Reorganizing as an operating committee, which, under the new national USO set-up assists the USO director in operating a USO building, Salem's USO council yesterday met at the center and made plans for continuing full scale operations as long as Camp Adair remains open.

Rain Delaying Prune Picking

Thursday night's rain dampened the ground to such an extent that prune picking in some orchards of the Liberty Heights district has been temporarily suspended. In all probability picking will be resumed Sunday if not additional moisture falls. A platoon being headed by Mrs. Suko for work Friday morning had to be called off. However, a number of growers from the Orchards Heights district in Polk county made their usual trips to the farm labor office for pickers and it is said harvesting in that district has not been delayed. Prunes have been little damaged by the rain and they are said to be in excellent condition. Harvesting will be continued all next week.

The hop picking scale of 3½ cents per pound remains in effect in spite of reports that a larger wage is being paid in some instances. Arrangements for paying wages in excess of the 3½ cents must be taken up through the U. S. department of agriculture's wage board.

A grower of certified strawberry plants visited the farm labor office Friday forenoon seeking assistance in hoeing his plantings. A platoon headed by Mrs. Ted Roake will go to Grand Island Saturday morning at 7:30 to pick blackberries.

Filbert and Walnut Crops Are Lighter

Growers will be paid prices one cent higher than in 1944 for both kinds of nuts, Mr. Edes said. The prices are set by the office of price administration.

Henry Ford 2nd Takes Place of Grandfather as Company Head

Detroit, Sept. 21 (AP)—Henry Ford II today became president of the Ford Motor company. He succeeds his grandfather, Henry Ford, who simultaneously announced his resignation. The younger Ford has been executive vice-president of the company since April 28, 1944.

The elder Ford in his letter of resignation to the directors said: "I hereby resign the office of president of this company, to take effect upon acceptance. I feel free to take this step at this time because the critical period during which I again assumed office has passed. As you know, I have many personal interests to which I now desire to devote most of my time."

"I shall be glad to remain on the board, and to assist in an advisory way. May I recommend to the board that it consider the appointment of my grandson, Henry Ford II, as my successor. To the officers and directors, I extend my thanks for the cordial cooperation I always given me and to which is due so greatly the success of the company."

It was the second time the elder Ford had resigned the presidency of the company he founded in 1903. He was president of the company until December 31, 1918, when he was succeeded by his son, Edsel B. Ford. On June 1943, a few days after Edsel Ford's death he again assumed the office.

His grandson and namesake, who had enlisted in the navy and advanced to the rank of lieutenant, was released following his father's death and became vice-president of the company on December 15, 1943. Some Ideas Differ

The younger Henry Ford was born in Detroit on September 4, 1917.

He was married on July 13, 1940, to Miss Anne McDonnell, of Southampton, L. I. They have two daughters.

He takes over direction of a company with assets in excess of $1,000,000,000. It began with an initial paid-in capital investment of $28,000.

His election to the highest office in the company is not expected to bring any sudden changes in company policy, although his associates admit he has many ideas differing from those of his famed grandfather. Throughout the presidency of Edsel Ford, the elder Henry Ford remained the dominating influence in the company's affairs.

Full Story

(Continued from Page 1) Herbert Brownell, republican national chairman, and New York state Banking Superintendent Elliott W. Bell, both mentioned as possessing the information, said they would defer comment until they read the article.

Chamberlain said Dewey's decision to remain silent came after Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, said lives would be lost if the Japanese learned America had cracked the "ultra" code.

"More than 15 hours before Pearl Harbor, Roosevelt and the members of the Washington high command knew that the Japanese envoys were going to break with the U. S. the next day," Chamberlain wrote. "The only thing they did not know was the precise point of the military attack, which they assumed would be toward the East Indies and/or at the Philippines or Guam."

Confirm Story

New York, Sept. 21 (AP)—Herbert Brownell, Jr., republican national chairman, and another top advisor to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in the 1944 presidential campaign said today the governor knew during the campaign that the United States had "cracked" Japan's secret code, but that Dewey declined for patriotic reasons to use the information.

