Realtors Hear Murphy Talk

The selling of real estate is big business, Claude H. Murphy, real estate commissioner for the state of Oregon, asserted Saturday night preliminary to the installation of officers of the Salem Board of Realtors during their annual banquet at the Marion hotel. Murphy estimated that the money involved in the transfer of all types of real estate constituted a volume of money equal to that of the sale of farm products and forest products combined. These latter involved more than $500,000,000, according to the latest figures.

The banquet, the first since the close of the war, attracted more than 200 persons from many parts of the valley. Secretary of State Robert S. Farrell, Jr., presided as toastmaster and called on a number of persons, including A. D. Newman, president of the Oregon Association of Real Estate boards of Portland.

Ben Hazen of Portland, principal speaker, gave a humorous talk on the subject, "Ralph Waldo Emerson Was Mistaken."

Ed Potter was installed as president, succeeding R. A. Forkner. Others installed were Fred Rawlins, vice president; William Bliven, secretary, and William G. Hardy, treasurer.

Upon completion of his year of college he will be assigned to the navy aviation training school where he will receive his wings. He will then receive a commission as ensign in the United States navy or second lieutenant in the U.S. marines.

Marshall Back In Chungking

Chungking, Jan. 21 (U.P.)—Gen. George C. Marshall returned here from Shanghai today and Chungking newspapers said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek had appointed him special advisor to the committee studying reorganization and nationalization of the Chinese government and communist armies.

Marshall's aide said no formal notice of the new appointment had been received as yet, but it was expected shortly.

Meanwhile, Communist Leader Chou En-Lai informed the people's consultative assembly that a tentative agreement had been reached to reduce the nationalist armies from their present strength of 4,830,000 men to 1,800,000 men by June 30, and to cut the communist forces down to 400,000 men.

Sporadic fighting between communist and nationalist troops was reported continuing in the north in violation of the truce agreement but both sides were said to be trying to restore peace. An order issued by the joint communist-nationalist executive headquarters in Peiping directed both armies to cease firing and return to the positions they held at midnight on January 13, the effective date of the truce.

Manufacturer Asks Public's Opinion

Portland, Ore., Jan. 21 (U.P.)—In what is believed to be the first time in Oregon history a manufacturer is asking the public rather than the retail store buyer just what it thinks of the company's wares.

This novel query is in the form of an educational exhibit in a hotel here Monday and Tuesday by the Portland Woolen mills, which is displaying its latest blankets and woolen materials for all to see.

The show was arranged by R. B. Ambrose, vice president of the company, who declared the company wants to know what women want to buy. Brief questionnaires will be handed out to each guest on which she, or he as the case may be, can fill out preferences in styles, weights, colors, sizes, etc.

Truman Expected To Take Vacation

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—The white house reported today that President Truman may take a short vacation in Florida next month.

Questioned about a report that the president was planning to meet Winston Churchill, who is vacationing at Miami Beach, Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told a news conference he knew nothing of plans of that nature.

But in reply to further questions, Ross said:

"The president may possibly take a short vacation which may take him to Florida. Plans for that are quite tentative."

If such a trip is taken, Ross added, it will be in advance of the president's appearance at Fulton, Mo., March 5 to introduce Churchill for a speech at Westminster college.

One Burglar Out Under $10,000 Bail

Albany, Jan. 19 (AP)—One of three men charged with burglarizing the Carlson hardware store and Graham pharmacy in Brownsville December 21 was out of jail today under $10,000 bond. The suspect, Alfred LeRoy Moore, is subject to later grand jury action. S. D. McClain and Jack Mann still are held in jail on the burglary charge.

Night School Adds Courses

Four additional courses have been added to the list which will be available for those taking advantage of the second term of the night school sponsored by the Salem school district. The term will open next Monday night with classes held in senior high school. The new courses include selling, safety, first aid and job application. The night school was set up for the purpose of assisting the returning veteran, young folk in the 16-17 age group who have not completed their high school work and who are employed, full or part time. Under the statutes adopted by the last legislature schooling is compulsory until the high school diploma has been secured or until the pupil reached the age of 18 years. Adults may take advantage of the courses offered by paying the tuition charges. Those compelled to return to the class rooms have no tuition charges.

