The Salem park board has completed the planting of a number of boxwood shrubs in Wilson park. The boxwood replaces the hydrangea which had apparently outgrown its usefulness since it had failed to bloom in recent years. The new plantings are around the azaleas and rhododendron beds located between the Breyman fountain on Cottage street and the Walt Memorial fountain. William Brown, pioneer resident of Salem, at his death left a sum of money for park improvement purposes. A portion of this fund was used to plant the boxwood.

New Courthouse

ute providing for erection of new courthouse buildings. He said that the statute offers safeguards to the taxpayer that before the county court can levy funds, it must enter an order in the journal, then call a public hearing and that the call must be at least 70 days before making the levy and the hearing at least 60 days before. Between the call and the hearing there must be publication of intention of what the court is to do, that the publication must set up the proposed site for the building. It must set up the approximate cost and method of raising the money, as well as the date of the hearing.

At the hearing it is possible for remonstrators to appear with petitions which if sufficiently signed may throw the latter over into an election. Tomlinson said that the county cannot go into debt for courthouse purpose in excess of $5000 without a vote of the people.

Judge Murphy said that the court did not set any definite date for start of courthouse construction in the resolution as it has no idea of the definite date as to conclusion of the war and it assumes this will be a post-war project. The money from the levies will accumulate, it was pointed out, so that at any time if the people wish to accelerate the building by a bond issue or otherwise there will be that much less money to secure at the time of such occurrence. Murphy said that to get within the 6 percent limitation will require some close scraping and managing but it was pointed out, however, that 1944 will be the year for closest scraping. The county will have a $721,000 base under the 6 percent limitation amendment and taking the full 6 percent will allow $764,000 in 1945 and it may go on progressively greater so after 1944 it was thought there would be no difficulty in meeting the $75,000 levy every year and still have plenty of funds to operate the regular governmental agencies.

Ray Glatt, budget committee member, said he had sounded a number of people on the courthouse question and the sentiment among those he had talked to was they wished as quickly a way as possible to secure a new building. Also it is expected a group will meet with the county court some time next week to discuss plans for an earlier construction of the building. It was pointed out that the resolution as enacted would fit into any plan for an earlier erection of the building, and that it was sufficiently elastic to meet every eventuality, as expressed by Committee Member Leo Childs.

Flagg Reports On Utilities

Railroads operating in Oregon had net operating revenues of $27,695,420 in 1942, compared with $11,037,970 in 1941, Public Utilities Commissioner George H. Flagg announced today.

Total revenues in 1942 were $82,743,284, a gain of $32,149,462 over the previous year. Freight revenues amounted to $66,993,821, a 57 percent gain, while passenger revenues were $9,208,769, up 126 percent.

The companies paid $2,514,615 taxes to the state, or $162,486 less than in 1941.

The roads hauled 45,306,002 tons of Oregon freight in 1942, a gain of 11,264,397 tons over 1941. There were 2,766,045 passengers carried in the year, compared with 1,524,667 in 1941.

A total of 308 grade crossing accidents were reported in 1942, while there were 337 in 1941. Eighteen persons were killed in crossing accidents each year, while the number injured dropped from 94 to 70.

Bank Robber Gets $8070

Spokane, Jan. 21 (AP)—A bold hold-up man who came back to the scene of a previous successful haul walked into the Sprague avenue branch of the old National Bank yesterday and made off with cash figured at $8,070 by Manager Frank M. Graff.

Graff prevented the bandit from forcing him to open the bank safe by racing to a back room and locking himself in after recognizing the visitor as the same one who robbed the bank last August 6.

The bank manager said he saw the man coming in the door and raced for the back room two jumps ahead of him. The bandit tried the door and, finding it locked, turned back to a teller and forced him at pistol point to scoop money into his sack.

Pendleton to Stage Round-up

Portland, Jan. 21 (AP)—The famed Pendleton Round-up will be revived this fall, Mayor Sprague M. Carter of the eastern Oregon city announced today in colorful launching ceremonies of the tanker S. S. Pendleton.

The show, for years the west's top rodeo, will be held September 14-16, Carter said. The Round-up was cancelled the last two years because of the war, interrupting a string of 32 consecutive performances.

The old west virtually took over the Swan Island shipyard for the launching. Wigwags were pitched near the shipways by Indians from Umatilla reservation.

On the launching platform three Indians staged a war dance. War chants to the accompaniment of tom-toms came from Willie Wocatie, Anthony Red Hawk, Luke Cowapoo and Harry Dick, leaders of the Cayuse and Walla Walla tribes.

Others from Pendleton and 26 from the Chemawa Indian school added color in authentic tribal costumes. Melissa Parr, who once won the Indian beauty contest at the Round-up, christened the ship, attended by Thelma Parr and Ramona Minthorn, two others from her tribe. Young Vernita McKay was flower girl.
