

Priority Bars New Fire Truck For Albany

Albany—According to word received by City Recorder C. R. Ashton from the war production board, signed by J. A. Krug, deputy director general for priorities control, Albany has been denied a new fire truck. Krug's answer came after the Albany city council and mayor asked for permission to purchase a new fire truck.

Krug's letter stated: "Unquestionably you could use additional fire apparatus to advantage. However, the information presented in your letter indicates that you have far more fire protection equipment in respect to the general character and size of your city than many municipalities throughout the United States. Therefore it is deemed advisable to recommend a rating on the equipment you propose to purchase at this time. "We are attempting to reserve ratings to industrial areas where there is a definite shortage of equipment until such time as there is an improvement in the available supply of apparatus."

Huge New London Raid Shelter Prepared for Occupancy—An air raid precaution worker operated a vacuum cleaner type of apparatus in cleaning one of London's huge, new deep-tunnel air raid shelters, built far below the ground and beneath subway stations. Each shelter is capable of sheltering 8,500 persons. Tiers of bunks stretch as far as the eye can see. There are to be eight such super shelters, seven of which were expected to be ready this fall in event of reopening of air attacks on the city. — Associated Press Photo.

Reckless Drivers Fined at Silverton

Silverton—Melvin Kertzman, who said he was the driver, was a guest of the city of Silverton while his two alleged companions, Allen R. Hart and Gary Cameron, were released from the custody of A. Amo, chief of police, Friday, and raised $25 fine, on a reckless driving charge, preferred when the car in which the three men were riding left the street and took a jaunt along the sidewalk in the vicinity of the Morris Optical office, the Tailor Shop and the former Red and White store.

Kertzman, a resident of the Nelson cottages in Silverton, was released on payment of the fine.

Mrs. Kate Salinger, Portland, barely escaped being struck by the car on the sidewalk. The car raked the fenders of the Rolf Benson car that was parked diagonally along the street.

The three men said they were shipyard workers. Kertzman said that his pockets had been picked of $50. Hart, of Portland, is the owner of the car.

Bert Terry, police judge, conducted the trial at the city hall.

Site Announced For Deposit Of War Scrap

Dallas—The Willamette Valley Lumber company has donated the use of property near the railroad track, on Uglov avenue, south of Birch street, as a collection depot for Polk county scrap gathered during the drive to be held from October 3 to 10, according to announcement made this week by Miss Frances Jo Greenwood, Dallas salvage committee chairman. Scrap collected there will be loaded directly on cars when ready for shipment, without expense to the committee.

Those having heavy scrap are asked to take it to this site. Small scrap may be taken to the more centrally located, salvage depot on the Shreeve lot at Oak and Jefferson streets.

During the drive period, a house to house canvass will be made and arrangements made to pick up scrap of owners unable to make deliveries. Those who desire to sell scrap are asked to collect it in piles convenient for dealers to pick up. Locally, Elmo Bennett is buying general scrap for shipment, and the Dallas Machine and Locomotive Works is buying cast iron.

Mrs. Schempp saved her face from the burning particles by covering it with her hand.

Lebanon Will Extend Street

Lebanon—The city council this week entered into a contract with the Oregon Electric railroad company for a right-of-way across the railroad property for an extension of South Williams street to join with Milton. The proposed route would be used as a trucking lane, using Milton, Williams and Wheeler streets, through the city.

In the agreement Williams street would be moved 20 feet west, so that the railroad and city would not be using the same road base. As compensation the railroad would pay $1,500 to reimburse the city for additional lands to be acquired for the street, and the cost, not to exceed $450, of moving buildings and making new connections for lights, water and other facilities.

In exchange the railroad was granted by franchise the exclusive right to use the easterly 40 feet of Williams street between Elmore and the present southern terminus of Williams street as right-of-way for 25 years.

An ordinance was passed by the city council Tuesday night approving the contract. The city will pay the cost of the new street construction, but the state highway department has agreed to maintain Milton street from U. S. highway 20 to Williams, Williams to Wheeler street, and Wheeler to the highway.

All Families Called Upon To Bring Scrap

Jefferson — Every family in Jefferson and surrounding districts is urged to begin at once to gather up scrap for the big salvage day to be held here on Saturday, September 26.

Farmers who have been delayed in gathering up their scrap because of the busy harvest season, are urged to load their trucks with junk found around the farm, bring it to Jefferson on Saturday and receive cash for it. It is urged that only good practical items be brought in. Included in this list is solid pieces of iron or steel, rubber, zinc, brass, copper, lead, old burlap and rags. Such items as old water boilers, shell metal and tin cans and other articles that are bulky with little weight, are not needed at this time as there are no facilities to compress them into flat blocks for shipment.

The junk rally will start Friday evening with a show at the Jefferson theater with admission being a piece of junk. Ten pounds or more is the amount suggested needed.

The members of the casualty station are planning to serve refreshments at a down town location Saturday. A program is being planned for an old-fashioned get-together in Jefferson.

Roy Chester is chairman of the salvage committee. Other members are Delmer Davidson, Mrs. Robert Terhune, E. Gleason, Arthur Harris, Rev. William Elmer and Pat Beal.

Chaplain Advise Church Group

Albany—Churches of Albany should not only extend themselves to make as pleasant as possible the lives of Camp Adair soldiers who may visit here, but they should not discriminate noticeably between the whites and the negroes, Chaplain C. O. Churchill from the cantonment told delegates to the annual Willamette Presbytery at the close of the two-day conference here last week.

Chaplain Churchill urged that, while it might not be possible for local people to entertain a large proportion of the Camp Adair soldiers on leave in their respective homes, dinners and parties in the churches will answer well the purpose he presented.

The visiting chaplain said that the soldiers here and elsewhere are a cross-section of the entire United States, including men who are good, bad and indifferent.

"They are just boys like Albany is sending into the army," Chaplain Churchill said.

The chaplain spoke similarly of the negroes, whose plight, he said, is less favorable than that of the whites because they are naturally restricted in their social activities through absence of others of their race among civilians of this area.

"But you must remember," Chaplain Churchill said, "they are not here of their own accord, but because their government sent them here."

Magees Sell Store To Salt Creek Pair

Unionvale—Mr. and Mrs. Louis Magee, who have owned and operated the Grand Island Junction store for four years and one month, have sold to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Chittim, who recently sold their store at Salt Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Magee have planned to make this their home, having purchased the 91-acre farm last winter that adjoins their five-acre place on which they built their home into which they moved at Easter time, 1941.

Mr. Magee will continue in his present employment in field work for Blue Lake cannery.

Mr. and Mrs. Chittim came from the east to Salt Lake two years ago. For the present they will live in the warehouse until the garage recently vacated by Denzil Wilson, is remodeled into a modern dwelling.
