THE ALL-GALLERY exhibition which has attracted a large number of visitors to the Art Center the last two weeks will remain on display for another week in order that all persons interested in the craft of hand weaving may have ample opportunity to see the show. The work of some 60 members of the Art Center Weaving Guild, directed by Mrs. Agnes F. Tschopp, supervisor of weaving in the Oregon Art Centers, is represented by the approximately 200 articles on showing.

In one exhibit an easily, quickly woven lunch set, matching the exhibitor's peasant pottery both in color and design, presents an illustration of the complete unity of the weaver and her craft.

In a supplementary display of hand weaving brought by Charles Val Clear from Washington, D.C., may be seen double woven pile rugs from a rag bag, a thick wool yarn rug with pile an inch thick, and Indian type woven rugs of hand spun wool, all of which were evidently directly inspired by materials on hand and at home.

In finer weaving are noted firmly woven woolen suit and dress cloths, linen towels and luncheon sets of Oregon flax, with simply but thoughtfully planned designs and borders.

Oregon wool claims the weaver's attention to scarfs, soft as fleeces, warm spongy and gayly plaided knee robes and coverlets. Antique chairs are covered with tapestry-like woven upholstery planned to become an integral part of the furniture design.

From banquet cloths to lunch sets and towels, huge wall hangings to diminutive motifs, and drapery to chair tidies, each and every piece had a definite place when the idea was conceived and before it became a reality. Women weavers today are displaying their talents by the beauty of creative design in happy combination with practical and useful articles for the home.

In the library is hung a part of the Carnegie collection of historic fabrics from the University of Oregon, which has an appeal for the craft student and also the general visitor.

Weaving demonstrations will be a feature of the weaving exhibition during next week. Mrs. Lillian Williams will demonstrate in the main gallery Tuesday and Wednesday from 2 to 4 o'clock. The Art Center will be closed Monday, February 23, in observance of Washington's birthday.

Several groups of Portland folk visited the exhibition this week. Among the members of the Portland Weaving Guild who toured the show were Mrs. Charles Jennings, Miss Jennie Rippey, Mrs. Alice Burrieman, Mrs. H. J. Lewis, Mrs. W. C. Cautners and Mrs. M. Kendall.

Chapter AB, P.E.O. Sisterhood, will meet Monday night at 7:45 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. A. Siewert. Mrs. O. K. Paulus will discuss "Current Drama."

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Davis presided Friday evening at a beautifully arranged buffet dinner.

George Washington's birthday combined with a patriotic motif formed the decor.

The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Russell, Mrs. Mabel Condon and Miss Evelyn Condon.

East Central Circle of First Methodist church will meet Wednesday, February 25, at 1:15 o'clock, with Mrs. A. A. Siewert at her home at 388 North Winter street. Mrs. Siewert will serve salad luncheon.

CAPTAIN ALFRED P. KELLEY, who will address the Business and Professional Women's club of Salem Tuesday evening at their regular business meeting at the Golden Pheasant restaurant, has had an unusual and, in many respects, a brilliant career.

After attending the public schools of Elgin, Illinois, and University of Illinois and taking the degree of LL.B. at the University of Michigan Law School in 1917, he was commissioned on August 15, 1917, as 2nd lieutenant in the Field Artillery Officers Reserve Corps, serving overseas. Later he was placed on active duty and promoted to 1st lieutenant. Following that, he transferred from field artillery to cavalry service, and on July 1, 1920, he was promoted to the rank of captain.

July 7, 1922, he retired from active military service, but continued on the retired list. Entering the practice of law in 1922, at Chicago, he continued to practice there for two years. In 1924, he came to Oregon, and until again called to active military duty he was engaged in the practice of law at Portland. Since 1929, he has been a member of the well known law firm of Teal, Winfree, McCulloch, Shuler and Kelley.

Last year Captain Kelley was called to duty with the air corps at the Portland Air Base and is now serving in the capacity of U. S. Army intelligence officer. During 1940-1941, he served as department commander of the American Legion.

Mrs. Winifred Herrick of the Public Relations committee of the Salem Business and Professional Women's Club, Inc., urges all members to bring their contributions to the Victory Book campaign to the dinner meeting. Fiction, biography, travel and textbooks—particularly mathematics—are in demand, according to Mrs. Herrick.

Miss Marcelene Rees of Pendleton arrived by plane today to spend the week-end as the guest of Miss Patricia Lee.

