Stocks Tumble On Strike News

New York, Jan. 21 (AP)—The stock market today suffered its worst stumble in more than a month as bearishness over the steel strike and other labor controversies caused selling of metals, motors and other leaders. Bonds generally backed water.

Dealings slackened appreciably after a moderately fast opening when blocks of 1,000 to 15,000 shares changed hands on the downside. Extreme declines to 1 to 6 points or so were reduced in most cases near the close. Turnover of around 1,700,000 shares was the smallest for a full session in two weeks.

The market was on an all-cash basis today for the first time as the federal reserve boost of margins to 100 percent became effective. This, brokers suggested, contributed to the "thinness" of numerous pivotals through the "freezing" of accounts. The president's message to congress accentuated Wall street's inflation psychology but, on the whole, seemed to bring few market repercussions.

Conspicuous sliders included U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Republic Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodyear, U.S. Rubber, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, Southern Railway, American Telephone, Western Union "A," Eastern Air Lines, United Aircraft, Schenley, Glenn Martin, Montgomery Ward, Anaconda, Electric Power & Light, Columbia Gas, American Power & Light, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Standard Oil (N.J.) American Smelting and Texas Co.

Truman

It provided for those purposes a whopping appropriation increase for the commerce department and identified Secretary Henry A. Wallace as a key figure in that phase of administration policy.

There were more than 50 specific proposals for legislation in the message and further comprehensive recommendations in more general terms. All the major legislative proposals for which Mr. Truman sought action have been previously submitted to congress, beginning with his request of May 28, 1945, for federal funds to increase to $25 the weekly unemployment insurance benefits now provided by the states. He also repeated his request for an increase from $20 to $25 a week in unemployment benefits paid by the federal government to veterans.

Describing his legislative program as essential and necessary, the president said:

"A few—a very few—of these recommendations have been enacted into law by the congress. Most of them have not."

No. 1 on the list was for the creation of fact-finding boards to prevent strikes after collective bargaining, conciliation and voluntary arbitration have failed. The proposals ranged from there to self-determination for Puerto Rico.

Mr. Truman endorsed immediate increase of minimum wages from 40 to 65 cents an hour; to 70 cents after one year; and 75 cents after two years. Neither serious price adjustments nor geographic dislocations would be caused by such increases, he said. He also recommended that groups of workers not now covered by the wage-hours act be brought under it.

He reiterated his request for a permanent fair employment practices commission—a proposal which has started an avowed filibuster in the senate. Mr. Truman asked for salary increases for all hands in the government service. He said that reconversion and expansion were seriously hampered by lack of a fair wage structure, and added:

"Most industries and most companies have adequate leeway within which to grant substantial wage increases. If we manage our economy properly, the future will see us on a level of production half again as high as anything we have ever accomplished in peacetime. Business can in the future pay higher wages and sell for lower prices than ever before. This is not true for all companies, nor will it ever be true for all, but for business generally it is true. We are relying on all concerned to develop through collective bargaining, wage structures that are fair to labor, allow for necessary business incentives, and conform with a policy designed to 'hold the line' on prices."

The message asked again for merger of the armed forces for reasons of economy, security and efficiency and for universal military training. Mr. Truman estimated that 90 percent of persons in the armed forces on V-E day will have been released by the end of June. Then demobilization will proceed more slowly. Shipping is ample for return of troops from the European theater but the governing factor on their demobilization now has become the number required to carry out United states' missions in that part of the world. The army has obtained 400,000 and the navy 80,000 volunteers in the past four months.

Approximately 6,000,000 persons remain in the armed services and one year hence we still will need 2,000,000. With that figure in mind, Mr. Truman said: "In case the campaign for volunteers does not produce that number, it will be necessary by additional legislation to extend the selective service act beyond May 16. That is the only way we can get the men and bring back our veterans. There is no other way. Action along this line should not be postponed beyond March, in order to avoid uncertainty and disruption."

The president repeated textually his 12-point foreign policy first outlined in New York last October 27. He pledged support of the United Nations Organization in its purpose to prevent war and was confident that UNO can devise methods to "prohibit, outlaw and prevent the use of atomic energy for destructive purposes."

Mr. Truman cautiously acknowledged that four-power control of conquered Germany had not worked well. He said the United States had retained primary authority and responsibility in Japan. Basic United States policy in the Far East is to encourage development of a strong, independent, united and democratic China.

At the earliest practicable date, Mr. Truman said, he would transfer from military to civilian personnel "the execution of United States participation in the government of occupied territory in Europe."

He said he would send a separate message to congress asking approval of the proposed loan to Great Britain. The loan, he said, would enable Great Britain to avoid discriminatory trade arrangements to which she resorted in the 1930's to the destruction of trade freedom.

Mr. Truman reported business prospects good and likely to remain good—provided we control inflation and obtain industrial peace. He predicted increased civilian production and employment accompanied by a temporary increase in the number of unemployed as demobilization proceeds more rapidly than industry can absorb veterans.

