

Locals

Victor Koehne was arrested at Woodburn by Sheriff Burk Thursday afternoon on request of Clackamas county authorities who will return him there to face a charge of grand larceny. Koehne, who is a shipyard worker, told Sheriff Burk that the charge evidently was founded on an incident he said occurred at Hilltop house, a Clackamas county eating place, where he and some of his fellow workers stopped to cash some checks. He told the sheriff he made the mistake of not only picking up the cash he got on his check, but also picked up the check with it.

Saturday Rummage sale. Rear of 606 S. High St. 173

There were two fatalities among the 1210 industrial accidents reported during the week ended yesterday, the state industrial accident commission announced today. Those fatally injured were: Thomas J. Malloy, Portland laborer, injured July 11; and Otis H. Buell, Hermiston laborer, injured May 13.

Wedding pictures taken at the church. Bishop's Studio. Ph. 5722. 520 State St.

Salem chapter of Future Farmers held its first summer meeting in the vocational educational rooms in the senior high school with 20 members present including all of the officers. The gathering was in the nature of a "get-acquainted" with the new advisor, William McKinney, and a farewell to Neal Craig. Closing the program was a watermelon feed. Date of the next meeting will be August 31.

Free Re-roof Estimates. Wilamette Valley Roof Co., 255 N. Commercial. Salem. Ph. 8478.

Sales of county property have been reported by H. William Thielsen, property agent, as follows: To Rollin N. and M. A. Thomas, lot 33, block 1, Tooe first addition to Woodburn for $60; to O. A. and Clara E. Olson, west 100 feet of lots 7 and 8, Fairmount park addition to Salem, for $307.50.

Eola Acres, Florist. Ph. 5720. 173

Permits to move combine over certain county roads have been granted by the county court to O. J. Volker and W. B. Hatcher.

For Home Loans see Salem Federal, 130 South Liberty.

Assumed business name certificate for Dutch Mill has been filed with the county clerk by Jessie Ochoa and Barbara Bowman and certificate of retirement from the same business by Mrs. Gertrude Redinger.

Satin covered comforts. Better Bedding Store. 173

In reporting a yield tax turnover from the 1943-44 tax roll it was erroneously stated that certain sums were allocated to Silverton city and the Woodburn-Hubbard drainage district. It should have been stated that $104.36 goes to the Elkhorn school district and $25.95 to the Oakdale school district on the Elkhorn road.

Infants all wool crib blankets. Better Bedding Store. 173

J. M. and E. B. Six Thursday submitted to the county court a plan for a proposed subdivision to be known as the Six subdivision lying on the north river road directly across the road from property adjoining the Keizer school to the east. The plan shows 21 lots, five of these facing on the Salem-Wheatland road. Frontage on that road is 455 feet and the depth of the subdivision is 1026 feet. Two lateral roads run along the sides of the subdivision the one on the west to be known as Prince road and on the east as James street. The court has temporarily delayed action because one of the roads is less than 60 feet wide but it was indicated this would probably not upset the approval of the plat as land platted adjacent in the future would have to provide sufficient right of way to bring the roadway to full width.

Insurance: Becke, Wadsworth, Hawkins & Roberts, Guardian Bldg. 173

James F. Bishop, new 4H county club leader who has come here from Coquille to succeed Amos Bierly, who is now in the navy, has taken up residence at 280 Vista avenue with his family. The family includes Mrs. Bishop and their three children, Janice, 6; Caroline, 5; and Richard three and one-half years. The new club leader graduated in agriculture at Oregon State college in 1934 and has been assistant county agent at Coquille for the past three and one-half years.

Dance Crystal Gardens every Wednesday & Saturday nights. 173

Escape of a military prisoner, Paul Ivan Deffendauch, 32, is reported to Salem police from Camp Adair. He is believed to have broken into an ammunition station at Corvallis and armed himself. His clothing was found near Corvallis and it is believed that he is now wearing a regulation army uniform, sailor clothing or civilian clothing.