Brownell and Elliot V. Bell, state banking commissioner, made the statement in commenting on an article in the current issue of Life magazine which says that Gov. Dewey possessed knowledge, during the campaign, that the late President Roosevelt had been forewarned of a Japanese attack.

"Our information indicated, among other things," Brownell said in a statement, "shocking lack of coordination between the president, the state department and the armed forces leading up to the tragedy of Pearl Harbor."

Dewey made his decision not to use the information, the national chairman said, after Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, had advised him to do so would tip off the Japs that their code had been broken, and might impede the war effort and imperil "untold American lives."

"In the face of this," Brownell continued, "Gov. Dewey decided and told me, that he would not use the Pearl Harbor data because he believed in Gen. Marshall's integrity and he would rather be defeated for president than to risk sacrificing needlessly the life of a single American boy."

Bell, at a press conference, said Dewey's decision "was one of the most extraordinary ex-

Pullman Held To Grand Jury

Robert Theodore Pullman was held to answer to the grand jury today in a preliminary hearing on a charge of assault while armed with a dangerous weapon. His wife, Dorothy, died at a local hospital Tuesday night from a gunshot wound in the head inflicted in the early morning of September 9. Pullman contends the gun was fired accidentally in a scuffle. Several witnesses were called.

The first witness was Dr. C. D. Wood who testified to the nature of the wound. Some of the shot from the small-gauge shotgun, he said, had penetrated the brain at the right temple, causing a paralysis of the left side. No powder burns were shown about the wound, he said.

Other witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. Mike Gonzales who were out with the Pullmans at two taverns prior to midnight. Gonzales, notwithstanding a statement he had previously signed, said he was very hazy in his recollection of what had happened, though he did recall some trouble the Pullmans had while being driven home by the Gonzales. Mrs. Gonzales had a clear remembrance of what occurred. Both she and her husband testified that Pullman apologized to his wife and showed affection for her, but that she was angry when they left the Gonzales car.

Salem Man Accused by FBI

Norman S. Smith, 1464 Grogson street, Salem, is accused by the federal bureau of investigation, of being implicated in the theft of a piece of machinery valued at $500 from a Vancouver shipyard. With Smith was arrested Leonard A. McCoy of Battle Ground, Wash., a yard foreman whom, it is alleged, Smith induced to assist him in the theft of the machinery which is government property.

McCoy was foreman in the shipyard's maintenance department on the graveyard shift until his arrest Wednesday. Smith left the shipyard July 20. They are charged with stealing a $500 Toledo pipe-cutting and threading machine from the yard July 1. Harry Sager, United States attorney at Tacoma, filed the complaint in Tacoma Wednesday.

FBI officers said at Vancouver that Smith, former journeyman in the maintenance department, and McCoy loaded the machine into McCoy's automobile and smuggled it through the gate, taking it to Smith's home in Salem, where it was recovered Wednesday. The FBI investigators said that Smith paid McCoy $100 for his part in the deal.

In response to a query from Senator Lew Wallace, Neuner ruled that state census can be taken only through machinery and procedure provided by legislation.

Wallace also was advised that certain bills affecting only Multnomah county are valid and their constitutionality would not be inquired into by courts on the grounds that provisions regarding representation from various districts had not been complied with. The bills were passed by votes of legislators representing districts outside of Multnomah county.

Girl Wives to Attend School

All children between the ages of 16 and 18 are required by law to attend school or to be legally employed, regardless of their marital status, Attorney General George Neuner ruled today. However, school boards have the authority to excuse any child from school under certain conditions if the child has completed the first eight grades.

The opinion was requested by Lester A. Wilcox, assistant superintendent of the state department of education, in connection with a question of whether a 17-year-old married mother was required to go to school.

In another opinion, Neuner advised the Oregon state board of barber examiners that it has no authority to waive any requirements for examinations of out-of-state barbers.

