

Stock Trading Falls Off But Prices Firm

New York, July 20 (AP)—Trading fell off sharply on the stock market today as traders awaited new developments on the administration's inflation policy.

Prices were firm late in the day after early irregularity. They dipped below the best, however, when the house of representatives rejected the ways and means committee proposal to set a 40 per cent normal and surtax rate, against the 45 per cent rate in the committee's bill. The house also voted to increase the excess profits tax from 87 1/2 per cent to 90 per cent.

Averages of leading groups had small net gains because most top issues were higher. A few special stocks eased as much as a point or so. A few showed advances ranging to more than 4 points.

Steel issues opened lower, rallied and turned irregular. Bethlehem had a small net loss and U. S. Steel issues were higher. Motors were firm in late dealings. Ralls firmed and enough utilities rose to send the average up slightly. Coppers displayed a better tone late in the day.

A better tone was noted in mercantile shares. Mail order shares were firm.

Goodyear preferred equaled its high at 82 up 1. Montecito rose more than a point, while Dow Chemical lost more than a point.

Wider movers included Maytag company first preferred at 79 1/2 up 4; Public Service 7 per cent preferred 91 1/2 up 1/2; and General Steel Castings preferred 63 up 1 1/2.

Fourth Storage Shed Erected

St. Paul, July 20—A fourth storage shed with 700-ton capacity, a water reservoir for fire protection and women's quarters preparatory to hiring of women for the first time to replace men leaving for military service or war industries, are being constructed at the St. Paul Flax Growers' plant here.

Manager Pete Luthi made known the expansion work Saturday. The co-operative, which was organized early last year and put up a $50,000 plant in time to handle a 2,400-ton crop, will harvest 1,000 acres in flax this year, Luthi stated.

Recent rains have caused considerable damage, as this year's heavy growth has "lodged" badly, he pointed out. Pulling is expected to start about July 27.

A crew of 45 men is continuing processing of last year's big yield, and about 300 tons remain to be deseeded. A new tow machine invented by W. M. Hurst, Corvallis, of the United States department of agriculture, is being tried out, and a new deseeder is being built at Silverton for the plant here, Luthi said. Present output of tow is going to the Salem mills.

misses on a large destroyer with 500-pounders and another did the same with a light cruiser. Anti-aircraft, which is not particularly damaging to most fast combat planes, is brutally punishing to ships as large and slow as the Catalinas.

The Japs showed signs of discouragement and their ships began to get under way. A Cat delivered its load on the moving ships and flew on out to Attu, the last island of the intercontinental stepping stones.

Construction Work
By night the bombers noted evidence the Japs planned a permanent occupation. Attu showed signs of construction work and shore-based Nakajima 97 fighters rose from Kiska, to meet the American craft. The harbor was empty of ships that night, but next day they came back, appearing in increasing numbers throughout the daylight hours.

By night Kiska's harbor held five heavy cruisers, two light cruisers, ten destroyers, two submarines, nine cargo and transport vessels, and a dozen Kawanishi flying boats, seaplane and land-based observation and fighter aircraft haunted the murky sky. Other ships were sighted arriving from the south.

More Warships Hit
The fog closed in tight and stayed most of the day and bombers had to drop their loads through mist. When the mist rolled back two Catalinas dropped down to a thousand feet and dumped a pair of heavy bombs each on a destroyer and light cruiser. All were punishing near misses.

Another Liberator was lost during the day, but the remainder made direct hits on two cruisers and a destroyer and left them burning.

A torpedo carrying Catalina varied its routine by attacking a heavy cruiser standing up to Kiska from the south. The torpedo went into the water and the peppered plane zoomed out as the cruiser turned to avoid attack. The ship didn't make it for suddenly a wall of water skyrocketed along her side and she lurched suddenly in her course. It was a clean hit.

Whether she sank is a matter for historians to record. The plane didn't wait to see.