In addition to the four courses announced Saturday, others available include auto mechanics, bookkeeping, carpentry, clothing, current affairs, electrical work, machine shop, mathematics review, mechanical drawing, blueprint, radio, typing and woodworking.

House Group OK's USES Bill

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—The house labor committee approved legislation today in line with President Truman's recommendation that the United States employment service remain under federal control until July 1, 1947.

The vote to send the measure to the house floor was 13 to 3.

Mr. Truman, in December, vetoed legislation calling for cutbacks of over $50,000,000,000 in appropriations and spending authorizations, because congress had tacked on a rider calling for the USES transfer, sought by many state administrations, within 100 days.

Before voting to report the bill embracing the president's proposals, the labor committee defeated 9 to 6 a bill by Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill.) which stipulated that USES be returned to the States in 30 days.

By a tie vote, 8 to 8, the committee also defeated a bill that would have put USES under permanent federal control.

Rep. Randolph (D-WVa.), acting chairman, announced that the committee will act tomorrow on a bill enbodying Mr. Truman's proposal for handling the nation's labor troubles. This measure proposes the setting up of fact-finding boards, cloaked with subpoena power.

Dennis to Learn Fate Thursday

Andrew W. Dennis, Portland railroad worker who is scheduled to die in the state prison gas chamber next Friday morning for slaying his mother-in-law, Mrs. Anna Belle McNallen, probably won't learn his final fate until the eve of his execution, Governor Earl Snell said today.

The governor said it would take him until Thursday to complete his study of the case, and he then would announce whether he would commute the sentence to life imprisonment.

The state supreme court, after acting Gov. Howard C. Belton had denied clemency, saved Dennis a few weeks ago on the night before Dennis originally was scheduled to die. The court, finding that no death warrant existed, sent Dennis back to Portland for resentencing, thus giving Dennis time to make a new appeal to Governor Snell.

Governor Snell went to Portland today to confer with Edwin D. Hicks, attorney for Dennis.

Sylvester Electrocuted

Lebanon, Ore., Jan. 19—James Henry Sylvester, of Lacomb, was electrocuted at 11:30 o'clock this morning when he came in contact with an 11,000 volt overhead power line leading to a mixing machine. He was employed on a construction job at the Lee Scott home when the accident occured. Sylvester is survived by his widow and two small children.

Amendments To O & C Laws

County Judge Grant Murphy who attended a meeting of representatives of Oregon & California land grant counties in Portland Friday stated that a report was made on proposed amendments to the federal statutes covering distribution of proceeds from the grant lands. The amendments proposed are being worked up by lumber and county governmental interests.

Under the law as it stands, he states, the proceeds are distributed by the government on a basis of 50 percent going to the counties, the distribution being made according to the percentage of timber land that was in each county at the time the Stanfield act went into effect 25 percent for administrative purposes, and the other 25 percent for liquidation of the grant made to the counties under the Stanfield act. The bill now being prepared would provide that 10 percent of the gross receipts go toward reforestation and fire patrol of the lands, 45 percent to the counties, 22½ percent for administrative purposes and the other 22½ percent for continuation of the liquidation of the original grant to the counties.

Judge Murphy stated the matter is still in its initial stages and has not been presented to the Oregon delegation in congress although it is understood that Senator Cordon will probably endorse it.

Thieves Active Friday Night

Thieves were on the loose again Friday night. Rooms and automobiles were prowled.

Emmel L. Gilmer reported to police that some time after midnight his room at a downtown hotel was entered and his purse containing $23 in money and a check for $49 stolen.

In another downtown hotel the room of Lewis Rose was entered and a purse containing $5 taken from his pocket. The purse, empty, was found later in the bath room.

