

Boulier Talks To Art Group

Before a large gathering of the Oregon Society of Artists in Portland Thursday night, F. Loren Boulier, director of Elfstrom's Galleries, gave a demonstration in the water-color technique and a lecture on art. Boulier advised the gathering to talk and buy American art. "Art in America no longer depends on a European influence because it has an art of its own," he said. "Stature of American artists has grown to the point where Europeans could learn much from studying in America instead of our going there. New York has replaced Paris as the art center of the world with its influence spreading to the Pacific ocean where thousands of artists work and live near the film centers of southern California. Greatest natural beauty for landscape painters is in our own north-west where many of our own Oregon artists are carving themselves a niche in the field of national art." Boulier's only showing in water-colors continues at the Elfstrom Galleries through this month.

Record Enrollment Reported by Albany

Albany—Albany's public schools ended the first week of the 1946-47 year with the largest enrollment of students in the history of the district No. 5, it was announced Friday by R. E. McCormack, city school superintendent. Figures compiled Friday showed that 1793 students were in the four public schools, compared with 1745 last Monday.

A considerable increase in enrollment is expected next week, McCormack said, as a number of students who are working the harvest fields will matriculate.

According to figures given out at St. Mary's Catholic school, 143 students are enrolled there. This is an increase of 10 over last year, it was announced.

'Care of the Hair' Subject of Project

"Care of the Hair" will be the subject of the project presented by Mrs. Marjorie Tye White, acting extension clothing specialist, at the project leaders' training meeting to be held at the YMCA, Tuesday, September 24. Registration will start at 10:30 a. m. Two representatives from each extension unit in the county will be present for the training meeting. They are asked to bring a sack lunch. Coffee will be provided by members of the county committee.

This project will include a discussion of the proper care of the hair and suggestions for becoming hair styles. A demonstration will be given on the correct way to shampoo and set hair.

The project leaders who attend this meeting will return to their own extension units and present the same meeting to the members there.

Mill City Has Pupil Increase

Mill City—Mill City schools opened with a total enrollment of 265 which is an increase over last year's enrollment of 239 on the first day. It is expected this year that a few more students will enroll during the ensuing week when the hop and bean harvests are completed. Students registering in the high school are 75 with 190 in the grade school.

There are 17 seniors this year, 20 juniors, 18 sophomores, 19 freshmen and one post graduate. Grade school enrollment is 15 in the eighth grade, 23 in the seventh grade, 21 in the sixth grade, 22 in the fifth grade, 29 in the fourth grade, 21 in the third grade, 30 in the second grade, and 30 in the first.

Teachers this year, who include several new ones are: high school, Frank W. Smith, superintendent; Stephen Beck, coach; Miss Evangeline Shattuck, Edith Mason, Miss Ina Allen and Mrs. Helen Coates, who is musical instructor in the high school and grade school. Grade school; Vernon Todd, principal and eighth grade teacher, assisted by Mrs. Coates; Miss Bernice Dahl, seventh grade; Mrs. Dora Rogers, sixth grade; Mrs. Fern Sletto, fifth grade; Miss Alice Smith, fourth grade; Miss Sigrun Grimstad, third grade; Miss Prichard, second grade and Mrs. Catherine Lyon, first grade.

Health Clinic Aurora Tuesday

Dr. W. J. Stone of the Marion county health department will conduct a child health conference for the Aurora community on Tuesday, September 24th, from 9:30 a. m. to 3:00 p. m., in the Aurora school gymnasium building. In the morning school children will be offered physical examinations, tuberculin tests, immunizations against diphtheria and vaccinations against smallpox. Parents who come in the morning for a school child conference may bring their infants and preschool children.

The afternoon will be devoted chiefly to the infant and preschool child conference. This group will be offered physical examinations, immunizations against diphtheria, whooping cough and vaccinations against smallpox. All infants in the Aurora area are invited.

Mill City Visitors—House guests this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Mason are friends from Everett, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gibbs and Mrs. Alice Weber. The guests are extending their trip south into California before returning home. Mrs. Nel Walker, of Cornell, Calif., is a visitor in town this week. Mrs. Walker formerly lived here and is well known in the vicinity by the long time residents.

Dairy Foods Off Controls

Washington, Sept. 21 (AP)—Milk, butter, cheese and other dairy products will remain free from price controls, the decontrol board decided Friday.

Disregarding recommendations of OPA Chief Paul Porter, the three-member independent agency decided for a second time in a month that price lids are not required upon these major food items.

