Parties Seek Missing Planes

(By the Associated Press)
Reports of airplanes crashed or missing sent search parties into western Oregon areas and the rugged Blue mountains south of Pendleton today. State police at Corvallis and Albany were checking two re-ports by motorists that they saw an airplane fall in flames early last night in the Corvallis-Al-bany-Lebanon vicinity. At Hilisboro, the Airoguys Club at the airport there said a small plane piloted by Vernon C. Coulter, Portland, and carrying his mother to his mother as a passenger, was overdue since Thursday on a flight from Red Bluff, Calif.

Civil air patrol craft were planning to take the air today hoping to locate trace of the Coulter aircraft.

Veteran hunters of the Pilot Rock section south of Pendleton started search yesterday for wreckage of an airplane a hunter reported southeast of the Dale forest station.

Vance Barber, Bend fireman, reported a hunter told him of locating a "navy single-engined bomber" which appeared to have crashed recently. There were no bodies in the craft or near. The nunter said the plane was not badly wrecked.

CAA authorities reported the wrecked plane might be either the AT-6 craft missing since Thursday with Rudolph J. Lonza of Spokane, Wash., on a flight from Montana, or a navy torpedo bomber missing over a year on a flight from Spokane to California with two crewmen
