City and County Pact on Dogs

The county dog control board Friday morning prepared tenta-tive form of an agreement to be submitted to the city of Salem covering collection of dog licens-es in the city and the city's share of the proceeds. The agreement as proposed would continue for three years and is subject to approval by the county court. When this is given it will be transmitted to the city recorder for approval by the city council.

Under the agreement the city would employ the necessary offi-cers after March 1 to collect dog licenses which then have be-come delinquent. License fees would be $1 for males and $2 for females and a $2 penalty would attach after March 1.

Most drastic change in the proposed agreement from any in the past provides that the city shall receive its share of license money only from fees col-lected after March 1, when delinquency attaches. The city would receive 80 percent of the license fee only, less pen-alties, less cost of license tags and applications and a pro rata share of indemnities.

The city would enforce the dog license statute inside the city limits only.

All license fees collected by the city, with penalties, are to be turned over to the county clerk within 30 days after col-lection and in turn the county would return 80 percent of the license fee money, with deduc-tions named.

Satisfaction of judgment filed in Hilda vs. Martin. Finalized.

Motions to strike and make more definite and certain filed in Archie C. and Helen L. Shaw vs. H. G. and Estella J. King.

Answer in Eida Elmira vs. Leonard Donald Patzer makes general denial.

Circuit Judge George Duncan Friday held trial of the case of J. P. Ulrich vs. Industrial accident commission. Involving interpretation of the workmen's compensation act as to whether an experience rating follows when the insured changes from one line of industry to another. In the present case the plaintiff was engaged in the gravel business and enjoyed a good experience rating. He changed over to the construction busi-ness and with the change the commis-sion placed him on a new rating regard-less of his experience rating in his former business. The plaintiff is appealing from the commission's order. Judge Duncan has taken decision under advisement.

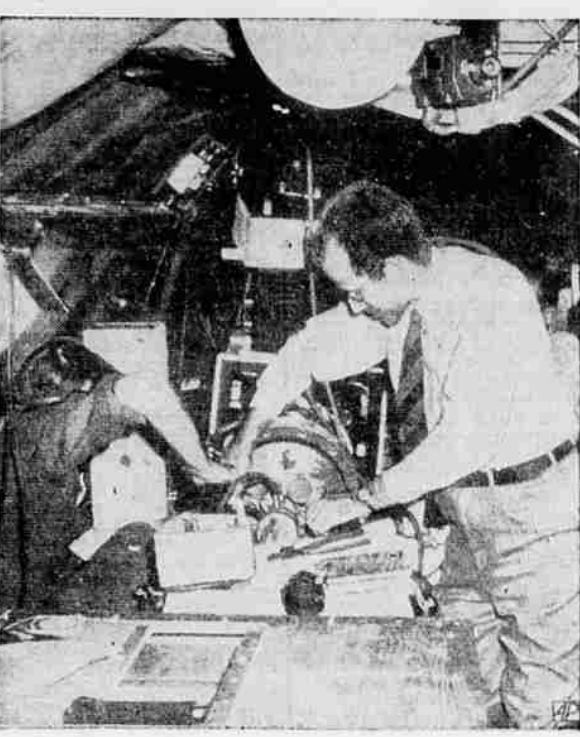

Order confirming sale of personal property entered in R. C. Glover and others as trustees of estate of Sarah E. Carrier vs. Oregon Annual Confer-ence Board of Education of the Metho-dist church.

Motions to strike overruled in Steve Anderson, administrator, vs. L. E. D. Clough and others.

Order in Maurice D. Dickinson vs. Mrs. Charles Duval and others allows and denies motions to strike and to make more definite and certain.

Hillerick Tops Amvets Post

Marion post of AMVETS meet-ing Friday night at the court-house adopted a constitution and chose W. E. (Bill) Hillerick as commander of the post to suc-ceed Edward E. Lewis, tempo-rary commander since the post's organization in October.

Other officers installed at the meeting were first vice com-mander, Ernest Rollins; second vice commander, Harvey Anders; third vice commander, George E. Sandy; adjutant, Lurelne Rollins; finance officer, Myron S. Balloun; chap-lain, Ernest Irsinghausen; public relations officer, Edward E. Lewis; and provost marshal, David H. Hillerick.

The post voted to change its meeting night from Friday to the first and third Wednesday of each month with the next meeting to be held the evening of January 15 at 7:30 o'clock in courtroom No. 2 at the Marion county courthouse. Dues were increased from four to five dol-lars.

Another mechanic reported the plane headed up the Colum-bia river gorge. Two Western Skyways planes searched that area yesterday without success.

