Dallas Legion Seeks Quarters

Dallas—Members of Carl B. Fenton post, American Legion, discussed the advisability of selecting new quarters for the post and auxiliary at their first meeting of the new year, held at the armory.

General disapproval concerning the upkeep of the armory was voiced by members, who declared the building needed a new roof, cleanup and redecorating job, before it could be a desirable meeting place for the two units. Because of the lack of proper upkeep and inadequate facilities in the kitchen, it was stated, the post and auxiliary have been forced to abandon their former custom of holding pre-business session no-host dinners. Whether or not to take steps to try to secure a building from Camp Adair for a possible meeting place was discussed, but no action taken.

O. E. Anderson, reporting on high school athletics, sought the backing of Legionnaires at basketball games and suggested that the post cooperate with school authorities to secure better facilities for the high school gymnasium.

The matter of having information regarding Polk county farms available for war veterans who might be prospective farm purchasers was brought up and discussed by Ed Hamilton of the Dallas office of the U. S. employment service.
