By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—The lightweight title tournament to determine a successor for Sammy Angott probably will start at the Garden, Dec. 18, with Beau Jack vs. Tippy Larkin and Cleo Shans vs. Chester Rico. . . . Christie Kast, daughter of Bud, the Dartmouth captain, won't get a football to add to her collection after today's Columbia game. No matter who wins, the ball will go to the highest bidder in the weekly war bond auction.

Although the physical fitness program introduced at Williamette university, in accordance with the wishes of those responsible for providing man power for the various branches of the armed forces, has been in effect but a few weeks, Coach Spec Keene reports he does not have to look through a microscope to glimpse the beneficial results. The young men have entered into the program wholeheartedly and are getting a bit of fun out of it as well as better health.

Spec is thoroughly convinced of the worth of the physical fitness program, especially those parts which are based on body contact. There is a natural hesitancy on the part of many young men to follow through when first learning to put on a block or make a tackle in football. "But gradually they get the feel of the thing, really get to enjoy a rough and tough contest," the coach pointed out. "That very essential part of a game might mean the difference between life and death when one of the boys faces a foe on the battle field."

Judging by the manner in which the Bearcats have been tearing into each other as they prepare for Whitman Thanksgiving day on Sweetland field, they really have absorbed the spirit of the times. The final rough session was pulled off Friday afternoon. The remainder of the practice tills will be punch pulling affairs in the hope that the entire squad will be at full strength for the Missionaries. Putting the first string backfield behind the second string forwards and vice versa brought some stirring action during the week.

Although the men at the helm in the war effort have given their blessing on football and kindred sports, there is no assurance that the athletic programs of college and university will not be made impossible next fall through the difficulties of transportation and the lack of man power. Travel troubles could be offset to some extent through programs which called for football games on a home and home basis, similar to that employed in basketball and baseball. But if the army and the navy is to take all of the young men from 18 on up, there will be no occasion to worry concerning availability of space on train and bus. There won't be anybody to transport.

Defeat of Leo Turner and Keller Wagner in Portland last night is a tough break for the fight game in Portland. The two scrappers were real attractions and had built up a strong following, but apparently took in too much territory when they included California and Kansas in their ambitious program. Perhaps the Portland promoters can find other boys with local color. If they cannot the gate receipts will suffer, unless they can persuade Costello Cruz, the Californian who dropped Turner last night, to remain in the northwest. And whoever heard of a sun-baked Californian being attracted to the rains and mists of our northwest country.

Across the continent a chap named Willie Pep ended the reign of Chalky Wright as the world's featherweight champion. And what could be more appropriate than a youngster with such a name as Pep should defeat an older like Chalky Wright?

The end of a dreary football season for the hapless Salem Vikings is booked for next Thursday at Everett, Wash. The kids have not won a gridiron contest during the fall, but in spite of their being kicked around, they have been able to keep up their spirits. Off hand one would not think it possible that a high school the size of the one in Salem could produce such a disastrous season. But no coach can win games if the big fellows decline to take an interest.

Navy Officer Home
Gervais—Mrs. Perry Seely left for Bremerton, Wash., where she will visit with her son, Howard Seely and family for a few days. Seely is an ensign in the navy and this is his first trip to the states in more than a year.

Newberg Issues Challenge to KF Pelicans

By Matt Kramer
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Klamath Falls fell last (Friday) night in its bid for north-west football supremacy, losing to Vancouver, Wash., high school, 20-6.

But the loss left the Pelicans' claim to the Oregon high school title unscathed, for Klamath has not been defeated by another team in this state, and still left open the possibility of another post-season game.

The Pelicans undoubtedly will drop their plans for another out-of-state game, but now they face a challenger in Oregon.

Little Newberg, undefeated in two years, downed West Linn, 6-0, yesterday to win the Tualatin-Yamhill League title, and promptly dared the Pelicans to meet them. Newberg has one more game on its schedule, a Thanksgiving day contest with Sherwood, but should encounter little trouble.

No name league teams found the going tough yesterday. The league leader, Eugene, fell before a non-league team, unbeaten but once-tied Marshfield 13-0, and Salem journeyed to Medford to take a 33-12 walloping. In a league encounter Milwaukie drubbed Corvallis, 20-0.

In Portland Franklin high assured itself of at least a tie for the title, defeating Commerce, 34-0. Jefferson, the only team with a chance to tie Franklin, will meet Grant in the final game Thanksgiving day.

Turner Stopped By Cruz in 2nd

Portland, Nov. 21 (AP)—An overhand right earned Costello Cruz, 157, Santa Barbara, Calif., a two-round victory over Leo Turner, 155, Portland, in a rematch here last night.

The punch put Turner down for a count of nine, and left the Portland negro dazed. Three times more he went down for nine-counts in the round, and the fourth time Referee Tom Louttit stopped the bout.

In the semi-final Keller Wagner, 186, Salem, was outclassed by Ernie Nordman, 192, Goodland, Kas. Wagner showed aggressiveness in the first round but ran into a knockout punch in the second heat.

Other results: Don McClean, 118, Portland, six-round draw with George Freitas, 117, Oakland, Calif.; Bob Ross, 181, Amarillo, Tex., six-round decision over Zeb Smith, 176, Portland; Orv Teeter, 143, Chattanooga, Tenn., first-round knockout over Tommy Gray, 145, Portland.

