

Stocks Advance To New Highs In Specialties

New York, Sept. 8 (AP)—The stock market resumed business on the bullish side today after the lengthy recess in which disturbing situations failed to develop either at home or abroad.

Leaders were a bit hesitant at the start but an advance soon got under way when it was realized sellers were exceptionally timid.

Lively dealings in low-priced issues, in addition to two "special" offerings, put the day's turnover to about 400,000 shares, largest in three weeks.

Wall Street generally viewed as constructive the presidential anti-inflation message.

There was an assortment of new highs for the year or longer, including Western Union, Erie common and certificates, Chicago & Eastern Illinois, "A," Twin City Rapid Transit.

Of the two "specials" which went through the exchange's machinery 12,800 shares of Allis Chalmers was quickly oversubscribed at 2 1/2.

Investment purchasing of American Telephone and Westinghouse these blue chips a good lift...

Wheat finished the day with net gains of 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents a bushel; corn was up 1/2 to 1 cent a bushel, oats up 1/2 to 3/4 cents.

Loan wheat in the United States at the close of August totaled 92,167,000 bushels of the department of agriculture market announced today.

Gains in wheat of from 1 to 2 cents corroborated the view of brokers that the scheduled ceiling on farm prices would be sufficiently above current levels to have no bearish effect on the market.

Most Workers Stay at Jobs On Labor Day

By the Associated Press: America observed the first wartime Labor day in nearly a quarter of a century yesterday.

The wartime observance of the holiday, in addition to maintaining the flow of production, paid dividends in the number of lives saved attendant to the traditional celebrations normally staged throughout the nation.

The violent death toll for the three-day holiday, an Associated Press survey showed, was considerably smaller compared to the total for the week-end holiday last Labor day.

The national safety council had predicted that automobile fatalities would number 400, more than double the number reported.

The sharp curtailment in automobile travel and the work-holiday in the nation's plants were cited by traffic authorities as the principal factors in bringing about the lower number of accidents.

Schenck Freed From Prison

New York, Sept. 8 (AP)—Joseph M. Schenck, former chairman of the board of 20th Century-Fox Film Corp., has been released on parole from the federal prison at Danbury, Conn., where he had served four months of a year-and-a-day sentence.

Schenck, sentenced for perjury, entered the prison May 2 and was released yesterday, it was disclosed at the office of U.S. Attorney Mathias F. Correa, who prosecuted him.

Originally Schenck was sentenced to serve three years' imprisonment but the term was reduced because he assisted the government in the conviction of William Bloff and Gerge E. Browne, motion picture union officials who are convicted of extorting $1,000,000 from film companies under threats of nationwide strikes.

Bridges Hard-Boiled In War Attitude

Los Angeles, Sept. 8 (AP)—Harry Bridges takes a hard-boiled view of the war. He says the issue for Americans is "kill or be killed," and urges against part-time prosecution of the war effort.

"There is too much part-time fighting, part-time thinking and part-time working in this war," declared the state CIO director at a dinner of 500 CIO members last night.

"There is no choice—it's kill or be killed. Labor knows it's life is at stake, and while there still are mistakes to be rectified, the workers should be given credit at least for being on the way toward total war effort."

"Frankly, I believe there's still too much business as usual sentiment in the ranks of labor and labor unions. And management still is worrying about its profits, about competition after the war, and jealously guarding its peacetime rights."

Hop Yards Need More Pickers

There is still a demand for hop yard workers and the situation in some instances is acute, Wm. H. Baillie, manager of the Salem office of the U.S. employment service stated this forenoon.

Baillie added as he urged all persons who can possibly lay aside their regular chores to answer the appeal of the growers.

As an instance of what can be done, Baillie quoted from a letter written by C. L. Jones, agent for an insurance company, who said he picked hops over the Labor Day holiday for the first time in 20 years.

Bean picking is tapering off considerably with the bulk of the crop already in cans. However, four or five trucks carrying officers left the employment office this morning for the bean patches.

7 States Vote At Primaries

Support of President Roosevelt's foreign policies before Pearl Harbor again was tested as a political issue today in three of seven states where voters picked party nominees for federal and state offices.

The pre-war records of congressmen were campaign issues in Minnesota, Washington and Colorado. Primary balloting also was conducted in Maryland, Arizona, Louisiana and Vermont.

The usual contention that an opponent failed to support administration foreign views went into reverse in Minnesota where Walter K. Mickelson, a publisher, sought the republican senatorial nomination on the claim that his opponent, Senator Joseph H. Ball, had voted against the views of 80 per cent of his constituents in supporting the president.

The state also was interested in the republican contest for the lieutenant governorship. Governor Harold E. Stassen, republican, has declared if re-elected he will resign in April to go on active duty as a lieutenant-commander in the navy, turning the chair over to the lieutenant governor.

Stassen supported Ed Thye, former deputy state agriculture commissioner, for the nomination. Seven others, including the 30-year-old incumbent, C. Elmer Anderson, have filed for the office. In the governorship race, Stassen was opposed by John Alexander, former congressman, and Martin A. Nelson.

U. P. Correspondent Wounded in Battle

Headquarters, United States Pacific Fleet, Sept. 5 (Delayed)—Joe James Custer, United Press war correspondent, was wounded while covering the battle of the Solomon Islands from the deck of a United States warship, it was announced today.

A shell fragment lodged behind Custer's left eye, which may be blinded. Custer was sent to a hospital somewhere in the southwest Pacific.

One of two United Press correspondents from the Honolulu bureau assigned to the American naval and marine forces which attacked Japanese positions in the Solomons, Custer probably has seen as much naval action in the Pacific as any war correspondent. His companion, Robert Miller, still is with the fighting forces in the Solomons.

Farmers Lacking Harvest Facilities

Henry Zorn, prominent north end farmer who is in Salem a short time this morning reported that farmers in that section are making some advances in harvesting but are lacking both in manpower and transportation facilities to handle their crops.

He states large quantities of clover, vetch, oats, barley and similar crops are stacked in fields in bags and that hauling of flax is virtually stymied on a number of farms due to a shortage of trucks.

Warns School Kids to Behave In War Time

Rex Putnam, state superintendent of public instruction served notice to school kids today that they face "stern disciplinary measures" if they mis-behave in classes.

Putnam, who recently returned from the national institute on education and the war in Washington, D.C., said classes will be so crowded and the schools have such a hard task ahead of them that teachers and principals will crack down on students who disrupt classes.

"Every classroom in the nation must become a unit of maximum effort in the total war picture," Putnam said.

"Teachers will be called upon to do even better work under serious difficulties, and to give additional time and energy to increased demands upon the schools in order to assist in every type of activity toward victory."

"All pupils, through grades one to 12, must point their full energies and abilities toward mastering their studies, and in taking active part in school and community victory effort programs in order that they may be prepared to serve in a more direct way as they become old enough to do so."