Wanted: 3 men for warehouse work. Capital Ice & Cold Storage Co. 560 Trade St. Ph. 5603.

Governor Snell has notified the county court of the appointment of William J. Entress, 1885 South Commercial street, as a member of the Marion county public welfare commission to succeed Mrs. LaMoine Clark, who has resigned. Mrs. Clark served as chairman for a considerable period of time and the governor's letter stated that Walter Lamkin, local attorney and member of the commission, is being named to succeed her in the capacity of chairman. Mr. Entress has been active as a labor representative in many civic projects in various capacities.

Want stenographer and office helper. Permanent position with good salary. Brown's Jewelry.

Reward of $100 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons scratching and marring downtown Salem show windows is authorized by the Salem Retail Trade bureau. Vandalism of this kind has been almost constant for the last two weeks.

Want experienced sales clerk, permanent position with good salary. Brown's Jewelry.

Services for the Keizer Union Sunday school (undenominational) for Sunday are Sunday school at 10 o'clock with Mrs. Herman Rappe, superintendent; morning service at 11 o'clock with Rev. David Hamm, pastor; prayer meeting at 7 o'clock; young peoples' meeting at 7:30 o'clock and evening service at 8 o'clock.

Bonnie Dee Beauty Shoppe closed July 24 to 29. Remodeling. 174

A blaze in a condenser called the fire department to the McKay Chevrolet garage Thursday.

An opportunity to pay stipulated fines of from $900 to $2500 for violations of the federal wages and hours act if they will roll back wages they are paying to the 1942 levels has been offered seven Salem restaurants, Dan Hay, manager of the Oregon Employers' association.

tion, Inc., said at the annual banquet of the organization last night.

Rummage sale, 147 Union St. Friday and Saturday. 173

Six patients were treated by the first aid crew Thursday. They were George Wright, 2240 Mission, piece of steel in thumb; David Henit, 10, bruised shin; Dossa Lee Elpert, 1251 Howard, burns from tallow; Frank Opitz, 1879 North Liberty, steel in left hand; Mina Lee Johns, 8, of 1132 Rourke street, West Salem, fish hook in left thigh and Marilyn Reinwald, 8, bruised from a fall while at play.

The dental offices of Dr. J. G. Nash in the Bligh Bldg. will be closed from July 24th to August 7th. 175

Preaching services will be held at the Middle Grove school house Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, conducted by Emory J. Goode.

Burroughs Electric closed for one week starting July 24. 175

Presbyterian youth and their leaders from western Oregon to the number of 120 will take over the Silver Creek recreation area camp next Sunday for a week's stay. The older boys who are engaged in an outing there this week will return to their homes Sunday. Beginning July 30 a second Presbyterian camp will be open while the season will close August 13 at the conclusion of the district girls camp.

Call us for battery service, one hour or regular charging. Texaco Service, Stevenson & Mefford, Church & Court 173

Four coupons were taken from the gasoline ration of Jesse E. Barlow in Portland when he appeared before municipal court for violation of the OPA speed regulations.

Pioneer Trust Co., fire and automobile insurance. 174

Red Cross and West Salem community sales will be held on the site of the old Mellow Moon pavilion, the first of these to be held at 7 o'clock tonight with all receipts going to the Red Cross, according to Ernest H. Lafky. Community sale of various commodities will be held at the same location Saturday morning at 10 o'clock with a livestock sale starting at 1 o'clock. These will be held every Friday night and Saturday in the future.

A picnic supper to which all graduate nurses are invited will be held by district No. 3 of the Oregon State Nurses' association at the home of Mrs. Louise Arneson, 2135 South Cottage, Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The board of directors will hold a short meeting starting at 7 o'clock.

Bull Fatally Attacks Pleasant Hill Man

Eugene, Ore., July 20 (AP)—George E. James of Pleasant Hill died at a local hospital late last night of injuries suffered Wednesday when he was butted by a bull on a neighbor's farm in that district.

