Courthouse employees have been joining in the swing shift cannery work for several weeks. Two at the county clerk's office, Garnet Six and Arthur Roethlin, probate and circuit court clerks, respectively, have been employed at Hunt Brothers cannery working from four to six hours a night for the past four weeks, as well as throwing in Saturday afternoons and Sundays. County Clerk Ohmart, himself, worked for a time until an injured knee precluded his attempting to keep it up. County Recorder Herman Lanke also has been giving aid to the canneries, as well as some of the other employees.

Private Charles A. Schuster was booked by the police Saturday night on a disorderly conduct charge after he allegedly got into a fight in the Pioneer club and attacked a citizen on the street at State and Liberty. The citizen was M. W. Curtis, 1005 Sixth, West Salem, who said he was crossing the street on the green light when Schuster drove up in his automobile, cursed him and told him to get out of the way, then jumped out of the car and struck him on the head, drawing blood. Next, it appears, he and another man entered the Pioneer club and in an altercation Schuster was struck twice on the head with a "billy" in the hands of a bartender who had refused to sell beer to the intruders.

Theodore R. Baigley of Albany was twice booked by the police Saturday night, for making illegal use of his automobile horn, and driving across a fire hose. Police caught Baigley sounding his horn in the North Salem underpass when no other cars were about and told him to quit, whereupon he drove back in the other direction and did it again. On that charge he put up bail of $2.50. Shortly afterwards he was caught driving across the fire hose and his bail was fixed at $5.

General Cook Tells Chamber About Army

Men in the army are the product of the civil community from which they came, Major General Gilbert R. Cook, commander of the 104th division at Camp Adair, told the Chamber of Commerce today noon at the first of the weekly forum lunches this season. He presented a thumbnail sketch of training problems faced.

Men must be taught how to kill and not to be killed with men first trained as leaders of the masses which follow, Major General Cook said. Leaders must have an utter disregard of self and be concerned only with men and instruments of death, overcoming all obstacles and obtaining results. The army has no place for the officer who works for profit to self, promotion or for decorations, he said.

Comfort and welfare of the soldier is the first necessity, the speaker said, and it is a comfort to him to know that he can hit the target at which he shoots and has the necessary supplies of food and ammunition. The backbone of morale of the soldier is the letters from home as he is concerned with these people and their affairs.

Facilities at Camp Adair for recreation will not be sufficient to meet the needs, Major General Cook asserted, pointing out that proper recreation is vital to morale but that this effort should be made by business men and "not turned over to the Girl Scouts."

Fred Thielsen, who recently resigned as manager after several years, was given a farewell and presented an expensive cigarette case by Carl Hogg, president, in behalf of the Chamber of Commerce.

Italian Admits Spying in Brazil

Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, Sept. 21 (AP)—Police announced today that the Italian Count Edmondo Di Robilant had been arrested and had confessed that he provided information for transmission to Rome concerning the passage through Rio some time ago of the British transport Queen Mary.

The tall, thin Di Robilant, a high official of the Italian airline, was taken into custody with several other persons, and the police said the arrests broke up a major Italian espionage ring.

An official announcement said that the count was instrumental in mounting a radio transmitter which passed secret information to Rome, and that he had provided data concerning material on ships coming from the United States for use in a big Brazilian steel mill now under construction, as well as informing on the Queen Mary.

Big Tanks Built In Northwest

Somewhere in the Pacific Northwest, Sept. 21 (Wide World)—Ponderous pachyderms of mechanized warfare, the army's General Lee M4A1 tanks, are being turned out here this week under conditions of extreme secrecy.

This factory is one of two such heavily guarded tank plants in the nation, and until recently was engaged in another line of enterprise.

It took special training for even the workers experienced in other lines of war work. Women—more than 10 per cent of the workers on the production side are women and plant executives said the percentage may rise to 15 or 20 per cent within six months—learned their new craft between 2 and 8 a.m., when tools were available.

The tanks are made in two units—hull and turret—bolted together when complete. Then they are equipped and tested for ultimate action against the enemy on some of the allied nations' many battlefronts.

