

FOUR DAUGHTERS of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver R. Stockman are Miss Jane and Miss Ann, standing, and Miss Virginia and Miss Harriet, all popular members of the younger set. Miss Jane is a junior at Willamette university and holds the Rotary club scholarship. Her sorority is Pi Beta Phi. Miss Ann is a sophomore at Leland Stanford and winner of the Robt Hall scholarship. Miss Virginia is a sophomore at Salem high school and Miss Harriet is a junior and active in Tri-Y. (Jesten-Miller.)

A MUCH-feted bride-elect of the Autumn season is pretty Miss Dorothy Mott, second daughter of Congressman and Mrs. James W. Mott, whose marriage to Midshipman Benjamin Murry Wisenand, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin E. Wisenand of Bend, will be an event of Sunday afternoon, October 29, at the Mott country place near Zena. Rev. George H. Swift, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, will read the rites at 2 o'clock before a distinguished assemblage of friends and the two families.

Mrs. David Eason will play the wedding music and Miss Nancy Kirkpatrick of Lebanon will sing before the ceremony.

Congressman Mott will give his daughter in marriage and her matron of honor will be her sister, Mrs. John L. Sullivan. Miss Edith Moxley of Salem will be the maid of honor.

A reception will follow. Several informal affairs are being planned for Miss Mott in the days preceding her marriage. After the wedding rehearsal her parents will entertain informally for the wedding party.

A beautiful affair of this afternoon arranged for Miss Mott's pleasure was the luncheon arranged by Miss Edith Moxley at the Mission street home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moxley.

Miniature nosegays marked places for the guests and a miniature bride's bouquet was at the place of the honored guest. A linen shower was given for Miss Mott following the luncheon hour.

Miss Harriet Hawkins is arranging a breakfast for tomorrow morning at the Fairmount hill home of her mother, Mrs. Taylor Hawkins, honoring Miss Mott.

Autumn flowers will center the attractive breakfast table. Later a kitchen shower will be arranged in compliment to Miss Mott.

Bidden to honor the popular bride-elect are Mrs. James W. Mott, Mrs. John L. Sullivan, Miss Edith Moxley, Miss Miriam Becke, Miss Roberta Jean Yocom, Miss Florence Duffy, Miss Doris Duffy, Miss Patricia Lamb, Miss Janice Nelson, Miss Sybil Spears, Miss Mary Elizabeth Sisson, Miss Marianne Low, Mrs. William Hugh McElhinny, Miss Helen Zielinski, all of Salem, Miss Nancy Kirkpatrick of Lebanon, Miss Joann Holsted, Miss Ruth Chappell, both of Portland, Mrs. Taylor Hawkins and the hostess, Miss Harriet Hawkins.

An informal social hour will follow the interesting program with Mrs. Don Smith and Mrs. Mabel Maguire in charge of arrangements. All navy mothers are urged to be in attendance.

THE MISSES DOROTHY AND PATRICIA VANDENEYND, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Vandenevnde, are a delightful "sister-act" included in many charitable and social events in the capital. Both girls are members of Spinners and attended the University of Oregon, where they were members of Pi Beta Phi. Miss Patricia spends many hours working as a nurses' aide at Salem General hospital. (Jesten-Miller.)

AUTUMN days are busy for the debutante and sub-deb sets in Oregon's capital as they swing into the many activities demanded of them, both of a philanthropic and social nature. Many sisters, as pictured today, take important roles in the younger set's projects.

The Spinners have just completed sending off a tremendous collection of clothing for the relief of Europe's war victims and many members are assisting as Nurses' Aides in Salem hospitals.

The Junior Nurses' Aides call to duty the sub-debs, who are also busy with the activities of the Girl Reserves and other school projects.

Good deeds are augmented by gay school parties and lectures on the campus and all in all, the date books of these young misses are filled to capacity. Youth has its whirl of work and fun and the result is a group of charming and intelligent young maids who contribute much to the life of the city.