Mrs. James, worried by her husband's long absence from their farmhouse, went into the fields to look for him and found him on the ground in a neighbor's bull pen. He had been butted so severely that he had been unable to call for help, but had not been gored.

A blaze in a condenser called the fire department to the McKay Chevrolet garage Thursday.

An opportunity to pay stipulated fines of from $900 to $2500 for violations of the federal wages and hours act if they will roll back wages they are paying to the 1942 levels has been offered seven Salem restaurants, Dan Hay, manager of the Oregon Employers' association.

Application for place on the trial docket has been filed in the case of Chris Madison vs. Edgar Posselt.

Circuit Judge Pace after holding a parole hearing on behalf of Verli C. Taylor, Wednesday afternoon imposed a sentence of five years in the state penitentiary and denied the parole application. Taylor had entered a plea of guilty to a charge with a dangerous weapon on M. O. White on May 16. White was wounded in an arm by a gunshot.

Transcript from justice court has been filed in the case of Valley Credit Service vs. Bernon Richards.

Sheriff's certificate of sale under foreclosure, issued in 1939 in the case of Salem vs. W. McGarvie and Max Munde McGarvie, has been filed showing the property taken over by the city for $158.64 in that year, and an assignment of the certificate to the McGarvies in 1940, have been filed. Property in question is lot 14, block 14, Riverview addition to Salem.

Order in the case of Clarence vs. L. M. Adams, relieving plaintiff from making payments required under a decree, the child for whom the support payments were provided having been adopted by his maternal grandparents.

Return on attachment in the case of Moore Collection Bureau vs. Roy Frances shows nothing taken.

Judge Duncan Friday was hearing testimony in connection with motions in the case of Martine J. vs. Milton H. Mroczek. One was on plaintiff's motion to defend. Another was on show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt for alleged failure to comply with terms of a

Scout Troop After Record

Boy Scout troop No. 3, sponsored by the Hollywood Lions club will try to establish a new record in the matter of collecting waste paper when they take over the assignment Saturday from the local salvage committee. They are prepared to collect magazines, newspapers and cartons from residences and firms which have reported lots of 200 pounds or more to salvage headquarters.

Increased amounts of waste paper have been forthcoming from the residential section in recent weeks, although the poundage from business houses and industrial plants has not grown to any great extent. Gardner Knapp, Marion county salvage chairman, states. Full cooperation is being received from the firm engaged in constructing the aluminum plant where those in charge of the paper wrappings from all machinery and the large cartons are being saved.

Himmler

(Continued from page 1)
man-controlled broadcasts. While these sought to give the picture of a completely normal Germany, with the plot scotched, other bits of information indicated the revolt was still on.

The "Atlantic" radio, supposedly operated inside Germany, declared "revolution has burst forth in Germany" and "part of the eastern army is deserting and returning from the front."

Allied propagandists bombarded the reich with broadcasts urging the Germans to deal the death blow to the Hitler regime. A traveler reaching Sweden today declared that two German divisions revolted Wednesday in Prussia, apparently touching off the movement which culminated in the reported bomb attempt on Adolf Hitler's life.

New bits of information relayed by Berlin on the incident in which Hitler was said to have been burned and bruised by an explosion included the Berlin announcement that the one man fatally injured in Hitler's circle was a press stenographer. He previously had been identified as "collaborator Berger."

Field Marshal Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command, was among top-ranking generals conferring with the fuhrer at the time, Berlin asserted, but he escaped harm. Twelve other aides were injured, however.

London quarters said there was now convincing evidence to support recent rumors increasing dissatisfaction with Hitler's authority and that opposition to nazism apparently had been organized under responsible leadership.

