

Johnson Home is Scene Of Wedding on Saturday

By Rovena Eyre

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson in Center street was the scene of a pretty wedding ceremony Saturday night when their niece, Edith Young of Portland, became the bride of Afton Brown, also of Portland. Rev. David Ringland officiated in the presence of relatives and close friends of the couple. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Marvin Perkins sang and Deryl Myers played the wedding music.

The couple exchanged their vows before an improvised altar graced with pastel gladioluses and lighted cathedral candles.

Mrs. Martha Young gave her daughter in marriage. The bride wore a dark blue velvet dress trimmed in white. Her corsage was of gardenias and pink bouvaria. Her only ornament was a bracelet bought in Luxembourg while she was serving in Europe as a corporal with the Waacs.

The bride's cousin, Mrs. Malcolm Cameron, was the matron of honor. She wore a black crepe dress enhanced with trimming of a floral print. Her corsage was of gardenias.

Little Miss Patricia Cameron, the junior attendant, wore a Kate Greenway frock of white net over white taffeta and carried an old-fashioned nosegay. Charles Johnson served as best man for Mr. Brown.

An informal reception followed the ceremony. The bride's tables were centered with a decorated cake and summer flowers in pastel tones. Presiding at the urns were Mrs. Deryl Myers and Mrs. Marvin Perkins. Mrs. Malcolm Cameron, Miss Marlene Perkins and Mrs. Mary Geil of Portland assisted.

For going away the bride wore a mustard wool suit with a black hat and accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Following a wedding trip to the Oregon coast the couple will make their home in Portland, where Mr. Brown is in business. The bride recently received her honorable discharge from the Wacs.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Mary Geil, Mr. and Mrs. Sprigg Zumwalt and George Muhlhorn, all of Portland.
