Allies to Hold Oil Conference

Washington, July 13 (AP)—A fullness British-American conference is to be held at Washington soon on future world oil policy.

The fate of the Saudi Arabian pipeline advocated some months ago by Interior Secretary Harold I. Ickes may be decided by the delegations, headed by Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Lord Beaverbrook.

The line, to pipe oil products from the Persian Gulf area to the Mediterranean, is no longer being pressed as a government undertaking, although it may be promoted as a private enterprise with government financial assistance.

The joint British-American announcement last night of the conference did not specify dates. It will follow up recent technical discussions by experts of the two countries.

FDR to Ask For Wallace

Washington, July 13 (AP)—A well-informed congressional source asserted today that President Roosevelt may announce very soon—possibly today or tomorrow—that he would again like Henry A. Wallace of Iowa to be his vice presidential running mate.

Mr. Roosevelt, it was understood, will emphasize that he has no wish to dictate a vice presidential choice to next week's democratic national convention, but will add that if he were a delegate, his vote would go to his 55-year-old third term partner.

This source, one of the president's most loyal congressional supporters, asserted that the chief executive had drafted such a statement and that it could be expected in the near future, perhaps today or at his news conference tomorrow.

It was at his news conference Tuesday that Mr. Roosevelt declared his availability for a fourth term nomination. He said nothing regarding his preference for a vice presidential running mate, but it would surprise no one here for him to endorse Wallace.

Wallace has conferred with Mr. Roosevelt twice since he returned from his Asiatic trip and there were some reports that he had been summoned to a third White House conference.

Radio Tokyo Fast Deteriorating

San Francisco, July 13 (AP)—Radio Tokyo, which in its time has "sunk" the greater part of the American fleet, steadily is becoming weaker in its transmissions, operators at United Press' listening post here agreed today.

The transmitters are showing "many signs of steady deterioration from many mechanical and technical standpoints," technicians said. "The situation since the first of the year has grown very bad. Transmitters go off the air all the time, the quality and modulation are poor to worse and there are lots of other flaws possibly due to lack of maintenance, parts, tubes and proper technicians," it was reported.

Trapped Japs Attack Allies

Advanced Allied Headquarters, New Guinea, July 13 (AP)—Ending two months of smoldering quiet, Japan's trapped, bypassed 18th army has suddenly and viciously attacked Americans entrenched near Aitape, British New Guinea.

Headquarters announced today that the Japanese, faced with starvation or eventual erasure between advancing Australian and American troops, had massed a heavy force, apparently in the hope of blasting an escape route for 45,000 men westward through Aitape into Dutch New Guinea.

"Opening skirmishes with our outguard and reconnaissance groups now are taking place," the communique reported.

The Japanese, after massing for several days, attacked Monday night along the Driniumor river 21 miles east of American-occupied Aitape.

The Americans, veterans of the New Guinea campaigns at Buna and Sidor, dug in and held.

The Japanese renewed their assaults Tuesday. Results of that action have not been disclosed. Allied planes raked the 130 miles of enemy-held coast east to the Australian-held Sepik river.

A headquarters spokesman, asked why the Japs were trying to break out of the trap, said: "they lose if they sit because they'll starve to death."

169 Naval Craft Lost in War

Washington, July 13 (AP)—Loss of seven U. S. naval vessels in the European invasion, announced in London today, brought to 169 the number of American naval craft lost since the war started.

The invasion losses involved three destroyers, a destroyer escort, a minesweeper, transport and fleet tug.

The navy listed these ships and their commanding officers as follows: Destroyer Corry, commanding officer Lt. Commander George Dewey Hoffman, Chesapeake, Wash. He is a survivor of the action. Destroyer Glenwood, commanding officer Commander Clifford A. Johnson, Baltimore, Md. He survived.

Destroyer Meredith, commanding officer Commander George Knepper, Boston. Knepper survived. Destroyer escort Rich, commanding officer Lt. Commander Edward Andrew Michel, Jr., Jamestown, N.Y., who was wounded.

Miner Partridge, commanding officer Lt. James C. W. White, who was wounded. He is the son of Mrs. Helen White, 4033 48th St., San Diego, Calif. Transport Susan B. Anthony, commanding officer Commander Thomas L. Gray, Treasure, N.J., who survived.

Minesweeper Tide, commanding officer Lt. Commander Alford Barnwell Hayes, Charleston, S.C., killed in action. His mother is Mrs. I. K. Hayward, 19 Broad street, Charleston, S.C.

The destroyer Corry was one of the best known destroyers in Atlantic service. Only recently her gunfire and depth charges destroyed a German U-boat. Her skipper, Lt. Commander Hoffman, received a legion of merit award for the U-boat action. In addition, she participated in convoy service and was assigned to the British home fleet during the north African invasion.

Bar on Cables To War Fronts

Washington, July 13 (AP)—The war department announced today it will cease transmitting messages to theater commanders requesting soldiers overseas be returned to the United States because of family illness or other emergency.

Requests for special information on the physical condition of individuals likewise will not be transmitted.

The ban is necessary because of a strain on communications, the war department said.

Pending and future requests for emergency furloughs will be referred to local Red Cross chapters which will investigate and submit recommendations to the theater commanders. This procedure does not imply a more liberal policy regarding emergency leaves, it was said.

The war department routinely reports serious illness and subsequent changes in the physical condition of soldiers to the next of kin. In the absence of such reports it must be assumed the individual's condition has not changed materially, it was pointed out.

