

'Most Robbed Bank' - A Sort 'Of Speakeasy' - - Will Close

Carbon, Ind., March 21 (AP)—Judge B. Marshall, president of the Carbon state bank, announced today that he was going out of business July 1. "Let somebody else's bank be the most frequently robbed financial institution in Indiana," Marshall said. Marshall, 71, is sole employee of the bank. He said the voluntary liquidation not only would paralyze the Carbon banking industry but also the Marshall was the victim of one $5,000 holdup and three visits by yeggmens during the late 1930's and in 1940. Then he decided he'd keep the doors locked all the time and admit only people he recognized.

The precautionary measure failed to work, however. In 1944, two men rapped on the bank door during business hours. Marshall thought he knew them, so he admitted them. They stuck a gun in his ribs and took $500 in bank funds.

Today, Marshall still keeps

Quarantine's Support 'Must'

Unless nurserymen, fruit growers and farmers support rigid enforcement of federal quarantine No. 37, they are going to find a lot more foreign bugs and plant diseases infesting their crops, the state agriculture department said today.

Quarantine No. 37 is designed to protect the country from introduction of serious plant diseases and pests such as the Japanese beetle, oriental fruit moth, Dutch elm disease, white fringe beetle and others that have crept in from foreign lands and secured strangleholds on various crops. Frank McKennon, chief of the state division of plant industry of the state agriculture department said.

McKennon says that Oregon growers can help fight these pests by supporting an increase in the appropriations to the and plant quarantine, which is the enforcing agency for federal quarantines. The federal bureau of entomology bureau's work has become vast.

ly greater with the tremendous increase in travel between countries, McKennon declared.
