Amended

Washington, Jan. 21—A two point amendment to the government's order restricting sales of new tires was announced today by Floris Nagelvoort, tire rationing administrator, on receipt of information from Washington, D. C.

The amendment modifies the prohibition on sales of 6- and 8-ply in all popular passenger car and light truck sizes and imposes full rationing restrictions on truck tires for vehicles 10 years old or more.

Nagelvoort emphasized that today's amendment does not mean that there has been any change in the tire situation but simply represents a minor adjustment made after investigations.

"Not a single tire has been added to our supplies," the administrator stated; "strict rationing is still the order of the day so that our absolutely essential public health and safety services can continue to operate."

"Eligible" users of light truck size tires according to the new amendment now can buy any ply of tire—4, 6 or 8—if they can obtain the required certificate from their rationing board. Formerly only 4-ply tires could be purchased by light truck operators. To obtain 6- or 8-ply passenger car type tires under the amendment the "eligible user" must prove to the satisfaction of his rationing board that a 4-ply tire will not serve his needs. Previously no 6- or 8-ply passenger car tires could be sold to anyone.

By subjecting tires of sizes used by trucks 10 years old or more to the full restrictions of the rationing program the amendment limits their sale to "eligible" users only.

No change is made in the "obsolete" sizes of passenger car type tires for vehicles 10 years old or more.

There is no reason to suppose that the British aren't holding Burma in strength. They also have a large standing army of natives in India. However, if the Japs could succeed in getting hold of Burma it would present a serious menace to India proper. The gravity of this situation would be vastly increased if the Japanese should also capture Singapore, for that would give them a sea route between Singapore and Sumatra to reach their base in Burma.

Scio—Mr. and Mrs. Cecil W. Miller, Scio grade school instructors, are enroute to Wayne, Neb., accompanying the body of Mrs. Miller's mother, Mrs. Vivian Kloppling, 40, who died at Salem, January 10.

Major Victory Won By Reds at Mozhaik

By DeWitt Mackenzie
(Wide World War Analysis)

The Russian recapture of Mozhaik, opposite Moscow, is a victory of major importance and one which may well expand into further great successes in the immediate future.

Mozhaik, which sits astride the Moscow-Smolensk railway, has been the anchor for the center of the next winter defense line. The Germans had fortified this key position heavily and were depending on it mightily for their spring offensive which would be calculated to make an early capture of the Soviet capital.

Withdrawal of a big army under enemy pressure is always a desperate undertaking. It is doubly so when it has to be engineered through deep snows and in sub-zero weather, particularly for troops which are unequipped for such weather and now have been deprived of their shelter of winter quarters and must shift for themselves in the death-dealing winds of the steppes.

Face Disaster
The position is one which certainly holds potential disaster for the nazis. It depends on whether the Russians are able to exploit their positions and reestablish their line.

Yesterday I called your attention to the threat in the Japanese capture of the airbase of Tavy in British Burma. Since then combined Japanese and Siamese (Thai) forces have struck toward the Burmese port of Moulmein, though the British report that the drive was checked near the Thailand-Burma frontier town of Myawaddy.
