

Youth Leader Here Tuesday

Dr. Edward Bonzell, nationally prominent youth leader, will speak at a union service at the First Congregational church at 7:30 o'clock next Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Oregon Council of Churches and the Oregon Youth Council.

Dr. Bonzell, who is the professor of Bible and religion at Parsons college, Iowa, has been active in young people's work for many years. He was a delegate to the World Youth Council at Amsterdam, Holland, and was active in organizing the first national youth conference at Lakeside, Ohio. He is a state director of the youth work of the state council of churches of Iowa, and a director of the Iowa Sunday School association. He is also an advisor of the Nebraska Christian Youth Council.

High school leaders in the Salem churches will lead in the worship preceding Dr. Bonzell's address. Cabinet officers of the church high school groups of the city will meet with Dr. Bonzell at four o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the First Christian church.

Baxter to Speak in West Salem

Bishop Bruce R. Baxter, former president of Willamette university, will preach the Sunday morning sermon at the West Salem Methodist church, Gerth Avenue and Third street. The bishop will rededicate the newly decorated sanctuary. Special music will be provided by Josephine Albert Boushield, who will sing "Love" by Van Dyke. Accompaniment will be by Mrs. Alfred Schramm.

The Sunday evening services will be in charge of the young adults, led by the Wesleyan Foundation group from Oregon State college. A hot-luck supper will precede the service beginning at 6:30.

The Gothic style of architecture, according to most authorities, had its beginning in France with the building of the choir of the Abbey of St. Denis near Paris, and in the great Cathedral of Amiens in 1220. This dates the Gothic style in the 13th century which has been called the greatest century in human history because it fused into perfect union three important human activities: art, religion and philosophy.

Gothic art and architecture quickly spread throughout the continent and across the channel to England where it became the principal style for church buildings. One of the identifying details of the Gothic is the pointed arch used in the beginning for structural reasons but in later examples of religious architecture it was used purely for ornament.

Here in America the pointed arch was accepted universally in early church buildings. Today it is the hall-mark of religious structures. Usually built of stone, brick and concrete with the inner support structure of fabricated steel in the present time, here in New England two or three centuries ago the builders were compelled to use wood. Painted white, the symbol of purity, these church buildings are first of all religious structures and without question they are beautiful.

The drawing above shows a view of the First Congregational church in Ipswich, Mass. It is a rare example of wood Gothic. It contains much of historic interest. Erected in 1846, it is the latter of five successive houses of worship on this site. The church organization dates from 1634. "The weather cock atop the spire has kept its perch on this and previous churches since 1749."