Legion Asks for Drafting of 18-19 Youths

"We are going to feel it very acutely before we are a year older," he said in an address for delivery at the national American Legion convention.

"It is my considered opinion that we are going to have to cut farther and more deeply into our civilian economy than even the British themselves have done yet—with the single exception of food.

"We are going to have enough to eat throughout this war, and we probably will not have to put any very drastic limitations on our range of choice in that regard, but in almost every other respect we are going to have to be ready to do without—and do without—and do without until this war has been won."

Nelson explained that the country hadn't yet felt the pinch of war "because our shelves were full."

"We have been living on our fat so far in this war. Believe me, we aren't going to have an ounce of fat left in another year. We'll be down to bone and muscle, because we have got to get down to bone and muscle in order to win."

Right now, he pointed out, approximately 40 per cent of the country's production was going for war and by next year this would be increased to 60 per cent. All of this means "no more luxuries, no more gadgets, no more comforts. . . except what we simply must have if we are to keep fighting."

As an example of what it means to put victory ahead of everything else, Nelson used the American automobile.

"We have upwards of 25 million passenger cars in America today. Our country has been rebuilt around those cars. . . If they should all break down this country would be hopelessly crippled. Our farms would not produce as they should, our great factories would not operate, our ability to turn out the things our fighting men need would be fatally handicapped.

"Therefore, your car is not just your car anymore. It is a part of your country's vital transportation system. If you wear it out by needless driving, you are doing your part to break down your country's ability to win this war."

"So obviously, if you want a nation united for victory, you will use your car only for driving that you absolutely have to do. Sure, it's your car, but this is your country, too. How badly do you want your country to win the war?"

Fire Destroys Eagle Laundry

Fire starting from an undetermined cause shortly after 4 o'clock this morning, entirely destroyed the Eagle laundry, located at 1566 C street, with contents that included a large number of soldiers' uniforms that had been left at the laundry for cleaning.

The laundry was operated by Neils Heibert, who could not be contacted today for an estimate of the loss.

Two hours earlier this morning fire practically destroyed a small apartment house owned by Eugene T. Prescott at 515 Mill street. The building was completely gutted by the flames. The place was under the care of N. D. Lindsey. It was covered by insurance.

Some evidence of incendiaryism was reported.

L. A. Abbott, one of the tenants, jumped from the building to escape the fire and suffered a severe foot injury, possibly a fracture. First aid sent him to Salem Deaconess hospital.

Employees of WSC on Strike

Pullman, Sept. 21 (AP)—Student labor was pressed into service here today as service employees of Washington State college went out on strike.

The strike was called by the AFL building service employees union and the engineers' union, stopping not only building service just a week before the scheduled opening of the college but blocking all other work by union employees on the campus.

Fred Rounds, superintendent of buildings and grounds, said the tie-up seemed complete, and that even women employees of the institution were respecting the picket line set up when the strike went into effect at 8 a.m.

Construction on the new engineering and veterinary building was halted.

Dr. E. O. Holland, college president, said the action would be considered at a meeting of the college board of regents here this afternoon.

"We have enough student labor to take care of the buildings temporarily," he said. "The mild weather helps with the heating problem."

Gas Company To Install 3 Storage Tanks

Backed by a petition signed by all 14 members of the city council an ordinance bill will be introduced at the city council meeting tonight authorizing the Portland Gas & Coke company to install three 19,000-gallon propane-butane storage tanks on the company property at 133 Court street.

A letter to the council from the company states that due to the war emergency there has been a sudden and large demand for artificial gas, aggravated by the fuel shortage. The company proposes to install facilities for the manufacture of liquid petroleum gas to supplement the existing supply of gas manufactured from fuel oil at the Portland plant. In addition to the tanks, and operating in connection with them, will be installed "Gasair" equipment for the manufacture of Propane-Butane air gas.

Alderman Gertrude F. Lobbell will tonight introduce an ordinance bill intended to prohibit persons under 21 years of age from being employed in any occupation that necessitates their selling beer or other intoxicating beverages.