Members of Nancy Black Wallace chapter of Pi Beta Phi alumnae association have completed their work on dresses for the American Red Cross and will start again next Wednesday, from 1 to 4 o'clock, to make baby blankets. Alumnae meet each Wednesday at the Singer Sewing Machine company to do the work.

In charge of cutting are Mrs. Ross H. Coppock and Mrs. Chester Zumwalt.

Those who have assisted with the sewing are Mrs. Raymond Bonesteel, Mrs. Lee Bown, Mrs. James Clayton, Mrs. Frank Deckebach, Mrs. John Hughes, Mrs. James Humphrey, Mrs. Harold Ladd, Mrs. Carl Rickson, Mrs. Ebert Roberts and Mrs. Floyd Thompson.

South Circle of First Christian church will meet with Mrs. E. J. Mauk, 335 Hickory, for an all-day session Wednesday, February 25.

Mrs. Amedee M. Smith III (at right), the former Audrey Fehler, and her maid of honor, Miss Margaret Ann Bligh. The marriage of Miss Fehler and Mr. Smith was solemnized last Sunday afternoon at impressive services at First Congregational church.—(Jesten-Miller).

Dresses were as long as they were one hundred years ago at the Centennial ball at which students and alumni of Willamette celebrated the turning of a century of progress for the oldest university west of Missouri, but they lacked the padding of many underskirts and they were more severely cut than the gowns of the lassies a century ago.

THE MARRIAGE of Miss Edythe Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clell Thomas, and Harold F. Smither, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Smither, will be an important event of tonight at 8 o'clock in First Baptist church. Rev. Irving A. Fox will officiate before relatives and friends of the couple.

The altar will be beautifully decorated with arrangements of snapdragons and iris in pastel shades, laurestinus, greenery and lighted tapers. Miss Betty Clark, Miss Mary Copley and Miss Mabel Elizabeth Fox will sing "I Love You Truly" before the ceremony. Miss Minnie Miller will be the accompanist and will play the wedding marches.

The bride's father will give her in marriage. Her gown will be of white slipper satin, made with sweetheart neckline, a gathered bodice, long sleeves and a full skirt extending into a short train. Her lace-edged veil will fall from a beaded tiara and her flowers will be calla lilies and freesias.

The two maids of honor will be Miss Carol Cooper and Miss Doris Crabtree. Miss Cooper will wear a blue printed gown and Miss Crabtree will be in a pink print. Their flowers will be carnations and freesias.

Ralph Smith will be best man for his brother and ushers will include Roland Clark, Fred Broer, Jr., Bert Broer and John Goffrier.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Thomas will wear a gown of navy blue crepe and Mrs. Smither will be in a flowered print with black background. Both will have corsages of rosebuds.

A reception will follow at the church. The table decorations will be white freesias and white iris and a white bride's cake.

At the punch bowl will be Mrs. Fred Broer, Jr., Mrs. Robert Keuscher and Mrs. Bert Broer will cut the cake. Serving will be Miss Phyllis and Miss Ellen Morley, Miss Helen and Miss Mary Virginia Hatfield and Miss Alice Goffrier. Mrs. Oswald Morley will pass the guest book and in the gift room will be Mrs. Roland Clark.

For going away the bride will wear a brown suit with matching cape, a yellow blouse and brown accessories. Her corsage will be of yellow roses. The couple will live in Salem following a short wedding trip.

Miss Thomas attended schools here and is well known in the capital. Mr. Smither also attended Salem schools and is now with the First National bank.

The home of Governor and Mrs. Charles A. Sprague was the setting for a smart tea Friday afternoon when Chemeketa chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, entertained. Over one hundred women called during the afternoon.

In the receiving line were Mrs. I. M. Schanep, Mrs. Sprague, Mrs. Carey Martin, Mrs. Frank Slettemier and Mrs. Seymour Jones. Special guests, who also received, were Mrs. William Horsfall, Marshfield, newly elected state regent; Mrs. Howard P. Arnest, Portland, and Mrs. Jeannette Dentler, Portland, state recording secretary. With Mrs. Horsfall came Barbara Marie Guderian of Pendleton, the state pilgrimage girl.

Good Citizen pilgrimage girls, sponsored by Chemeketa chapter, were introduced and included Miss Betty Dickey of Dallas, Miss Ruth Farmer, Independence, Miss Jane Irish, Silverton, and Miss Veta Smith, Salem.