John P. Miffilin, company vice president, said normally they would have finished work at midnight. They stayed through the early morning hours yester-day until 4:30 a.m. Then they, and a single-engine, two-place trainer disappeared.

Christmas Seals Sales Total $11,587

Returns to date from the 1946 Christmas seal campaign total $11,587.19, according to an-nouncement Saturday by the Marion County Public Health as-sociation, the agency that is han-dling the drive. This, the asso-ciation states, is about two-thirds of what the department esti-mates is necessary to carry on next year's program. The cam-paign will be carried on through Christmas.

Funds derived from the sale of seals will be used to support such projects as the chest X-ray survey unit and health education programs during the coming year. "The promptness of many residents in sending their checks for their seals immediately is greatly appreciated," commented Ruby Bunnell, executive secretary of the association. She added that the bangle pin sale in the schools has been very good and the booth sales are far above last year's record. The booths are located in the post-office lobby, Ladd & Bush bank and Montgomery Ward's.

Post Office Records Broken

Thursday's record of 137,000 cancellations of letters consti-tuted the biggest day's business in the history of the Salem post office, according to announce-ment of Postmaster Albert Gragg. The cancellations only account for the matter that went through the machines and does not take into consideration mail handled by meters in var-ious state departments and busi-ness houses. And it does not include parcel post since no record is kept of the number of pack-ages handled, either outgoing or incoming. The previous high mark in the connection of letter cancellation occurred on Dec. 18, 1945, when the machine re-corded 136,000.

More than a car and a half of parcel post packages were received over-night while a car-load was sent out.

Another indication of the vol-ume being handled, it was pointed out, was that nine dividing cases are now being used as com-pared with three or four during ordinary times. A half dozen 24 hour shifts are being employ-ed to keep up with the record rush of Christmas greeting cards and letters.

Parcel post, general delivery and stamp windows will be kept open until 6 o'clock Saturday evening while packages will be delivered Sunday.

"We expect to have every-thing cleaned up the evening of December 24th so that all hands may enjoy Christmas day with their families," Postmaster Gragg stated.

31 Million Lily Bulbs Oregon Crop

Bandon, Ore., Dec. 21 (AP)—The Easter lily bulb industry in Oregon, which blossomed to big business when the supply from Japan was cut off because of World War II, really went places this year, figures released here today disclosed.

The total Oregon production was 31,000,000 bulbs in 1946, or three times the size of the 1945 output.

Cool and Curry counties ac-counted for 87 percent of the bumper 1946 crop.

Mrs. Velma Weed Dies in Fire at Home

Albany, Dec. 21 (AP)—Mrs. Velma E. Weed, 73, died yester-day in a fire blamed on an over-heated oil stove in the house of her daughter, Mrs. W. R. Robinett, three miles east of Holley.

Neighbors fought the blaze until the Sweet Home fire de-partment arrived, confining damage largely to the living room, where Mrs. Weed's body lay, indicating she succumbed while fighting the flames.

Mrs. Robinett, two other daughters and two sons sur-vive.

Christmas Party Staged by Realtors

The Salem Board of Realtors luncheon Friday noon was in the form of a Christmas party with past presidents of the organization being honored. Pres-ident Ed Potter whose reign closes with the year, gave a brief resume of the history of the board and then called the roll of past presidents. Those present were Leo Childs, E. M. Miller, William Bliven, W. G. Krueger, F. H. Weir, George Alderin and Robert Forkner.

A girls chorus from Parrish junior high school, directed by Miss Gretcher Kreamer of the public school music staff, sang a number of carols after the director had briefly explained the manner in which music is taught through the grades.

Inexpensive presents brought by each member of the board were auctioned with W. G. Krueger as the auctioneer. The money goes into the board's treasury.

Seed Men Elect Mr. Eugbretson

Portland, Ore., Dec. 21 (AP)—R. E. Eugbretson, farmer of Col-umbia county, was elected president of the Oregon Seed Growers league at the sixth annual convention here yester-day.

E. A. Geary, Klamath Falls producer was chosen vice president and E. R. Jackman, Oregon State college extension ser-vice farm crops specialist, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

New board members included: Howard Wagner, Imber, for the Blue Mountain-Colum-bia basin district; Frank Parr, Nyssa, southeast Oregon, and Carey Strone, Junction City, southern Willamette valley.

Before winding up their con-vention the growers went on record as favoring a tax pro-gram which would include a general sales tax for Oregon; inclusion of all Oregon income-producing property, public as well as private, on the tax rolls, and support of the so-called Cordon bill before congress which would provide for a tax payment to states by the fed-eral government of 2 percent of the assessed valuation of national forest land.
