New Cardinals Get Red Hats

Vatican City, Feb. 21 (AP)—Pope Pius XII conferred the traditional red hat upon 28 new cardinals today in a magnificent religious spectacle witnessed by 20,000 persons in the great Nave of St. Peter's.

In a long majestic ceremony rich with color and the ancient tradition of the Roman Catholic church, the pontiff bestowed upon the new princes of the church the flat, broad-rimmed and tasseled symbols of their dignity.

They will receive the final symbol of their new rank—their rings—at a secret consistory tomorrow, concluding week-long ceremonies marked by the pope's world broadcast yesterday in which he called upon his church to become a militant leader in preparing a basis upon which society "can rest securely."

Four of the 32 new cardinals created by Pope Pius Monday were absent from today's consistory. They were Jon Cardinal De Jong of the Netherlands and Jules Cardinal Sallage of France, who were too ill to come to Rome; Jose Cardinal Caro Rodriguez of Chile, who became ill after reaching Rome, and Manuel Cardinal Arteaga Y Betancourt, Archbishop of Havana, who was stricken last night with influenza.

R. D. Cooper, former consultant for the city of Salem and city engineer at Warrenton, has been added to the field office of the Boatwright engineering and surveying firm. For Home Builders Seattle, Feb. 21 (AP)—H. V. Simpson, executive vice president of the West Coast Lumbermen's association, issued a statement today that "the lumber price amendments announced in Washington by the OPA is a postwar adjustment to the requirements of home builders for lumber, and has not been given as compensation for lumber wage increases."

He said the OPA is "straightening out a wartime distortion of lumber prices. It is akin to the cancellation of military lumber orders after V-J day and other measures for lumber trade restoration."

"The new prices for certain essential items or home building lumber will encourage west coast mills to take a normal risk in supplying their old friends and customers in the retail lumber and building construction fields."

A ceremonial will be staged when construction work starts on the co-operative apartment court project being promoted on North Church street some time between March 1 and 5, Vance McDowell, one of the leaders of the enterprise, said Thursday. Officiating at the event, he said, would be Douglas McKay. The co-operative veterans group expects to build 30 family housing units on the property. Development of a similar project on Orchard Heights in Polk county is held in abeyance. The veterans have an option on the property.

Gabriel Talks To Rotarians

Annual ladies' night was observed by the Salem Rotary club Wednesday with Joseph Gabriel, of Hollister, Calif., district governor, principal speaker. Guests were present from other clubs in the district as well as presidents of other service clubs. Each lady was presented with a corsage.

Cardinal points of the Rotary creed were emphasized by Gabriel, district governor and member of Rotary for 21 years. Growth of the organization from a single club in Chicago 41 years ago to 5800 clubs in 60 nations was stressed. Efforts are being made to revive clubs in Germany, banned by Hitler, and also to establish clubs in Russia, which he said, was the only nation at the San Francisco conference which does not have Rotary.

Robert L. Elfstrom, president of the club, was toastmaster and Dr. George Peavy, Corvallis, district governor, presented the speaker, Mrs. Josephine Albert Spaulding gave several vocal numbers with Arthur Hay leading in group singing.

A graduate of Willamette university with the class of 1915, Jory received his master's degree in education administration at Stanford in 1929. After teaching in Oregon high schools he became an administrator in the Everett, Wash., school system where he was junior high principal and later principal of the senior high before retiring in 1938 to engage in business in California.

The new registrar has two daughters now attending Willamette—Mrs. Elizabeth Jory Nicholson, senior in public school music, and Miss Evelyn Jory, sophomore in sociology. He will arrive in Salem the first week in March to take over his new work.

Senior scouting came in for considerable impetus this week as a number of events were programmed throughout Cascade area council.

Tuesday night at the First Presbyterian church Explorer Post No. 17, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, held a dinner meeting when nine new boys were inducted during a candlelight ceremony. Paul A. Porter

New Chief of Price Controls

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—The senate today by unanimous consent, confirmed Paul A. Porter the new chief of price controls.

Only a half dozen minutes of discussion was required for action. Porter has been chairman of the federal communications commission.

Majority Leader Barkley (D., Ky.) said speed was necessary because Chester Bowles is leaving OPA to become stabilization director.

Senator Wherry (R., Neb.) expressed hope that accent would be placed on the necessity of getting production of goods which have been scarce.

He suggested a "flexible pricing system." Senator Reed (R., Kans.) told the senate he expects "definite improvement" in OPA.

Wherry and Reed have been among the most frequent critics of OPA's handling of price controls.

The senate banking committee had recommended confirmation of a short time before, after a brief hearing.

Porter told the senators, each of whom seemed to have some special cause for OPA to undertake, that "every effort will be made to speed consideration" of cases in which there are complaints that OPA causes business men to lose money.

Rent Control

The New Home and Property Owners association expects to affiliate with the Home and Property Owners of America which, according to Mr. Ulrich, is affiliated with the National Association of Real Estate Boards. In brief, the local organization proposes to control rentals and values of its members by voluntary action and without federal intervention. It will have a board of directors of seven members, each representing some phase of property ownership, including the lumber industry, hotels, theaters and housing, and one member will represent veterans.