Wallace also was advised that certain bills affecting only Multnomah county are valid and their constitutionality would not be inquired into by courts on the grounds that provisions regarding representation from various districts had not been complied with. The bills were passed by votes of legislators representing districts outside of Multnomah county.

Lt. Bohrer of Red Cross Here

In Salem on leave is Lt. Mildred Ann Bohrer of the Red Cross nursing service, who wears the insignia of merit awarded for superior performance of a hazardous mission. Lt. Bohrer, before the war, was on the surgical nursing staff at Oregon State hospital and went to the front with General Hospital 46, a University of Oregon unit.

Lt. Bohrer is now assigned to Fitzsimmons General hospital in Denver, and will leave here Saturday on her return there, stopping first in Portland.

She saw service in Africa, Italy, France and Germany, and much of that time was with hospital trains evacuating wounded soldiers from the front to the rear areas. When she received the merit citation she was with hospital train No. 66 in France near the German border at Strasbourg.

"Our people will never know," said Lt. Bohrer, "what price the GIs paid for our peace. The only reason we over there were able to take it was that we had America to come back to."

Rev. George H. Swift, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church at Salem and vicar of the St. Mary's Episcopal church at Woodburn, will talk on the history and ritual of the Episcopalian church at the service Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The junior choir will sing and there will be special music. Mrs. Neal Butterfield is choir director. Sunday school will be resumed Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. New students are invited to the classes.

School Music Room Fixed-up

One of the most appreciated projects of the vacation-time improvement program of the public schools was the development of an acoustically treated music room for the use of Miss Lena Belle Tartar, who heads the music department. In addition to making the ceiling echo proof, a four lift platform has been built at the rear of the room where chorus work may be conducted in a more efficient manner.

"It's the first time we have had a room suited to the department," Miss Tartar commented. "It is restful and the students as well as myself greatly appreciate the improvement."

The first assembly of the entire high school for the new term was held Thursday forenoon and the largest attendance in the past few years was recorded. It was found necessary to open the balcony to care for all of the students. During the summer acoustic board has been placed on the ceiling of the auditorium over the balcony, as well as the ceiling under the balcony. As a result, those in the rear were able to get all of the program. Principal Harry Johnson addressed the students concerning what was expected of them.

Lions Told About Alcoholics

A man who said he wished to be known merely as "Chairman of Group No. 2, Portland," discussed the plan of "Alcoholics Anonymous" for the benefit of the Salem Lions club Thursday noon. He stated that three out of every 10 persons who are now seeking help from the organization which has a membership of some 19,000 throughout the country, are women. He also said he knew through personal experience that there was no scarcity of membership material in Salem, but so far all efforts to establish a chapter here had failed. A group of approximately 45 inmates of the state penitentiary was credited with having one of the finest records in the history of the organization.

No person can really rid himself of the drinking habit unless he wants to change and is willing to admit that he is in need of outside help, the speaker asserted. When he reaches that point, he has made the greatest step toward recovery. The chief characteristic of the alcoholic is his "downright ornerness," declared the speaker. He said he did not believe an individual could quit on his own and that he must seek outside assistance. "He must reach the point where he is willing to talk it over with someone."

While admitting that "Alcoholics Anonymous" is not infallible, the speaker declared the results achieved are evidence that "we have something."

To Treat Germany As Single Unit

Berlin, Sept. 20 (AP)—The allied control council today agreed upon an export-import policy designed to treat Germany as a single economic unit.

The agreement set forth a 10-point program intended to hold German imports to a minimum and ensure equitable distribution of essential commodities among the four occupied zones.

County Commissioner Rice states that the new bridge over Pudding river on the Gervais-Mt. Angel road will be open for traffic the first of next week. The concrete paving on the bridge has been set for some days, the crew now completing the approaches.

Ross Keppinger, route 2, reported to police Wednesday the theft of a tire and wheel from his premises.

John Mancel, Jr., soldier, has been booked at the county jail on a charge of possession of stolen property. He was returned from Eugene by Sheriff Denver Young.