Whirlaway Will Be Racing All Next Year—Trainer Ben Jones announced at Miami, Fla., that Whirlaway, now at Hialeah Park, winner of more money than any horse in racing history, will be running all next year. Whirly's only reaction to the news was to reach up for a nip of palm leaf. Here Jones seems to be explaining the announcement to the famed race horse. (Associated Press photo.)

Mr. Jackson and Pancho, the regular mascots, will miss the classic as will the corps of cadets and everybody else living more than ten miles away from Annapolis.

Farmer Bausams' lucky mule resides only two miles from the stadium in which the game will be played.

Central Howell—Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Way received a letter from their son, C. Robert Way, stating that he is now stationed in New Guinea. Also, Bob says that it is about as hot as it can get, although the sea breezes help some. He apparently is in good health. He also mentions a Salem high school friend, Vernon Vaughan, as still being with him, the only one of his old friends to be transferred with his group from Australia. He mentions Larry Allport, but says he hasn't seen him since January, although they just missed each other by two hours at one stop. Vernon, Bob and Larry sailed together from San Francisco last November.

Pep Succeeds Chalky Wright

By Sid Feder
New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—No one did a hand-stand in Madison Square Garden's ring, but Willie Pep succeeded Chalky Wright on the world featherweight throne today strictly "on his head."

It was simply by fighting Wright the only way the aging Los Angeles negro can be beaten—by using his head all the way—that the Pep kid is the new boss of the 127-pounders today.

Willie is a 20-year-old ex-boxer of Hartford, who admits he hasn't been around long enough to have read the entire book about the beak-busting business. So Willie calls his manager, Lou Viscusi "Mr. Brains" at all times, and it was only by the battle plan Lou drew up that the Hartford jumping-jack brought the bauble back to Connecticut. About the only weapon he used, with the exception of a dozen or so right hands that he let go (probably by accident) through the entire 15 rounds, was a half-punch, half-push left jab that bounced off Chalky's face as if it owned it.

He "stuck" with his jab from start to finish, and he moved so much and so often that some folks thought he had borrowed the bicycle on which Bob Pastor pedaled to escape Joe Louis for 10 rounds a few years back.

Mudcats Defeat Piledrivers, 6-0

Captain Harold Marcum scored a touchdown in the first period to give his Mudcat intramural football eleven a six to nothing win over the Piledrivers Friday afternoon on Olinger field. The defeat eliminated the Drivers from championship consideration in the "B" loop.

The defeated eleven manufactured a drive on their own account late in the contest, but time expired as they reached the Mudcat two. Punting on both sides was of the unusual order during the contest.

Big Time Track Meets Depend on Runners

By Jack Cuddy
New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—The National Amateur Athletic union will continue to stage big-time track meets as long as sufficient talent is available, Executive Secretary Dan Ferris disclosed today. Ferris explained, "These meets are important, not as mere spectacles, but as stimulants to the youngsters of the nation—particularly high school boys—to participate in competitive athletics, despite the natural distractions of the war."

Vikings Drop Eighth Tilt to Medford, 33-12

If one were to eliminate the first half the football game between Salem and Medford, played on the Peapickers' gridiron last night, the contest would have been a pretty even affair. Unfortunately for the Vikings, both halves count in the final score and as a result they dropped their eighth consecutive game of the season, 33 to 12. Medford scored three touchdowns in the first half—one in the initial period and two in the second, while holding Salem away from the goal line. This gave the winners a 20 to 0 margin at the intermission.

In the second half each side scored two touchdowns, with Medford making one conversion to none for the Vikings. Ransom and Garland carried the ball on the plunges that gave Salem their touchdowns—one in the third and another in the fourth periods.

Medford tallied early in the first period and had the situation well under control through the balance of the first half. After the winners had annexed their fourth score of the evening in the third quarter, the Vikings rallied for their first real offensive sprint. They took over on the Medford 38 from which point off-tackle and center smashes over the Peapickers back to their two-yard stripe where Ransom scored on a cut-back play.

Gordy McMorris' pass interception on the Medford 22 started the Viks on their second touchdown push. With a minute remaining in the ball game Owen Garland crashed over from the three-yard stripe.

Medford collected 13 first downs to 10 for Salem.

Pheasant Pens To Be Dismanteled

Lebanon—Decision to tear down the holding pens sponsored by the Santiam Fish and Game association on south Second street in Lebanon was made at a meeting of the organization this week. The reason is that the state game commission intends to put the China pheasants on bird reservation instead of keeping them in holding pens.

Report at the meeting, held at the Lebanon hotel, revealed that only three and a half per cent of the birds in the local pens were lost this year.

Report from the Clear Lake committee revealed there were over 4,000 fish caught at the lake this summer. Financially the association reported very satisfactory returns from the concessions at the lake. Receipts were about equal to that of the year before.

The next meeting, Dec. 9, will be held in Albany, with the annual banquet and election of officers scheduled at that time.

Farris Named Linn Bond Sale Chief

Farris, sales manager of the Mountain States Power company, has been notified by Ray Conway, assistant state war bond sales director, that he has been named chairman of the Linn county war bond committee to succeed Charles Childs, who resigned the post because of his being engaged in war work in Salem.

Farris stated he will announce his committee personnel soon and that he hopes to put Linn county employees over the top in the 10 per cent payroll deductions in the purchase of war bonds. Linn county has been behind in this respect and Farris is anxious to bring this community into line.
