Silverton—Mrs. F. J. Roubal, in charge of the knitting department of the local Red Cross rooms, is announcing that a lot of material is on hand for navy turtle-neck sweaters, and also for refugee sweaters that will be given to workers who desire to do this work.

Mrs. G. E. Weatherill has turned in 18 knitted sweaters and Mrs. Helena Whitlock, 13 sweaters and two pairs of navy mittens. The mittens are made with fingers and are difficult to do. Many more could be used, however, it was announced.

The Red Cross rooms are opened for the knitters each Wednesday afternoon, when Mrs. Roubal will be present to help those wishing to call. With the seasonal work at its peak, the regular work returns have lessened considerably. If possible, the committee in charge would be glad to receive the articles being made from materials that have been out of the rooms for several weeks.

Those who wish to donate to the work are advised that there is a call for buttons of brown, maroon and navy blue, six buttons for a sweater, for cardigan sweaters. The size and type are regular, but there must be six of a kind.

Mrs. Roubal also announced that 18 members of the drivers' corps, of which she is in charge, are finishing up their Red Cross first aid requirements. The members have had actual experience in driving trucks and are awaiting instructors from Silverton and Salem for dimout driving and incendiary bomb and gas control. There will be no more regular Wednesday evening meetings until it is definitely known when the instructors are available.

The members of the drivers' corps distributed 115 public proclamations, No. 10, Monday to the business men of town, having to do with dimout rules.

Nursing, Teaching Brings Big Demand

Mt. Angel—"The demand for nurses and the shortage of teachers should bring young women to the realization that they will be serving their country in a vital way by returning to school this fall to prepare for these and other professions," says Margaret Frank, 1941-42 student body president of Mt. Angel Normal and College.

Mt. Angel Normal and College offers the three-year normal curriculum and a four-year liberal arts course. Business administration, secretarial training, and pre-nursing courses may be completed in two years. Students in the normal school have the advantage of teaching experience in a large nine-room city school, the three-year training school on the campus, a model rural schoolroom organized for a specified period, and in an educational clinic for typical pupils. Active participation in inter-mural athletics, dramatics and journalism is open to all students. The school paper, "The Abiqua," is one of the few Oregon school papers holding "All-American" rating from the Associated Collegiate Press.

Registration dates for both normal and college have been set for September 20 and 21.
