Albany Behind Campaign Quota

Albany—Albany still lacks $819.84 of attaining its community chest quota of $12,000, but to all intents and purposes the chest campaign ended Monday with $11,180.16 in gifts and pledges in hand, it was announced by Charles McCormack, Albany chest committee chairman.

Without doubt, said McCormack, more funds will be given, for even now persons who have been overlooked or who were out of town when the drive was at its peak are voluntarily making contributions, but the drive is officially ended and no more solicitations will be made.

Of the total amount collected $3,000 will be turned over to County Chest Chairman Gordon Graber as Albany's share of the state chest fund; $5,950 will be apportioned among the Boy and Girl Scout organizations, Salvation Army and cancer society and the remainder will be reserved for emergency local charities.