Further, the organization proposes to have several qualified appraisers, and claims available at present five appraisers who are war veterans. Values established re expected to reach rents of both residence and business property, and if necessary, sales values.

To quote from the minutes of the meeting held Wednesday: "Assessed valuations of properties should be kept in line—and it should be the function of this organization to level this matter. Some properties are too high, some too low. A fair valuation to be taken into consideration in this respect instead of a blanket raise on assessment valuations, for once the valuation is raised it would be a very difficult problem to have it lowered. It is very probable that we will see a decrease in valuation of properties."

Attending the preliminary organization meeting were: C. H. Sanders, real estate; Keith Brown, Keith Brown Building Supply; Carl Quistad and Russ Beutler, Beutler-Quistad Lumber company; Ed Plasecki, attorney; A. A. Larsen, real estate; Thomas A. Roberts, Hawkins & Roberts; Frank Chats, property owner; J. W. Gabbart, Grand hotel; Carl Porter, manager Warner Bothes theatres; C. T. Reaney, representing Chadwick hotels; F. E. Kenyon, State Finance company; Roy Nelson, U. S. National bank of Portland; Richard Hague, Pioneer Trust company; Grant Murphy, county judge; David O'Hara, city council member; Don Young, attorney; E. A. Miller, State Finance company; Ed Potter, president of Salem Real Estate board; J. F. Ulrich, real estate and insurance; Bill Bliven, secretary of Salem Real Estate board; William G. Hardy, Hawkins & Roberts, Inc.

Not at the meeting, but indicating they would join the organization were: J. M. Devers, owner Devercaux apartments; J. M. Loewen, Capital apartments; R. L. Elfstrom, merchant and candidate for mayor; H. Glendora, Glendora apartments; Pauline Lewis, Lewis apartments; E. H. Leach, Court apartments.

OPA to Ask Rent Survey If Community Wants It

If the district office of the OPA in Portland decided that rentals in Salem ought to be investigated in a formal manner it will ask the regional office in San Francisco to have the bureau of labor statistics to make the survey.

This information was received Wednesday from Walter A. Durham, rent director for the Oregon district office.

The Portland district office, said Mr. Durham, will make this request if it is felt there is sufficient desire in the local community that the survey be made.

"We prefer," said Mr. Durham, "to see the local community handle the situation if possible through veterans' organizations or other local groups. In other words federal control is the last resort."

Asked if the resolution adopted by the Salem city council directing the mayor to communicate with proper federal authorities requesting an investigation to see if rent control is feasible would be sufficient expression of the local desire, Mr. Durham said it doubtless would have great weight. He added that the opposition to control would be sounded out before a request went in to the regional office.

Mr. Durham was contacted with the assistance of Miss Mary Johns of the group and community service of the OPA who is in Salem today. Both Mr. Durham and Miss Johns said the Salem situation had been called to the attention of the Portland office prior to the Capital Journal's expose.

Mr. Durham is the man to whom Mayor I. M. Doughton's communication is to be sent.

Jory Named W. U. Registrar

Harold B. Jory of Los Gatos, Calif., has been named registrar and director of admissions at Willamette university, it was announced Wednesday by President G. Herbert Smith. Jory will succeed Walter E. Erickson, whose appointment as head football coach and director of athletics at Willamette, was revealed recently.

A graduate of Willamette university with the class of 1915, Jory received his master's degree in education administration at Stanford in 1929. After teaching in Oregon high schools he became an administrator in the Everett, Wash., school system where he was junior high principal and later principal of the senior high before retiring in 1938 to engage in business in California.

The new registrar has two daughters now attending Willamette—Mrs. Elizabeth Jory Nicholson, senior in public school music, and Miss Evelyn Jory, sophomore in sociology. He will arrive in Salem the first week in March to take over his new work.

Graham High Hoop Bearcat Scorer

Final tabulation of individual player statistics for the Willamette Bearcat hoop squad which closed its season against Linfield Saturday evening, shows Fred Graham, junior from Longview, Wash., well in the lead with 190 points accumulated in 21 contests. Second to Graham in scoring was Marshall Barbour, the scrappy carrot-thatched guard from Portland who racked up 127 points in 17 games.

Best man at the free-throw line was Irv Miller, veteran guard, who looped in 31 charity tosses in 49 attempts. The figures disclose that the best shooting eye belonged to freshman Bruce Barker, whose 47 field goals in 130 shots attempted netted him a neat 361 average and 112 points for the season. Bad man of the team was Fred Graham who committed 55 offenses; while Barker and Barbour trailed close behind with 49 and 46 respectively.

Charles E. Miller, Lumberman, Dies

Roseburg, Ore., Feb. 20 (AP)—Charles Edward Miller, 54, president of the Young's Bay Lumber company here, died suddenly at his home today of a heart ailment.