Carrier Zeros Seen
The first bombing flights yesterday found something new in the way of trouble. Nobody had seen the Jap carriers for several days but now carrier Zeros were working over the island. It seemed to indicate the carriers' close proximity but no contact was made during the day.

While American bombers kept up their round trip destruction the Japs made a few tentative sallys eastward. Observation planes scouted along the islands as far as Umnak, just east of Dutch Harbor.

Several attacks on Kiska were driven off by Zeros but others got through. Army bombers reported two direct hits on a heavy cruiser.

The fight goes on through the gloom of night and the practically identical gloom of day. No battle ever fought witnessed conditions so viciously unfriendly to both sides.

impeded by sandstorms, they maintained all their positions on the dominant ridge of the northern and central areas and in the southern dust bowl.

In one of the heaviest raids of the campaign, fighter-bombers and light bombers, escorted by fighters, fought their way through the swirling dust clouds yesterday to raid an enemy occupied airbase west of the battle line, to destroy or damage many grounded planes and shoot down five enemy planes which were about to land.

Axis Tanks Hit
Other planes scored direct hits on six enemy tanks in a raid in the southern area and started fires.

Heavy bombers, which may have included American army air corps planes, made a daylight attack on the axis base at Tobruk, a communique of the middle eastern command and the royal air force said.

One allied plane was missing from all operations.

In the north, the Australians have consolidated newly won positions on the Makhkhad ridge about four and one-half miles from the coast between El Alamein and the Hill of Jesus, the Tel El Eisa.

In the center, Indian troops holding Ruweisat ridge, made a sudden advance in a dusk attack, gained new ground and held it against an enemy counter-attack supported by a few tanks.

Recession in Grain Prices

Chicago, July 20 (AP)—Wheat futures staged a late rally to close irregularly higher today, after reports of an impending conference between the president and congressional leaders on anti-inflation legislation caused a recession in the grain.

Other futures closed firm.

Wheat closed around the bushel's highs 1/4 to 3/4 cent a bushel higher, corn also closed on the tops 3/4 to 1/2 cent higher, oats 1/4 to 1/2 higher, rye up 1/4 to 3/4, and soybeans up 1/4 to 1/2.

Continual anti-inflationary talk lowered prospects on passage of 100 per cent of parity loan provision now before the house. Hedge sales from time to time eased wheat futures which met some support on slight declines.

Local demand and scattered buying from cash interests gave a steady to firm tone to corn futures. Many traders believed that recent farm weather had done much to improve this year's crop.

Light trading caused sluggish price movements in the rye and oat pits. Local traders and commission houses acted on both sides of the markets. Soybean trade was full and slightly easier.

Regulation Cuts Food Prices

Washington, July 20 (AP)—The cost of many foods not under price control rose sharply between mid-May and mid-June while those under regulation declined slightly, the bureau of labor statistics reported today.

Prices of foods not under the general price ceiling advanced an average of 4.8 per cent and controlled food prices declined an average of 1.3 per cent.

The bureau estimated that, despite the administration's efforts to check the rising cost of living, food bills for city families of moderate income rose 1.3 per cent between May 12 and June 16. This was about the same rate of increase which prevailed during the 14 months prior to the start of price regulation May 18.

Twenty of the 65 foods priced in retail stores went up, 28 were lower and 17 were unchanged. Price regulation does not affect 24 of the foods priced, representing more than 40 per cent of the

Patricia Ann Likes To Ride Armored Cars

Seattle, July 20 (AP)—Patricia Ann Griffin, 3 1/2, is wild about armored cars. She got to ride in one of the army vehicles when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Griffin, bought $2,000 worth of war bonds for her. Now she wants to buy bonds every day to get more rides.

"But Patty," her mother says, "that ride cost $2,000."

"But I like armored cars," says Patricia Ann.

"I believe," Mrs. Griffin sighs, "we should have bought the bonds $25 at a time."

Jap Bombs That Missed Their Mark—When Jap bombers attacked Dutch Harbor, U. S. naval base in Alaska, they were met with anti-aircraft fire that kept many of their bombs falling wide of the mark.