The strongest indication that Gestapo Chief Himmler, despite the sweeping powers conferred upon him by Hitler, had not yet completely liquidated the outbreak was the rupture in neutral communications with Germany. This interruption was similar to the break Wednesday night which presaged yesterday's news.

In London doubt persisted that the Germans had given anywhere nearly a full account—and there was considerable doubt that even a bonafide attempt was made on Hitler's life.

A picnic supper to which all graduate nurses are invited will be held by district No. 3 of the Oregon State Nurses' association at the home of Mrs. Louise Arneson, 2135 South Cottage, Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The board of directors will hold a short meeting starting at 7 o'clock.

Application for place on the trial docket has been filed in the case of Chris Madison vs. Edgar Posselt.

Circuit Judge Pace after holding a parole hearing on behalf of Verli C. Taylor, Wednesday afternoon imposed a sentence of five years in the state penitentiary and denied the parole application. Taylor had entered a plea of guilty to a charge with a dangerous weapon on M. O. White on May 16. White was wounded in an arm by a gunshot.

Transcript from justice court has been filed in the case of Valley Credit Service vs. Bernon Richards.

Sheriff's certificate of sale under foreclosure, issued in 1939 in the case of Salem vs. W. McGarvie and Max Munde McGarvie, has been filed showing the property taken over by the city for $158.64 in that year, and an assignment of the certificate to the McGarvies in 1940, have been filed. Property in question is lot 14, block 14, Riverview addition to Salem.

Order in the case of Clarence vs. L. M. Adams, relieving plaintiff from making payments required under a decree, the child for whom the support payments were provided having been adopted by his maternal grandparents.

Return on attachment in the case of Moore Collection Bureau vs. Roy Frances shows nothing taken.

Judge Duncan Friday was hearing testimony in connection with motions in the case of Martine J. vs. Milton H. Mroczek. One was on plaintiff's motion to defend. Another was on show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt for alleged failure to comply with terms of a

Application for place on the trial docket has been filed in the case of Chris Madison vs. Edgar Posselt.

Circuit Judge Pace after holding a parole hearing on behalf of Verli C. Taylor, Wednesday afternoon imposed a sentence of five years in the state penitentiary and denied the parole application. Taylor had entered a plea of guilty to a charge with a dangerous weapon on M. O. White on May 16. White was wounded in an arm by a gunshot.

Transcript from justice court has been filed in the case of Valley Credit Service vs. Bernon Richards.

The possibility was not overlooked that the whole thing was elaborately staged to give the Himmler-Hitler team an excuse for a full-scale purge of Junkers' generals before they could really get their movement in motion.

Signs Point to Revolt
Speeches by Hitler, Reichsmarshal Goering and Admiral Karl Doenitz, commander of the German navy, berating traitorous generals were the surest signs of revolt, even if abortive, within the reich.

The question was whether it would be snowballed or crushed by the purge. There was a possibility it might grow as the militarists sought to save themselves by resisting the gestapo.

It was felt here that nazis had two choices—to try to hush up the incident or to twist the facts into propaganda and create an emotional story on the home front. The fact that the latter course was chosen suggested a revolt of such dimensions that it could not be concealed.

The soviet-sponsored free German committee in Moscow broadcast an appeal to all Germans to "overthrow Hitler and save the fatherland at this last moment," adding that "it may be assumed that the open struggle (within Germany) continues in its most acute form and that valuable key positions have already been seized from bankrupt nazi bosses."

Nazi leaders made fervent efforts to rally the home front.

With the president were Adm. William D. Leahy, chief of staff to Mr. Roosevelt; Maj. Edwin M. Watson, his military aide; Rear Adm. Wilson Brown, his naval aide; Vice Adm. Ross T. McIntire, the president's physician; and Samuel I. Rosenman, special counsel to the president and one of Mr. Roosevelt's close advisors.

Also on the train was Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, who explained to reporters he was not a member of the presidential party. He said he plans to leave the group to make a personal inspection of OWI operations.