Century Girl, Nancy Austin, made her appearance in a handsome white Grecian model with her gold studded belt as its only trim. A style that would have shocked the maid of yesterday but is quite the vogue these days was the gown of jersey that Miss Ruthanne Thompson chose for the occasion. The bodice was of red and the skirt was white. Wearing her new diamond from Kenneth Hughes for the first time was Miss Luree Norris who chose a black taffeta skirt and a long sleeved sheer blouse for the occasion. An alumna, showing a visiting soldier a good time, was Miss Josephine Corroyer, who wore a black gown with a white lace yoke and lace cuffs. Attending her first campus affair was Mrs. Robert McKeown, a recent bride, who wore an all white sheer gown. Adding color to the occasion was Miss Lorena Jack, in a gown of large floral design. A sweet and lovely faculty wife is Mrs. Ivan Lovell, who wore a royal blue net frock.

True to tradition, members of the Junior Woman's club entertained with their annual Valentine's ball and those members who lost their escorts to the army substituted visiting army men for the occasion.

In keeping with the Valentine theme was the bright red velveteen gown that Mrs. Joseph Felton wore. In white jersey was Mrs. Roy Mink and also in white was Mrs. Clinton Standish, whose taffeta gown had contrasting shoulder straps of gold. Miss Hazel Shult, who was escorted by Clark Van Osdol, wore a light pink jersey with a low neckline. A contrast to the pink of Miss Shult's gown was the light blue frock worn by Miss Hattie Bratzel, the club's delegate to the national convention, whose escort was Farley Mogan.

Learning to schottische on roller skates is a group of W. A. A. co-eds, whose costumes for the occasion varied from the navy blue wool slacks and a white blouse worn by Miss Reeva Schmidt, to a princess style green frock with bracelet-length sleeves worn by Miss Shirley Valliant. Miss Jackie Macaulay was patriotic in her outfit, wearing a dark red skirt with a white blouse and a bright red sweater. Assisting fellow co-eds in their skating lessons was Miss Nadine Lewis, who appeared in a bright blue slip-on sweater over her white blouse and a darker blue skirt.

Mr. and Mrs. Werner Brown and their young son, John Chandler, left Friday for Long Beach, Calif., to make their home. Mr. Brown has accepted a position with the government. Wednesday night a group of the Browns' friends called informally at their home in Leslie street to bid them "au revoir."

Following a no-host dinner at the Golden Pheasant tonight, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Rosa will entertain members of their bridge club at their home in Tamarack avenue. Washington's birthday will form the theme of the decor.

Mrs. Homer G. Lyon, Jr., formerly Miss Ruth Perfect, whose marriage was an event at St. Paul's Episcopal church Wednesday night, February 18, at 9 o'clock. A reception followed at the O. K. DeWitt residence.—(Jesten-Miller).

Mr. and Mrs. William John Thompson (Virginia Jarman), who were married Sunday afternoon, February 15, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Lee Steiner. The couple will live in Medford.—(Jesten-Miller).

Willamette University campus—Friday evening was Delta Phi sorority Dad's Night when members of Delta Phi entertained their fathers at the Willamette-College of Idaho basketball game. Following the game, the girls and their guests returned to the chapter house for a late supper. Miss Betty Keller was in general charge of the affair.

Hostesses for the evening were Miss Elaine Murray, Miss Gwen Griffith, Miss Carol Young, Miss Maxine Holt, Miss Grace Covert, Miss Esther Gunnesdal, Miss Betty Keller, Miss Elvy Fredrickson, Miss Aileen Sechrist, Miss Betty Sackett, Miss Eloise Findley and Miss Peggy Byrd.

Guests for the evening were J. S. Murray, Professor Leslie J. Sparks, H. W. Young, J. H. Holt, L. S. Covert, Dr. William G. Keller, Dr. R. Franklin Thompson, Dean Chester F. Luther, Leland R. Sackett, J. J. Sechrist, Dr. M. C. Findley and C. M. Byrd.

Those co-eds whose fathers were too far away invited members of the faculty. Bouquets of pussy-willows formed the decor.

Tower-Corning

Miss Pauline Corning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Corning, and Wallace Tower, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon E. Tower, will be married tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Fireplace room of First Presbyterian church. Rev. W. Irvin Williams will officiate before relatives and close friends of the couple.

The bride will be attended by Miss Betty Welch of Eugene. Eugene Tower, brother of the bridegroom, will be best man.

The couple will leave after the ceremony for Madras, where they will make their home. Mr. Tower is flying instructor at Madras.

Miss Corning, who is well known in Salem, has been connected with the airport here.

Miss Hilda Fries and Mrs. Winifred Pettyjohn will entertain at the home of Mrs. Pettyjohn tonight for members of the Business and Professional Women's club bridge group.