The thefts from automobiles resulted in the usual missing hub caps and fender skirts which seem to be favorite loot for thieves. Clyde Kriger, 779 North Cottage, told police that two hub caps were taken from the wheels of his auto while it was parked either at the Capitola Skating rink or near the Paulus cannery.

The automobile belonging to Harold Chipman, route 1, Corvallis, was parked in the 100 block on North Commercial when a prowler carried away the fender skirts.

Three hub caps were taken from Dale Pence's car. Pence lives at 2205 North Fifth and the car was parked at the time near the high school.

Vote Probe of Court Martials

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—The senate judiciary committee voted unanimously today for an investigation of army and navy courts martial systems and the administration of wartime martial law in Hawaii.

Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) who introduced the resolution, told reporters it is still undetermined whether the inquiry will be made by the full judiciary committee or a subcommittee.

An appropriation of $25,000 must be approved by a committee headed by Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) before the inquiry can begin. The senate also must approve the inquiry resolution.

McCarran said many complaints have been received concerning asserted injustices under the present court martial systems. Complaints also have been made, he said, that citizens were deprived of constitutional rights in Hawaii because of wartime martial law.

"The inquiry may go into specific cases or set up a process for their review," he said.

Automobile Collision Sends 4 to Hospital

Four persons are at Salem General hospital with injuries caused by an automobile collision Friday night just north of the Southern Pacific underpass.

They are Mrs. Archie Powell, with severe neck injury and possible fracture; Archie Powell, back, left shoulder and pelvis injury and possible fracture; Joe Di Filippi, facial injuries; Mrs. Di Filippi, ribs and chest injuries. The Powells live at 840 Union and the Di Filippis at 660 Union.

The hospital reported all of the injured in favorable condition Saturday. First aid was called before they were taken to the hospital.

George Flagg, whose home is at 1845 Berry street, but who is here from Fort Lewis, received a possible minor fracture of the left arm at the elbow when he was sideswiped by an automobile while walking across the street. First aid was attempting Saturday to have him taken to the hospital at Camp Adair.

Bush Pasture and Airport Legislation Before Council

Important matters before the city council Monday night will include Bush's pasture park and municipal airport legislation. An ordinance bill will be introduced authorizing the issue of $125,000 bonds, approved by the people January 11, for purchase of the Bush's pasture park tract, and the resolution authorizing the mayor and the city recorder to execute the deed for the purchase will be acted on. This resolution had a favorable report from the parks and playgrounds committee two weeks ago, but the resolution itself was misplaced and not acted on an intended.

The ordinance bill for the bond issue provides that the bonds mature serially over a period of years from April 1, 1947, to April 1, 1966. The maturity will be $6000 annually until April 1, 1962, and the last five years $7000 will mature annually.

An ordinance bill, that may be put through three readings to final passage, will creat the position of airport manager, and provide that his salary shall be fixed from time to time by the city council. His tenure of office will be at the will of the council.

Another airport measure will be a resolution from the committee on airport and aviation for appointment by the mayor of an airport advisory committee of five members, all to be outside the city council. The members would serve one, two, three, four and five years, and upon expiration of a member's term his successor would be appointed for five years by the moyar with confirmation by the council. The committee would act only in an advisory way with the council committee on airport and aviation on matters pertaining to management and administration of the airport.

A resolution coming in, if adopted, will authorize the mayor, as a representative of the city, to sign a petition for annexation of the Candalaria Heights district. The city has title to certain property in the district.

Other measures coming up include: a resolution changing from head-in to parallel parking of motor vehicles on the north side of State street between 12th and Waverly for elimination of a traffic hazard; a resolution authorizing the city treasurer to purchase $12,000 city improvement bonds of a 1942 assue of $19,000, due March 1, 1946; an ordinance bill establishing building construction set-back lines on North Capitol street and Fairgrounds road, prohibiting buildings less than 10 feet from the street lines.