The president's fondness for his Scotty, Fala, tipped the trip to some spectators who happened to see the black pup being exercised along railroad sidings and identified him almost instantly.

This left Wallace, going into the red-hot final session, with a total of 337½ pledged and claimed votes and Truman with 83. For a nomination, 589 are required.

Ohio, first of the big state delegations to caucus on this climatic final day, announced 21 of its 52 votes would go to the Iowan and 9 to the man from Missouri when roll-call balloting gets under way, probably in mid-afternoon.

Also on the train was Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, who explained to reporters he was not a member of the presidential party. He said he plans to leave the group to make a personal inspection of OWI operations.

The president's fondness for his Scotty, Fala, tipped the trip to some spectators who happened to see the black pup being exercised along railroad sidings and identified him almost instantly.

This left Wallace, going into the red-hot final session, with a total of 337½ pledged and claimed votes and Truman with 83. For a nomination, 589 are required.

Ohio, first of the big state delegations to caucus on this climatic final day, announced 21 of its 52 votes would go to the Iowan and 9 to the man from Missouri when roll-call balloting gets under way, probably in mid-afternoon.

Also on the train was Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, who explained to reporters he was not a member of the presidential party. He said he plans to leave the group to make a personal inspection of OWI operations.

The president's fondness for his Scotty, Fala, tipped the trip to some spectators who happened to see the black pup being exercised along railroad sidings and identified him almost instantly.

This left Wallace, going into the red-hot final session, with a total of 337½ pledged and claimed votes and Truman with 83. For a nomination, 589 are required.

Ohio, first of the big state delegations to caucus on this climatic final day, announced 21 of its 52 votes would go to the Iowan and 9 to the man from Missouri when roll-call balloting gets under way, probably in mid-afternoon.

Also on the train was Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, who explained to reporters he was not a member of the presidential party. He said he plans to leave the group to make a personal inspection of OWI operations.

The president's fondness for his Scotty, Fala, tipped the trip to some spectators who happened to see the black pup being exercised along railroad sidings and identified him almost instantly.

This left Wallace, going into the red-hot final session, with a total of 337½ pledged and claimed votes and Truman with 83. For a nomination, 589 are required.

Ohio, first of the big state delegations to caucus on this climatic final day, announced 21 of its 52 votes would go to the Iowan and 9 to the man from Missouri when roll-call balloting gets under way, probably in mid-afternoon.

Also on the train was Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, who explained to reporters he was not a member of the presidential party. He said he plans to leave the group to make a personal inspection of OWI operations.

The president's fondness for his Scotty, Fala, tipped the trip to some spectators who happened to see the black pup being exercised along railroad sidings and identified him almost instantly.

This left Wallace, going into the red-hot final session, with a total of 337½ pledged and claimed votes and Truman with 83. For a nomination, 589 are required.

Ohio, first of the big state delegations to caucus on this climatic final day, announced 21 of its 52 votes would go to the Iowan and 9 to the man from Missouri when roll-call balloting gets under way, probably in mid-afternoon.

Also on the train was Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, who explained to reporters he was not a member of the presidential party. He said he plans to leave the group to make a personal inspection of OWI operations.

The president's fondness for his Scotty, Fala, tipped the trip to some spectators who happened to see the black pup being exercised along railroad sidings and identified him almost instantly.

This left Wallace, going into the red-hot final session, with a total of 337½ pledged and claimed votes and Truman with 83. For a nomination, 589 are required.

Ohio, first of the big state delegations to caucus on this climatic final day, announced 21 of its 52 votes would go to the Iowan and 9 to the man from Missouri when roll-call balloting gets under way, probably in mid-afternoon.

Also on the train was Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, who explained to reporters he was not a member of the presidential party. He said he plans to leave the group to make a personal inspection of OWI operations.

The president's fondness for his Scotty, Fala, tipped the trip to some spectators who happened to see the black pup being exercised along railroad sidings and identified him almost instantly.

