Argentina in Food Council

Washington, June 20 (AP)—Argentina today joined the international food emergency council, leaving only Russia among 21 invited nations still staying aloof.

Announcement of Argentina's acceptance was made by the agriculture department a scant hour before the council convened for its first session, heartened by word from Herbert Hoover that Latin America intends to help substantially to stave off world famine.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson issued the invitations on behalf of the combined food board, a British-American-Canadian agency which is relinquishing its food supply tasks to the new council.

Governments accepting are Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Chile, China, Cuba, Denmark, France, Greece, India, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Siam, Turkey, Union of South Africa, Great Britain, Canada and the United States.

Former President Hoover reported on his return yesterday from a 15,000 mile flying survey of 11 South American nations that Argentina had pledged to do all it could to supply wheat for South American countries where the grain is scarce. In all, he said, Latin-America will provide at least 800,000 tons more food for emergency needs than had previously been expected.

Meat Shortage To Get Worse

Washington, June 20 (AP)—Foreshadowing even slimmer supplies of meats than now exist in many cities, the agriculture department reported today that the nation's big packers were virtually forced out of the cattle market last week by further advances in prices.

The big packers contend that prices for most slaughtered cattle in recent weeks are above levels which they can pay and still comply with government price controls. These packers normally provide the bulk of the meat moving in interstate commerce, particularly to urban areas.

Reviewing last week's livestock markets, the department said the big packers probably secured fewer cattle than in any previous week in their history.

Buyers for other slaughterers—generally small local concerns and plants doing custom killing for hotels and restaurants—were said to have "practically taken over" the marketing run which, at 12 leading centers, was roughly 10 percent of the previous week's small volume.

Mrs. Smith was a member of the First Baptist church.

Surviving besides her husband, Ernest C. Smith, and mother are two daughters, Mrs. Oleada Adair and Mrs. Carolyn Imah, both of Salem; a son, Ernest J. Smith of Salem; three sisters, Mrs. Selma Gorton and Mrs. Myrtle Sutter, both of Salem, and Mrs. Margaret Kellogg of Turner; three brothers, J. J. Women Support Price Controls

Chicago, June 20 (AP)—Mrs. Raymond Sayre, vice president of the Associated Women of the American Farm Bureau Federation, declared Wednesday that "labor and management have embarked anew on their old pre-war policy of restricting production" which she contended led to inflation.

She said production of "huge quantities of goods" and a high rate per man of production were needed to control inflation.

She addressed the 55th annual convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which earlier by a vote of 356 to 266 adopted a resolution backing continued price controls.

The resolution said that "during no war in the history of the United States has the public been protected so successfully from price and general and services inflation."

"Grave danger" of uncontrolled inflation now faces the United States, the resolution continued, adding that the federation supports "continued federal legislation."

William S. Walton, 47 Years A Salem Banker, Is Honored

William S. Walton, vice president of the United States National bank of Portland, was honor guest at an informal dinner party at the Golden Pheasant Thursday night in recognition of 47 years in the banking business in Salem. Hosts were Henry R. Crawford and Paul B. Wallace. It was called an "old-timers party" for the reason that those present were mainly men who have been associated closely with Mr. Walton in a business or personal way through a period of many years. Numerous tributes were paid him for the vital part he has played in assisting the community in its industrial development, both as a banker and by reason of his personal interest.

The canning and hop industries, general agriculture, the paper industries and building construction were among endeavors mentioned.

Mr. Walton began his career as a banker in 1899 when, as a youngster of 15 he entered the employ of Ladd & Bush, bankers. His ability was early recognized and ultimately he became vice president. When the bank was purchased by the United States National Bank of Portland he became vice president of the larger establishment that has branch banks in all parts of Oregon.

He is no longer actively on duty at the bank, but is a member of directorate boards of various business and financial concerns of Salem and other Willamette valley cities.

Invited to the gathering by the hosts were W. G. Allen, W. W. Chadwick, Harry Hawkins, Don Young, George Putnam, D. W. Eyre, Sr., Rev. George H. Swift, Keith Powell, T. A. Roberts, R. W. Hogg, Ben Claggett, William H. Paulus, Charles A. Sprague, Clay Cochran, C. W. Paulus, Lloyd Riches and J. C. Compton of McMinnville.

Atomic Bomb Danger Cited

Portland, June 20 (AP)—Atomic bombs are a greater threat to the United States than to any other nation except Great Britain, Dr. Hans Simons, dean of the New School for Social Research, New York, declared here at the Northwest Institute of International Relations.

Concentration of America's production in vulnerable industrial centers make it necessary that the nation halt atomic bomb production and pledge never to use the bomb first, he asserted last night.

"There are others willing to use the atomic bomb who are less inhibited than we," Dr. Simons warned in proposing we abandon the bomb.

Dr. Eugene P. Chase of the state department said that in the United Nations the world has an outline for action. It now must work for international responsibility, he said.

Ex-Salemites Plan Picnic

Ex-Salemites now living in Portland will hold their annual picnic in Lathrop park, Portland, Sunday, June 30, starting at 2:30 p. m. This was announced Thursday by Dr. Floyd B. Dayton, president of the organization of ex-Salemites, though he is again, after many years, a resident of Salem.

The picnic gathering will be addressed by Ralph E. Moody. A luncheon will follow at 4 o'clock, the committee in charge furnishing coffee and cream. Present-day residents of Salem are invited. Cole McElroy, ex-Salemite, has offered the use of his famous Spanish ballroom if it rains.

Dr. Dayton first came to Salem with his family from Michigan 56 years ago. He left here 43 years ago to take a professional course at Rowley Ophthalmology college in St. Louis. After completing the course he established his practice in Portland with offices continuously in the Swetland building until his retirement this year.

Dr. Dayton is living in the home at 415 North Callipott where his mother, Mrs. Hattie Dayton, who died three years ago at 94, lived for many years. The late Mrs. Jim Lewis, wife of the late warden of Oregon State penitentiary, was his sister.

Japan Disarmed

To accomplish this, the following principal steps are set forth: 1. Japan's military organization shall "remain completely disarmed, demobilized and disbanded and Japan shall be deprived all sorts of arms and explosives, including atomic energy materials. The Japanese shall also be deprived of all sorts of bases and factories for producing arms and shall be allowed only civil police having small arms, and such explosives as are necessary for industrial uses."

2. To enforce these objectives, the four powers would operate, through the control commission, an inspection system which would keep constant Japanese disarmament and demilitarization.

In Washington—Bellingham, $228,877; Bremerton, $87,516; Ellensburg, $40,150; Centralia, $43,581; Everett, $178,195; Longview, $319,145; Olympia, $145,013; Vancouver, $102,803; Yakima $390,640.

Idaho—Boise, $153,563; Coeur d'Alene, $52,460; Idaho Falls, $274,440; Lewiston, $87,279; Pocatello, $76,429; Twin Falls, $60,350.

Permission Sought For New Laundry

C. C. Libby, 1127 Edgewater street, West Salem, has filed with the civilian production administration in Portland an application for authority to build a laundry in Yew Park annex at 12th street to cost equipped an estimated $6000. The building would be 25 by 59 feet, of interlocking concrete block and reinforced concrete.

Sacred Heart Academy of Salem has filed an application for a hollow tile addition to the boys' restroom, to cost $1500.

Things NOT for sale

Loving care and understanding, in the usual sense, are not commodities that can be purchased in any market place. Yet, there are times when the need for them is great—whether one may be rich or poor, or in moderate circumstances.

With us, thoughtful service is not rationed. Our staff recognizes that "Things NOT for sale" are part of our responsibility to all families we serve.
