

West Salem Sugar Rationing Outlined

West Salem, April 21—The principal plans for the sugar rationing were completed at the meeting of the local rationing board last night in cooperation with Leighton Dashiell, head of the school, through which the sugar rationing will be handled.

The area to be under the jurisdiction of the board will be the same as that of the three rationing districts No. 27-C, which is comprised of all territory in Folk county that lies north of the Salem-Dallas highway, and east of highway No. 99. A rationing advisor will be named for the district.

Sugar Ration Advice Given By Authority

Arthur J. Krauss, rationing administrative assistant for sugar wants a few things understood about sugar rationing, before we all sign up beginning May 4th.

First: Don't worry about how much sugar you have on hand. Go down to the local school house and sign up, declare what is on hand for none will be taken away from you.

Second: Don't worry about exactly how much sugar you have on hand. Housewives have called in and asked if they should buy scales upon which to weigh their sugar. All Uncle Sam is interested in is about how much you have. If you bought a 100-pound sack and it is about half full you have approximately 50 pounds. If you bought a 10-pound bag and it is two thirds full you have 7 pounds.

You are not going to be branded as a hoarder. The sugar rationing boards of the Pacific Northwest are well aware that a great many people in this area have been in the custom of purchasing sugar by the 100-pound sacks. This was not the custom in the apartment-house-living-East where a 100-pound sack would fill up the kitchen, but it has been in the west. It is definitely not hoarding, and you will be allowed to retain all or any portion of this 100-pound sack.

Of course if you acquired the habit since Pearl Harbor and let it run away with you to the tune of half a dozen sacks, Krauss recommends you quietly sell back a few of the sacks so you will not feel ashamed of yourself.

However, don't forget to register, because you are registering for war ration books, not just sugar ration books, and don't misrepresent your sugar stock because everyone is in this equally. The war may last long enough for you to be found out, and that would be embarrassing to explain to veterans from Bataan.

"We must approach rationing in a reasonable manner," Krauss said. "There is to be no hair splitting. We know that 99 per cent of the people of the United States want and intend to cooperate with their government. Their government intends to cooperate just as wholeheartedly with them.

"As for the one per cent they will be taken care of in due time in the American way, for we are all in this equally.

"The rationing administration will do everything possible to explain the details of the program. We are happy to answer any questions. But we want everyone to be assured that it will be conducted with the usual American common sense, in the usual American cooperative spirit.

"The fundamental idea is that every individual receives the same consideration and the same amount of sugar."

These intersections are regarded as the points of greatest danger. Pupils of the seventh grade have been delegated to care for the signs.