This left Wallace, going into the red-hot final session, with a total of 337½ pledged and claimed votes and Truman with 83. For a nomination, 589 are required.

Ohio, first of the big state delegations to caucus on this climatic final day, announced 21 of its 52 votes would go to the Iowan and 9 to the man from Missouri when roll-call balloting gets under way, probably in mid-afternoon.

Also on the train was Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, who explained to reporters he was not a member of the presidential party. He said he plans to leave the group to make a personal inspection of OWI operations.

The president's fondness for his Scotty, Fala, tipped the trip to some spectators who happened to see the black pup being exercised along railroad sidings and identified him almost instantly.

This left Wallace, going into the red-hot final session, with a total of 337½ pledged and claimed votes and Truman with 83. For a nomination, 589 are required.

Ohio, first of the big state delegations to caucus on this climatic final day, announced 21 of its 52 votes would go to the Iowan and 9 to the man from Missouri when roll-call balloting gets under way, probably in mid-afternoon.

Also on the train was Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, who explained to reporters he was not a member of the presidential party. He said he plans to leave the group to make a personal inspection of OWI operations.

The president's fondness for his Scotty, Fala, tipped the trip to some spectators who happened to see the black pup being exercised along railroad sidings and identified him almost instantly.

This left Wallace, going into the red-hot final session, with a total of 337½ pledged and claimed votes and Truman with 83. For a nomination, 589 are required.

Ohio, first of the big state delegations to caucus on this climatic final day, announced 21 of its 52 votes would go to the Iowan and 9 to the man from Missouri when roll-call balloting gets under way, probably in mid-afternoon.

Trip by FDR Kept Secret

By Howard Fieger
A Pacific Coast Naval Base, July 20 (Thursday) (AP)—President Roosevelt tonight accepted nomination for a fourth term from a special train deep inside this mighty naval base. Mr. Roosevelt, accompanied by his top military aides, reached this base Wednesday night after a six-day transcontinental trip which was locked in the secrecy of military security.

Only a few hundred people saw the presidential train as it moved through 16 states—a sharp contrast to the multitudes which jammed the route of presidents in peace time. Few of those who happened to see the train managed to guess the identity of its No. 1 passenger. He never let himself be seen.

The party left Washington the night of July 13, accompanied by reporters for the Associated Press, the United Press and the International News Service. It spent the next day at the Roosevelt home in Hyde Park, where Mrs. Roosevelt joined the group, then made an overnight journey to Chicago. From there on the route cannot be told because of wartime security regulations restricting discussion of presidential travel.

With the president were Adm. William D. Leahy, chief of staff to Mr. Roosevelt; Maj. Edwin M. Watson, his military aide; Rear Adm. Wilson Brown, his naval aide; Vice Adm. Ross T. McIntire, the president's physician; and Samuel I. Rosenman, special counsel to the president and one of Mr. Roosevelt's close advisors.

Also on the train was Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, who explained to reporters he was not a member of the presidential party. He said he plans to leave the group to make a personal inspection of OWI operations.

The president's fondness for his Scotty, Fala, tipped the trip to some spectators who happened to see the black pup being exercised along railroad sidings and identified him almost instantly.

This left Wallace, going into the red-hot final session, with a total of 337½ pledged and claimed votes and Truman with 83. For a nomination, 589 are required.

Ohio, first of the big state delegations to caucus on this climatic final day, announced 21 of its 52 votes would go to the Iowan and 9 to the man from Missouri when roll-call balloting gets under way, probably in mid-afternoon.

Also on the train was Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, who explained to reporters he was not a member of the presidential party. He said he plans to leave the group to make a personal inspection of OWI operations.

The president's fondness for his Scotty, Fala, tipped the trip to some spectators who happened to see the black pup being exercised along railroad sidings and identified him almost instantly.

This left Wallace, going into the red-hot final session, with a total of 337½ pledged and claimed votes and Truman with 83. For a nomination, 589 are required.

