

Solon's Gunnarson 'Bumped Off Streak'

(By the Associated Press)
After going nine straight games without a single setback, Carl Gunnarson, Salem's No. 1 chucker, met his master last night in Spokane in the person of Mill Cadinha. As a result of this third game of the current series between the Indians and the Senators, the latter came out second best, 6 to 2, to give Spokane a 2 to 1 lead. It was Cadinha's eighth win against two losses. But two of the six runs scored were earned and a series of infield errors played a prominent part in the final outcome.

Bright spots in the contest insofar as the visiting Solons were concerned, included Dick Wener's 10th homer of the season in the sixth, and Manager Ted Gullie's three for four performance.

Cellar Dwellers Scrap
Upset in the basement department of the Western International league is the highlight of the current week's series and last night the lowly Victoria Athletics, by marking their third straight win over the next-to-last Vancouver Capitanlos, 10-7, kept things cooking.

The teams moved from Victoria to Vancouver in mid-series and finish out the week on the mainland park.

Last night Vancouver's Manager Sylvester Johnson telegraphed from Portland, Oregon, his resignation as manager of the team. He is reported to have given the sickness of his wife there as the reason for the move.

The league leading Wenatchee Chiefs lost out to Tacoma, at Tacoma, 7-6, setting their series at 2 games to 1 for the Chiefs.

Bremerton took an easy 13-6 win from Yakima at the inland city, giving the Bluejackets a 2 to 1 edge in the week's play.

King Clicks Off Golfing Victory

No troubles were displayed yesterday with the long and short parts of the golf game by Bob King, who drove first in the Salem Men's club nine hole roudles outing with a sizzling 35 and a roudle total of 21 1/2.

Bill Estey clicked in after King, taking second place with a 36 and a roudle total of 20. Honors for third place went to Roy Baxter, with his card of 38 for the nine holes giving him a roudle of 19 1/2. Clubhouseman John Varley was in charge of play.

Week-end Play
Best ball twosome play is next on the schedule for the Men's club members. The 18-hole match play will be for men only, set for tomorrow and Sunday, with re-entrance permissible. A return match with Oregon City golfers has been set for some time next month, according to Varley.

Men's club members have set their sights on the Invitational tournament at Eugene, scheduled for July 7. A six-man team will be selected from the local golfers to represent Salem in the 36-hole match play on Laurelwood and Eugene Country club courses.

Johnson Resigns Capilano Position

Vancouver, B. C., June 21 (AP)—Manager of the Vancouver entry in the Western International league, Syl Johnson, today turned in his resignation in a letter to club General Manager Bob Brown.

The Capilano pilot explained that because of his wife's serious illness he could not devote his full time to the club, now deep in the second division.

Brown did not immediately name a successor, but was believed looking for a playing manager.

Another coast conference meeting, a commissions and officials clinic, will be held here Sept. 8 and 9 to be attended by northern division football officials, Bury said.

HOST HIGH BEAT CREWMEN

Host Crew—University of Washington oarsmen who will play host to the intercollegiate rowing regatta—and also try to win it—are (left to right) coxswain Bob Jones, stroke Grant Bishop, David Thompson, Bob Wills, John Anderson, Ted Gibson, Bob Bergeron, Dave Roderick and Bob McFarlane, bow.

Seattle, June 21 (AP)—The mighty Wisconsin Badgers, seeking their first national championship in 65 years of rowing, started a reception committee at the airport at 7:50 p.m. (PST) last night by clamoring for an immediate workout on Lake Washington to make up for lost time in arriving here nearly a day late.

"Where's the shellhouse?" asked Alan Walz, coach of the Badgers, when he and his crewmen deplaned.

The surprised reception committee immediately bundled the Badgers into automobiles and took them into the water just as the University of British Columbia, next to the last crew to arrive, was pulling their's out.

This meant that all eight of the crews entered in tomorrow's big international collegiate regatta tested the fickle waters of scenic Lake Washington yesterday.

The race Saturday is scheduled to start at 5 p.m. (PST).

Faltering Red Sox Face Cleveland's Feller Tonight

(By the Associated Press)
If the Boston Red Sox can still see through the fog that has engulfed them, they can take a good gander tonight at their scheduled opponent, Bob Feller, who started them on their amazing retreat. Since Feller set them back on their heels June 12 the Bostonians have dropped seven of their last eight games including last night's 2-0 setback at the hands of the St. Louis Browns.

Zoldak Blanks Sox
Sammy Zoldak, a stringy sophomore southpaw, applied the whitewash brush to the ragged Red Sox last night, duplicating the feat of teammate Bob Moncrief the other night. Joe Dobson, Zoldak's mound opponent, put up stiff opposition, but a first inning lapse, when the Browns tallied all their runs, overshadowed his nine strikeout total.

