VACATION-BOUND are Salemites this second week in July. Air travel seems for many to be a gay and exhilarating solution to the problem of "lots of things to do and little time to do them."

Each week-end sees a mass exodus to the beaches—smart wives and mothers often are there before and husbands join them at the end of the days of toil. July has brought no lessening in the numbers of brides and each week brings additions to the thrilling white satin and wedding gown department.

Several visitors will be feted during the coming week, and old friends, who of late have lived elsewhere, are being welcomed back with much festivity.
