Frost Damages Linn Roadways

Albany—Frost damage to roads in Linn county during the winter was so great, reports Linn County Engineer Walter Larsen, that resurfacing of half the clogged roads in the county will be necessary. This will definitely bar new paving. The county will also be unable to undertake any oiling contracts on city streets, the engineer added.

Frost damage is becoming daily more evident, even though the winter has passed. Mr. Larsen said, because roads previously thought unaffected are now breaking up.

Because of federal restriction no Linn county construction project was contemplated this year. However, several new bridges will be built, none of these projects to cost more than $5000.

Card Benefit Aids Defense

Gervais—The regular meeting of the "500" club was held with a good attendance. A no-host supper was served at 7 o'clock with the Misses Nell and Kitty Smith and Mrs. O. Runcorn in charge.