Boston lost only a half game of its lead as the runner-up New York Yankees were held to a split in their doubleheader by the Chicago White Sox. A neat 8-hitter by bespectacled Bill Dietrich halted the Yankees 3-1 in the opener as Yankee pitching ace Spud Chandler, gunning for his 11th victory, was forced to accept his third defeat. Floyd Bevens gained the split for the Yankees by besting Lefty Ed Smith 6-1 in the nightcap.

Brooklyn's pace-setting Dodgers and the challenging St. Louis Cardinals readied themselves for their "crucial" three game series for the National league lead which starts tonight by knocking over the Pittsburgh Pirates and Boston Braves, respectively, in easy fashion. Brooklyn won 7-3 while the Cards triumphed 9-1.

Rest of League Hopping
The third place Detroit Tigers advanced to within nine and a half games off the American pace by routing the Philadelphia Athletics 9-2 under a barrage of home runs by Hank Greenberg, Eddie Lake, Bob Swift and pitcher Dizzy Trout, who gathered in his seventh triumph.

Hank Edwards' ninth inning single drove in George Case with the run that gave the Cleveland Indians a 4-3 victory over the Washington Senators.

See cube cool Jim Moore wasn't disturbed by either a circus barker chatting away over a loudspeaker or the opposing baseball team on Leslie field last night as he pitched his Eagles lodge junior "A" teammates to a one-hit, 15-strikeout, 4-0 victory over the boys sponsored by the Salem Police.

Young Moore broke a personal record in the strikeout field. He bettered a feat of striking out 13 opposing batters in the last game he pitched in the Salem Junior "A" league, for a 2-11 shutout. All the games are seven inning affairs.

Other Hurler Paces
Eldon Caley, opposing hurler for the Salem Police, was the fellow who broke Moore's hopes for a no-run-no-hit perfect game. Caley lined out a single to center field in the third inning, one of three men to reach first base on the offerings of Moore. Caley fanned eight.

The Eagles scored all their runs in the first inning after two were out. They tapped the pitching keg of Caley for three hits and combined with a gift of three walks to score four runs, then marked an end to the scoring in the ball game. Jim Williams and Bruce Boatman were heavy hitters for the Eagles, collecting two bingles for three times at the plate.

Jacobs Boxing Rule Threatened by Fiasco

By Oscar Fraley
New York, June 21 (AP)—The fiasco known as the Louis-Conn fight has started reverberations today which threaten to shake the foundations but from under the House of Jacobs, greatest monopoly in boxing history. Had Billy the Kid been successful on a man's errand, even to the point of making a fight of it, it would have paved the way for resumption of the Bum of the Month club at caviar prices. But this one was proof that heavyweight boxing is back in the pork and beans class. Not Brown Bomber

Umpire Ford Fails See Joke

(By the United Press)
The Pacific coast league's biggest baseball burlesque of the season left the Oakland Acoorns in the lead today with a game and a half advantage over their challengers, the San Francisco Seals.

While the Seals were idle last night, Manager Casey Stengel's jovial Acoorns had a hitting bee and blasted the San Diego Padres 14 to 3. The game was a frolic for players and fans alike.

Happy-Go-Lucky
Pepper Martin's happy but not very lucky Padres came out on top in the fun by putting on an eight-inning comedy. Del Ballinger, pinch-hitting for Earl Chapale, let Acoorn hurler Francis Shea's first offering go by and Umpire Gordon Ford called it a strike.

Ballinger beefed and in the middle of the argument pulled out a toy pistol, shoved it against Ford's stomach and pulled the trigger.

Ford failed to laugh and, apparently considering such conduct unbecoming in a league which had announced its aspirations to become a major, tossed Ballinger out of the game.

In the only other league game scheduled the Hollywood Stars turned back the Sacramento Solons, 6 to 3, captured their short series two games to one.

It's a hard syndicate to crash, as more than one manager who a good fighter has discovered to his sorrow. The boys don't like to cut up the pie in too many pieces—so your record means little and many great battlers have had to while away their time in the bushes while the favored few ignored their challenges and split the gravy.

Such a one is Elmer (Violent) Ray, a Hastings, Fla., fighter who has won 42 straight fights across the nation—39 of them by knockouts. Ray takes anybody he can get, and wants one of New York's fair-haired boys to prove his right to a crack at Louis. So what happens? None of the syndicate will touch him with a 10 foot pole.

So your next Louis bout, you lucky people, probably will be the Brown Bomber vs. either Tubby Tami or the worn-out Wolcott. Perfume should be sold—with two tickets thrown in free for every bottle purchased.

Running in front was the combination of Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., and Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex.

A flock of long putts helped Hogan and Demaret to a seven-hole margin over E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., and Sam Byrd of Birmingham, Mich., the ex-New York Yankee outfielder.
