

Seventh Annual Flax Festival Major Event Tonight

Royal Court Dinner Guests At Mt. Angel

Mt. Angel—The seventh Oregon Flax Festival, held annually at Mt. Angel, begins with a snappy start at 5:30 o'clock Friday evening.

Queen Adelene I and her court, Crown Princess Carol Mae Merten of St. Paul, Princess Luanna Williamson of Salem, Princess Jane Irish of Silverton, Princess Marjory Seeley of Woodburn and Princess Jeanette Schneider of Portland will be feted with a banquet at the Mt. Angel hotel, as special guests of the Flax Festival committee. The banquet will be presided over by A. J. Butsch, general chairman. Covers were placed for the other members of the committee, including Mrs. A. J. Butsch, chairman of the ladies' committee; Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Schmitt, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. LeDoux, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schwab, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brenden and a number of special guests.

Present also will be Queen Norleen I of Portland, who reigned over the sixth annual flax festival. Queen Norleen last year was the recipient of what was probably the largest check in the world. Flax grown in Oregon was processed then woven into a three by nine-foot piece of linen by the Mt. Angel Weaving guild. On this were printed the words of a regular negotiable check for $100 which was awarded to Queen Norleen by the flax festival committee, for winning the queen contest.

At 8 o'clock the cars will line up at the city hall, under the direction of L. A. LeDoux, for the parade directly to the Mt. Angel auditorium for the coronation ceremony. There they will be met and directed by J. L. Wachter, Mt. Angel fireman. The other members of the Mt. Angel fire department will direct the traffic when one of the largest crowds ever to gather in Mt. Angel is expected to take over the town until midnight.

The coronation setting designed by T. B. Endres, chairman of the coronation, will be of red, white and blue, very tall and graduating screens. Before this will be placed the throne for the queen and chairs for the crown princess and princesses, escorted by the Mt. Angel Flaxarians.

Mayor Berchtold will lead the line of cars for Queen Adelene's coronation, followed by the Mt. Angel Boy Scouts troop No. 56, and the Salem Cherrians marching group who will then form a guard of honor. In the next car will be King Bing Frank Ernest of the Salem Cherrians, escorted by local Boy Scouts. The following car will carry Queen Norleen I wearing her crown of the 1941 Flax festival and escorted by a Flaxarian. The next four cars will each transport a princess and her Flaxarian escort. Then Crown Princess Carol Mae will arrive in her car and last the car bearing Queen-elect Adelene Bochsler of Mt. Angel and their Flaxarian escorts and the tiny tots, Marilyn Schwab, Judy Flicker and Marlene Diehl, train-bearers and crown-bearer.

Marilyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schwab, Judy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ficker, and Marlene, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Diehl.

After the crowning of the queen, which will be staged by the Salem Cherrians, Queen Adelene I will lead the grand march of the gala Queen's ball at the auditorium, and at the gymnasium, simultaneously where a semi-modern dance will be held at which the queen and her court will also dance. Crowds may drift to their favorite ballroom. Bolton McManian and his orchestra will play in the auditorium and music for semi-modern will be furnished by a Salem orchestra.

Byberg Hits 'Plug'

Silverton—Ernest Byberg's car went out of control when the steering gear failed to function properly while he was driving on North Water street Thursday, and careened to the curbing striking a fire hydrant in front of the Jim Smith home at 403 N. Water, completely "beheading" the hydrant without much damage to the car and no injuries to himself. Byberg is with his brother, Jonas Byberg, in the Byberg Manufacturing plant.

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, will spend $30,000,000 in constructing new roads in and around the city.

Seven of Eight Brothers Serving

Silverton—Within a few weeks, seven of the eight Strand brothers will be serving in the United States army. The reason eight will not be serving is because one, Paul Strand, residing in California, was rejected on account of physical disability, recently.