Ohio, first of the big state delegations to caucus on this climatic final day, announced 21 of its 52 votes would go to the Iowan and 9 to the man from Missouri when roll-call balloting gets under way, probably in mid-afternoon.

Also on the train was Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, who explained to reporters he was not a member of the presidential party. He said he plans to leave the group to make a personal inspection of OWI operations.

The president's fondness for his Scotty, Fala, tipped the trip to some spectators who happened to see the black pup being exercised along railroad sidings and identified him almost instantly.

This left Wallace, going into the red-hot final session, with a total of 337½ pledged and claimed votes and Truman with 83. For a nomination, 589 are required.

Ohio, first of the big state delegations to caucus on this climatic final day, announced 21 of its 52 votes would go to the Iowan and 9 to the man from Missouri when roll-call balloting gets under way, probably in mid-afternoon.

Also on the train was Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, who explained to reporters he was not a member of the presidential party. He said he plans to leave the group to make a personal inspection of OWI operations.

The president's fondness for his Scotty, Fala, tipped the trip to some spectators who happened to see the black pup being exercised along railroad sidings and identified him almost instantly.

This left Wallace, going into the red-hot final session, with a total of 337½ pledged and claimed votes and Truman with 83. For a nomination, 589 are required.

Ohio, first of the big state delegations to caucus on this climatic final day, announced 21 of its 52 votes would go to the Iowan and 9 to the man from Missouri when roll-call balloting gets under way, probably in mid-afternoon.

Also on the train was Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, who explained to reporters he was not a member of the presidential party. He said he plans to leave the group to make a personal inspection of OWI operations.

The president's fondness for his Scotty, Fala, tipped the trip to some spectators who happened to see the black pup being exercised along railroad sidings and identified him almost instantly.

This left Wallace, going into the red-hot final session, with a total of 337½ pledged and claimed votes and Truman with 83. For a nomination, 589 are required.

Ohio, first of the big state delegations to caucus on this climatic final day, announced 21 of its 52 votes would go to the Iowan and 9 to the man from Missouri when roll-call balloting gets under way, probably in mid-afternoon.

Also on the train was Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, who explained to reporters he was not a member of the presidential party. He said he plans to leave the group to make a personal inspection of OWI operations.

The president's fondness for his Scotty, Fala, tipped the trip to some spectators who happened to see the black pup being exercised along railroad sidings and identified him almost instantly.

This left Wallace, going into the red-hot final session, with a total of 337½ pledged and claimed votes and Truman with 83. For a nomination, 589 are required.

Ohio, first of the big state delegations to caucus on this climatic final day, announced 21 of its 52 votes would go to the Iowan and 9 to the man from Missouri when roll-call balloting gets under way, probably in mid-afternoon.

Also on the train was Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, who explained to reporters he was not a member of the presidential party. He said he plans to leave the group to make a personal inspection of OWI operations.

The president's fondness for his Scotty, Fala, tipped the trip to some spectators who happened to see the black pup being exercised along railroad sidings and identified him almost instantly.

This left Wallace, going into the red-hot final session, with a total of 337½ pledged and claimed votes and Truman with 83. For a nomination, 589 are required.

Ohio, first of the big state delegations to caucus on this climatic final day, announced 21 of its 52 votes would go to the Iowan and 9 to the man from Missouri when roll-call balloting gets under way, probably in mid-afternoon.

Also on the train was Elmer Davis, director of the office of war information, who explained to reporters he was not a member of the presidential party. He said he plans to leave the group to make a personal inspection of OWI operations.

The president's fondness for his Scotty, Fala, tipped the trip to some spectators who happened to see the black pup being exercised along railroad sidings and identified him almost instantly.

This left Wallace, going into the red-hot final session, with a total of 337½ pledged and claimed votes and Truman with 83. For a nomination, 589 are required.

Ohio, first of the big state delegations to caucus on this climatic final day