Chinese Drive On Tengchung

Chungking, July 13 (AP)—Chinese troops massed for an all-out assault today on the Japanese stronghold of Tengchung after American Mitchell medium bombers blasted a hole in the city's ancient wall.

A communique said the Chinese already had occupied the last strongpoints outside of Tengchung, west of the Salween river, and were preparing for a thrust into the city through the breach in the wall.

The 14th airforce bombers, together with fighter planes, were giving steady support to the Chinese forces in Yunnan province, and also carried out new attacks on Lungtung, the twin base of Tengchung, and a junction point on the Burma road.

Other Chinese troops were driving toward the outskirts of Lungtung and nearby Manghsin in the Salween offensive aimed at effecting a junction with Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's forces driving eastward through northern Burma.

The air attacks on Tengchung and Lungtung were part of widespread raids in which American warplanes hit Japanese defenses from Hankow to Canton and destroyed at least 129 river boats through the area.

FDR to Confer With Churchill

Washington, July 13 (AP)—A meeting between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill may come about before long, the way cleared in part by Mr. Roosevelt's dramatic revision of French policy to permit practical cooperation with General Charles De Gaulle.

The problem of Anglo-American relations with De Gaulle's national committee of liberation has been one of the most difficult ever to trouble the course of affairs which have to be handled jointly by Washington and London.

The president and the prime minister have at various times been fairly close together in their desire not to recognize the committee as a provisional government, but Mr. Churchill's position has been complicated first by the fact that his own foreign office has long favored recognition and second by indications that this attitude in recent months has become increasingly widespread throughout the British government.

Had this recognition issue remained in a highly unsettled condition with allied armies in France, it would undoubtedly have colored all the discussions of Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill in their expected talks.

No time for these talks has been indicated. The president, however, has hinted at two news conferences that he expects to see the prime minister this summer or fall and that he would probably make the trip to Britain this time instead of having Mr. Churchill come over.

Mis-trial Ruled In Casey Case

As a jury was being selected Thursday morning in Judge E. M. Page's court for trial of the case of state vs. Orval Casey on a charge of grand larceny for the alleged taking of certain household effects from the cabin of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Bayly on the little north fork of the Santiam, state policemen came marching into the courtroom carrying a washtub loaded high with the evidence.

Included were blankets and other effects which it was alleged had been taken from the house. Attorneys for Casey immediately moved the court for a mistrial because of the effect of this action might have on the jury and the motion was granted. It was indicated that the district attorney's office would ask that the case be retried at a later date.

The jury was excused but the court announced that it would go ahead Thursday afternoon and start the trial of Harry Wampole Casebeer. Casebeer was indicted along with Orval Casey and Alva Casey for larceny in the cabin of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Adams also on the little north fork of the Santiam.

Casebeer also was charged in a separate indictment with receiving and concealing stolen property, but the trial scheduled for Thursday afternoon will be based on the joint indictment charging larceny. All three of the men were jointly indicted, but demanded separate trials.

When the evidence was brought into the courtroom Thursday morning in the Orval Casey case as the jurors were being examined, two jurors had already been passed for cause, but as yet had not been sworn in, although accepted.

The evidence in question had been stacked in the lobby outside the courtroom before the trial started. In addition to blankets and other effects, there was a large mounted deer head which attracted considerable attention. But this had not been brought into the courtroom when the motion for a mistrial was made.

There were indications during the noon hour Thursday that some effort might be made to make disposition of the three cases before the judge, but no decision in that connection had been announced.

Rotary Told Of Chicago Trip

Highlights of his trip to Chicago where he attended the national meeting of motor vehicle administrators were given the Rotary club Wednesday noon by Harold Phillippi, chief of the accounting division of the secretary of state's office, a member of the club.

In addition to the meeting he was one of a group of 23 permitted to visit the Chrysler-Dodge corporation war plant, turning out engines for the B-29s. These develop 2200 horse power each and the motor blocks are stamped out by hammers exerting 52 tons pressure to the square inch, mounted on 12x12 timbers crisscrossed to a depth of 30 feet. The assembly plant covers 82 acres under one roof.

While in Chicago Phillippi also attended a meeting of Chicago Rotary club No. 1 and the national republican convention. Best reminders of the trip was the heat, the temperature being 88 degrees on the streets at night, cooling to 74 degrees at 6 o'clock in the morning.

W. M. Hamilton was presented a past president's pin by Charles A. Sprague, himself, a past president of the club.

World War I Losses Exceeded

Washington, July 13 (AP)—Announced American battle casualties in the present war are approaching the total casualties incurred in the first World War. Unreported results in the last three weeks of heavy fighting in France possibly have brought the total past the 1917-18 mark.

A total of 187,028 army casualties announced today by Acting War Secretary Patterson brought to 235,411 the overall total of officially announced casualties on the ground, in the air and at sea. The first World War's overall total was 278,828.

Today's announcement, however, contained "very few" casualties from the Normandy front and none of the heavy navy losses on Saipan. Inclusion of 24,162 previously reported casualties in France, up to June 20, and the announced 15,053 casualties on Saipan bring this war's total to 274,626.

The overall army-navy total was an increase of 8,415 over a previous report covering the period through June 13. Army dead increased 1,218; the navy 260.

The army casualties announced today include 33,240 killed; 77,490 wounded; 38,142 missing and 38,197 prisoners.

The navy list is composed of 20,362 killed; 14,127 wounded; 9,433 missing and 4,461 prisoners.

In Italy, army casualties since the landing last September amount to 70,399 through July 3, an increase of 5,407 since the report covering the period through June 15. Of the total, 12,655 were killed, 47,457 wounded and 10,287 missing.