Chairman Roy L. Thompson said in a statement: "The evidence submitted to date, while indicating that prices are approaching the critical point, does not provide sufficient ground for action by the board at this time."

Thompson announced that the board will continue to watch the price levels of "certain segments of the dairy industry." "As this information is received, we will be kept in a position to consider whether any action is necessary by the board in the future," he said. In calling for evidence to be sent in before its session on Wednesday of this week, the board had directed attention particularly to prices of cheese and butter.

Oregon Fur Men To Sponsor Expo

The Pacific Northwest Fur exposition will be held in Seattle December 1-6, with the Oregon State Fox and Mink association acting as a sponsor of the event, which is described as a live fox, mink and chinchilla show, according to an announcement by Archie Gardner, Salem, president of the Oregon association.

"The exposition will feature competitive judging of nearly 1000 animals," Gardner said, "and will portray the remarkable progress made by the fur farming industry in western states over the past 10 years."

Foxes, mink and chinchillas from all parts of the United States and Canada will be entered in the show, and there will be exhibits and displays, showing the manufacturing of fur garments from the raw skins to the finished garments, Gardner stated.

Fur farmers who have already entered animals in the show include, C. W. Stacey, Salem; C. T. Chapman, Oregon City; Dwight McCorkle, Eagle Point; Glen Hale, Eagle Point; Louis Nirschl, Portland; Wallace Wickett, Jefferson; D. E. Terpin, Cheshire and Gardner.

Three Salem Persons Taken to Hospital

Three Salem persons were taken to Salem Deaconess hospital Friday night with injuries suffered in traffic accidents.

E. E. Batterman, 39, Salem contractor who lives at 1696 State street, is at Salem Deaconess hospital with a broken upper left leg and a severe cut on the head caused by his car going out of control on East Turner road and crashing into a tree half a mile north of Cottage farm. Batterman said he was traveling about 40 miles an hour and could not account for losing control of the car. His condition is reported good.

Also in Salem Deaconess are Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Manning, 1235 South 12th, injured on Turner road a mile and a half south of State Prison annex. Their car overturned when Manning swerved to avoid colliding with another vehicle. Mrs. Manning is reported to have suffered a spinal fracture and Mr. Manning possible rib fractures.

Mrs. James Roosevelt Injured in Fall

Beverly Hills, Calif., Sept. 21 (AP)—Mrs. James Roosevelt, who expects a second child in December, was confined to her bed today with painful back injuries received in a fall at home.

Members of the family said her injuries were not serious, but Roosevelt, eldest son of the late president, left a northern California political tour to be with his wife.

Thomas Serves Fine Polk County Jail

Dallas—John Floyd Thomas was fined $75 on a drunken driving charge and $15 on a disorderly conduct charge when he appeared before Bill Blackley, city judge.

Thomas was arrested by Police Officer Floyd Ambrose after he had driven his car over a curb on a downtown street. The disorderly conduct charge was added when he used highly offensive language at the time of his arrest.

Unable to pay the fine, Thomas is serving out the sentence in the Polk county jail.

Police officers are also cracking down on traffic violations at the hazardous North Dallas intersection, scene of several recent bad accidents.

Keith A. Smith was fined $5 for violation of the basic law at the intersection Thursday, and Elmer G. Van Horn was fined $7.50 for a similar offense on the same day.

Farming Veterans Invited to Class

Dallas—H. A. Schoth, senior agronomist of the Oregon State college experiment station, will speak to the veterans' agriculture class at Perrydale high school on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock on the topic, "New Developments in Crop Production."

Veterans engaged in farming for themselves or for their employers are invited to attend the class, which was organized recently by James Hathaway, instructor at Perrydale high school.

Smith-Hughes agriculture will also be offered in the high school for the first time to regular students at the school.

Equipment for the school shop has begun to arrive and more is on the way to offer complete facilities for both veterans and Smith-Hughes boys.

Horace Manning Dies at Oswego

Klamath Falls, Sept. 21 (AP)—Horace M. Manning, 67, former Klamath Falls attorney, died Thursday at Oswego, Ore. where he had lived much of the time since his retirement from law practice here about a dozen years ago.

Manning was born in Jacksonville, spent his boyhood in Klamath county, graduated in law at Northwestern University of Chicago, and returned here to practice. He handled the defense in many prominent criminal cases here in the first 30 years of this century, and his dramatic appeals to trial juries are a highlight of local court history.

In 1934 Manning was acquitted of charges of the murder of State Legislator Ralph W.

Horan, another Klamath attorney, in a trial which received wide interest. Since late in 1934, he has lived at Brownsville and Oswego.