Relative to a petition received two weeks ago asking the city police judge to barge as a nuisance swimming in North Mill creek City Attorney Lawrence N. Brown will report that she does not have that authority until a verified complaint has been filed and the defendants either plead guilty or are found guilty by trial.

New Nazi Planes Now in Battle

London, Sept. 21 (AP)—Qualified British observers said today that the appearance of four new German high-performance warplanes on the world's battlefronts in the past few weeks indicated the reichsmarshal Goering had achieved a major re-tooling "swap over" in the German aircraft industry.

They said the use of the new model fighters and bombers in battle showed that they were in mass production despite the opinions expressed by some air experts that the Germans would be unable to make major changes in models during the heat of the Russian campaign.

The latest German fighter was reported by the Russians yesterday to have made its appearance in action on the Russian front. It is the Messerschmitt 109-G, described as a high altitude, partly armored plane with a liquid-cooled 1700-horsepower engine.

Experts here said such a plane would be a formidable addition to the luftwaffe's vaunted Focke-Wulf 190, already reported followed up by an improved model.

(Red Star, the Russian army newspaper, said the MS-109-G, although armed with three cannon and two machine-guns, lacked the speed of earlier model Messerschmitts. The newspaper said the 109-G would do 250 miles an hour at 3000 feet and 325 at 12,000 feet.)

It has been confirmed officially that the Germans have used a new Heinkel 177 four-motored, two-propellered heavy bomber over Britain recently.

Unofficial sources have reported the appearance, also, of a pressure-cabined Junkers 86-P bomber reconnaissance plane with a ceiling above 40,000 feet.

The Gevurtz furniture store, 275 North Liberty, reported to the police an attempt to break into the store. Screws were removed from a door at the rear.

Scrap Salvage Drive to Start On Wednesday

purpose, property owners to be asked to get their scrap out on their parking places on the dates which have been set apart for their respective blocks, and trucks will be along to pick them up. The dates for each district have been named and previously published. The information will be published again later so that every property owner will have a chance to know on just what days the trucks will reach his residence. It is essential, however, that the scrap be out at the time mentioned as it is very doubtful if a further drive can be put on with pickup trucks available, state members of the salvage committee, and they say it is only through the accommodation of city and other public authorities that the trucks will be diverted from their regular routine duties for the forthcoming drive.

Volunteers Needed: C. W. Paulus, county chairman, stated that volunteer workers will be needed to assist the truckmen and he urges that anyone who can give time to this get in touch with J. H. Davis, city engineer, with the information as to when and how he can assist.

A. C. Haug and Manager Braden of the war chest drive, are undertaking to get older boy scouts to help and attention is called to a declaration just made by James E. West, chief scout executive in New York, that the scrap drive is now "the No. 1 job for boy scouts," and has "first major" with the scouts as their major war project.

Plans are also developing for block wardens to notify the residents in each of the blocks of the city when the trucks will be around and it is hoped this program can be developed so no householder will be missed.

Holman Seeks Ban on Aliens

Washington, Sept. 21 (AP)—Senator Holman (R., Ore.), asked the senate today to approve legislation he said would protect the nation's fighting men when they returned to their homes after the war.

He introduced a bill (S2789) to discontinue all quota immigration and restrict admission of non-immigrant aliens to visits of six months with a guarantee that they will return to their homes at the end of that time.

"If we do not act now to prevent it," Holman told the senate, "immigrants from devastated countries of Europe will swarm over our land and devour its resources for making a living and enjoying the American standards of employment and life, as the locusts of old did in the land of Egypt."

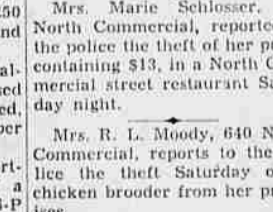

He also introduced a resolution (SJR163) to amend the constitution to prohibit dual citizenship. It would provide that no person could enjoy citizenship in the United States who also owes and acknowledges allegiance to a foreign power.

He said the danger of dual citizenship was seen in the position of Japanese who were citizens of the United States and at the same time citizens of Japan. He said national safety demanded they be interned along with alien Japanese.
