West Salem Park Development Brought Before City Council

West Salem, Aug. 7.—Plans for the development of a strip of waterfront between the railroad bridge and McNary avenue as a memorial park were presented to the city council last evening in a letter written by Paul Wallace, who, with Joseph P. Albers and the River Bend Sand and Gravel company offer to donate a portion of the proposed park area providing the city will acquire by either condemnation or purchase that section of property lying between the two gift areas. Mayor Newgent asked the special industrial and zoning committees to study the possibility of meeting the terms of the offer and prepare their recommendation for presentation to the council.
