Alaska Bishop Passes at 87

Juneau, Alaska, May 21 (AP)—The Most Reverend Joseph Raphael Crimont, 87, Roman Catholic bishop of Alaska, one of the oldest members of Catholic hierarchy in America, died at Saint Anns hospital here yesterday.

The colorful apostolic vicar, who served 51 years in the territory, is succeeded automatically by the Most Rev. Walter James Fitzgerald, bishop coadjutor and military vicar of Alaska.

Bishop Crimont was born near Lille, France. He came to America as a young man and entered Jesuit seminary at Woodstock, Md. Ordained a priest in 1886, his first mission was to a Crow Indian reservation in Montana. In 1893 he was selected to go to Alaska where he suffered an attack of rheumatism and returned to serve as president of Gonzaga university in Spokane. Resigning the presidency in 1904, he was appointed precept apostolic in Alaska. After serving as vicar apostolic and titular bishop, he was consecrated bishop of Alaska in 1917.

"The ice has preserved you well," was the tribute of Pope Pius XI to the bishop's activity and health, when Bishop Crimont visited Rome in 1938.

Wearer of Medal Home on Rotation

Fort Lewis, May 21 (AP)—Sgt. Clarence H. McNeely of St. Helens, Ore., holder of the Silver Star and Purple Heart, went home on the rotation plan yesterday after 15 months overseas with the fifth armored division. After processing at the reception center, McNeely left for a 45-day furlough, after which he will be reassigned for further duty.