The critical situation in residential housing, building materials and consumers' durable goods makes it "absolutely essential" to have continued rent control, price control, and priorities, allocations and inventory controls. Mr. Truman said continued control of consumer credit also is necessary. He asked congress for expansion of price control authority to cover old and new houses.

The president said continuation of food subsidies is necessary to keep down costs to consumers.

He said all this should be accompanied by a general increase in industrial wages arranged through collective bargaining and looking toward higher wages, greater production and lower prices, and added:

Oregon Crop Goals Set High

Corvallis, Jan. 21 (AP)—Crop goals for Oregon in 1946 were set at or above last year's production, but livestock and poultry aims—excepting dairy products—have been reduced, a federal agriculture official announced today.

R. B. Taylor, U.S. department of agriculture production and marketing administration field service director, said goals were determined after conferences between federal and state agriculture leaders.

Sharpest crop increase was for alfalfa, clover and corn. The goals:

Corn, 50,000 acres, up 25 percent; oats, 450,000 acres, up 10 percent; barley, 260,000 acres, up 7 percent; tame hay, 880,000 acres, up 4 percent; wheat, 1,000,000 acres, up 3 percent; rye, 35,000 acres, up 6 percent; flax seed, 1,000 acres, no change.

Cover crops and legume seed, hairy vetch, 55,000 acres, up 2 percent; Willamette vetch, 70,000 acres; Austrian winter peas, 30,000 acres, up 7 percent; common rye grass, 80,000 acres, no change; alfalfa, 10,000 acres, up 43 percent; red clover, 20,000 acres, up 53 percent; alsike clover, 25,000 acres, up 150 percent; ladino clover, 10,000 acres, up 61 percent.

There was no change in acreages for: dry beans, 1,000 acres; sugar beets, 17,000 acres. But potatoes, at 46,000 acres, will drop 16 percent. No goals were set for canning vegetables, but gardening by individuals and commercial canners is expected to increase.

Milk, 1,445,000,000 pounds (260,000 cows needed); eggs, 37,640,000, down 5 percent; chickens, 4,251,000, down 8 percent; turkeys, 2,221,000, a 15 percent decrease; cattle and calves by January 1, 1,500,000, a 3 percent decrease. Sows, 20,000 farrowing by spring.

Jews Blow Up Guard Station

Jerusalem, Jan. 21 (U.P.)—Saboteurs blew up a coast guard station at Givat, Olga, halfway between Telaviv and Haifa, last night, injuring 14 British soldiers and one British policeman, authorities announced today.

The new violence, blamed by police on members of the Jewish resistance movement, occurred while troops and police still were investigating outbreaks that caused four deaths in Jerusalem Saturday.

A British announcement said a number of arrests had been made in connection with the explosion and police-military operations were continuing.

The saboteurs were believed to have taken advantage of police and troop pre-occupation with the Saturday riots, blamed on the Irgun Zvai Leumi terrorist organization, to strike in the north.

The northern group, however, was not believed connected with the Irgun Zvai Leumi.

The coast guard station had been blown up once before—last November. Authorities said the explosives apparently were planted while workmen were repairing damage of the previous explosion.

Warehouse Name Will Be Changed

Mt. Angel, Jan. 21—Change in name from the Mt. Angel Farmers' Union warehouse to the Mt. Angel Farmers' warehouse and election of directors will be the main business before the Mt. Angel Farmers' Union warehouse membership meeting Thursday afternoon at the St. Mary's auditorium. Terms of Frank Hettwer and A. W. Simmons are expiring and a third director will be named to serve out the unexpired term of Stanley Duda, deceased.

Several changes in the by-laws will be considered, the main ones being to make any farmer or bona fide farmers' cooperative eligible for membership; regulation of non-member business; authorizing the board of directors to deduct indebtedness due at the time certificates of interest are redeemed or transferred and giving the board the power to determine when the certificates of interest shall be retired.

The jinriksha was invented in 1871 by an American, the Rev. Mr. Jonathan Goble, a Baptist missionary residing in Yokohama.

Grain Holds Uneven Session

Chicago, Jan. 21 (U.P.)—A five-cent break in May rye prompted other futures to back down on the board of trade today in an uneven session. Combined profit-taking and a tendency to await congressional action on prices and subsidies despite the president's request for an extension of both price controls and subsidies accounted for the shift in sentiment.

Rye finished the day unchanged to off 5 cents a bushel; wheat unchanged to off ⅜; corn unchanged, oats off ¾ to 1⅜, and barley bid unchanged.

While May rye fell the limit here selling spilled over to December delivery which held bid at the ceiling most of the day. Lack of aggressive support, the rapid downturn on other North American markets, and talk that some of the rye in store had been offered were negative factors weakening the market. News from Washington, however had little effect either way.