Bids Asked on Cottage Farm

Official notice for bids on construction of a patients' ward building at State Cottage farm, which is part of the Oregon State hospital plant, was published Saturday, and bids on the building, estimated to cost $340,000 and to house over 350 patients, will be received until 2 p.m., February 19, at the office of the state board of control.

Dell Hinson, architect with Sutton, Whitney & Aandahl, said the main part of the building would be 332 feet long and 34 feet wide. Five wing extensions, each 34 by 59 feet will extend to the rear of the building, and an extension at the front, including a porch, will be 36 feet long.

Five large wash rooms with ceramic tile floors and walls are in the plan. In each will be from six to eight toilet bowls in one section, showers in another and eight wash bowls in another.

The building will be erected on a grade that will necessitate added excavation on one side. The bottom floor on the excavated side will be basement storage, and this floor on the other side will be dormitory space.

Required in the project will be grading, walks, replacement of macadam road, an extension from the present boiler plant, steel sash, tile roof on wood framing, four two-story columns at the entrance. The first floor ceiling will be 11 feet high and those on each of the other floors 10½ feet high.

Strike Idle

The strike machinery was set in motion quietly. Furnaces had been cooled in preparation for possibly a long shutdown. Production had ceased in most mills hours in advance of the 12:01 a. m. deadline.

First reports said picketing was orderly. In the sprawling Chicago-Gary, Ind., scene of violence during the 1937 "Little Steel" strike, a union spokesman said the picketing would be light "unless the companies attempt to get back into production."

About 1,300 plants in 30 states closed. Pennsylvania5s 300,000 steelworkers form the greatest concentration in cities whose names have become synonyms for steel — like Pittsburgh, Johnstown and Bethlehem. Pickets there tramped to their posts in swirling snow.

Henry J. Kaiser's steel mill at Fontana, Calif., was one of the few not affected by the strike. aKiser signed a contract with the union Saturday, accepting the 18½ cents hourly pay raise recommended to the United States Steel Corporation by President Truman.

In New York, Michael J. Quill, president of the CIO transport workers union, said he would ask a union meeting at 7 p. m. tonight to set a strike daet for the city's 32,000 transit operators, unless the board of transportation agrees to union demands. The union is demanding a referendum on the proposed sale of city power plants.

Some 5,000 CIO Utah Metals mines and smelters workers walked off the job today in a wage dispute with the Utah Copper Co., American Smelting and Refining Co., and the United States Smelting, Refining & Mining Co.

At Miami, Fla., the American Federation of Labor executive council met to determine its course of action against the administration's fact-finding legislation. Executive council members said they saw no prospect of revival of AFL and CIO merger efforts.

Plan to Rebuild Timber Lands

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP) — Faced with a drain on the nation's resources under its care almost equal to the war period, the forest service announced today a long-range plan to build back its timberlands and ranges.

Meantime, President Truman asked congress to provide $3,000,000 a year for purchase of private forest lands and to allow an overall increase of $10,000,000 in the forest service budget.

Chief Forester Lyle F. Watts in a statement today accompanying his annual report, says an "adequate forestry program" would create an additional 2,500,000 jobs. Normally, the forests, directly or indirectly, he said, provide about 3,750,000 jobs.

He estimated that lumber needed for domestic consumption in the next 10 years will average 33,000,000 board feet annually or about equal to the wartime demand. Wartime timber cutting, together with losses by fire, insects and disease, he said, were about 50 per cent greater than annual timber growth, and warned:

"Forest depletion today is so serious that positive action to increase growth is imperative if future employment in forest industries is not to be jeopardized by lack of raw material."

Marines to Abandon Klamath Hospital

Klamath Falls, Ore., Jan. 21 (U.P.)—The Klamath Falls marine barracks will be abandoned by the marine corps by June 1, it was disclosed today.

Built for reconditioning and training marines who contracted malaria and filariasis in the Pacific theater, the $6,000,000 post has processed some 10,000 men, now housing 1200 marines, medical corpsmen and navy and marine officers. It is being considered by the veterans' administration for possible reconversion into a hospital.
