was held up when a number of members of the ways and means committee voiced opposition to appropriating money from the racing fund to this organization after it was found that a dividend had been paid to stockholders from rent derived from use of the building by federal agencies during the war period.

Senator Belton, who made a check on the use of state money by the exposition association, reported that all state money had been used for payment of premiums and for rehabilitation of the building according to statute. He said there were two companies, the holding company which owned the building and another company which staged the exposition.

Senator Jones declared that he was suspicious and wanted to know why the state should spend money on repairing a building, from which rents were collected and dividends paid out of such rents.

Paid Rent Dividends
"I don't like the looks of this," he said. "It appears that the state is appropriating money to a private concern and I don't think that is right for us to allow them to use state money for repair of the building."

Senators Gibson and Ellis joined in the protest and requested further investigation of the subject, with the result that the committee held the appropriation up.

Senator Ellis made an unsuccessful attempt to have the appropriation bill of $50,000 for purchase of a residence for the governor reported out, and after his motion was again defeated by 6 to 5 the bill was tabled. Senator Ellis announced that he would take the floor in the senate and request that the bill be recalled from the committee for action.

The committee approved a budget of $17,946,680.22 for the industrial accident commission as approved by the budget department. This budget is paid for out of funds derived from the department and does not require an appropriation from the general fund.

Parole Violator Gives Himself Up
Reginald Millard Porterfield walked into the sheriff's office Tuesday night and said he wished to give himself up as a parole violator from California. He said he was taken from a freight train at Roseburg, put in the county jail and released, but the experience was such by the time he arrived in Salem he said he was satisfied he'd be picked up and returned, sooner or later so decided to relieve himself of further anxiety.

He said on February 1, 1946, he was given a three-year probationary sentence in Mendocino county, Calif., paroled on condition that he remain in an area of three counties but violated his parole by leaving California about a month ago. Sheriff Denver Young has notified the parole authorities there.

Mrs. Anna Wirsching, who underwent a major operation at a local hospital, is now convalescing at her home in the Middle Grove district.

Fire Rescues Called Miracle

Steilacoom, Wash., March 26 (U.P.)—The safe rescue of all but one of 231 "chronic and incurable patients" from a fire in the 4-year-old wing of the Western State hospital for the insane was described today by the institution's director as "nothing short of miraculous."

One patient was burned to death and a fireman and a utility worker injured during a three-hour fire in the ancient building yesterday, but attendants averted panic by shepherding 230 inmates to safety.

The blaze broke out in a clothes closet yesterday and 60 attendants began moving the inmates outside. Eighty-six were bed-ridden and were wheeled to safety. Others had to be carried out. Attendees evacuated 181 patients from an adjacent building which was threatened by the flames.

Five inmates, none of whom were considered dangerous, escaped but two were recaptured. One patient dashed wildly back into the inferno but was hauled to safety. Another was trapped behind bars on the third floor but firemen hooked a cable to the window frame, wrenched it loose, and brought the frightened man down a ladder.

Bridge Sale to Counties Okayed

Portland, March 26 (U.P.)—The state highway commission yesterday awarded six contracts, rejected four bids as too high and referred four others to the engineer with power to award. In other actions the commission: Tentatively approved proposed Sullivan's Gulch express highway through east-side Portland from the Willamette river to the Columbia river highway on the city's outskirts.

Agreed to raise the highway grade to permit parallel parking in Hermiston, but rejected a request to extend a 1300-foot footpath contract-air-dy let to 2500 feet along the highway north of Hermiston.

Agreed to give Pilot Rock state aid to the extent of $2500 for construction of a new bridge in the town, but refused to supply requested $3344 toward a bridge wanted for log hauling.

Approved $2500 for planting and maintenance on the Pacific highway in North Salem and $3000 for planting and sprinkler system at Springfield Junction on the Pacific highway.

Prohibited parking on the south side of the Pacific highway at Springfield Junction to facilitate bus loading.

Authorized sale of the old Pudding River bridge at Aurora to Marion and Clackamas counties for approximately $6,615.

Lifted the reduced load limit regulations on the McKenzie, Alsea, Richardson-Eugene, and southerly 10-mile section of Alsea-Deadwood secondary highways.

Closed the Sams Valley secondary highway to log hauling traffic between Dodge bridge and Crater Lake highway junction to force log trucks over department scales at Agate station.

Action on bids included: Washington county—2.52 miles of grading and paving, construction of two overpasses on Barnes road-Multnomah county line section of Sunset highway, Portland W. Yett, Portland, 1724.752, referred to engineer.

Multnomah county—Construction of 9 of a mile of rock top, 2.58 miles of rock slope protection, 8.43 miles of graded topsoil and lining and seeding on the Troutdale-Walkers Creek section of the Columbia river highway, J. N. and M. J. Conley, Portland, 1339.179, referred to engineer.

Lane county—Regrading 1.27 miles, surfacing and lining six miles of the Gillispie cut-off-lane section, territorial secondary highway, D. F. McKenzie, Salem, 1117.500, awarded.

Multnomah county—Construction of concrete bridge over Oregon-Washington railroad and navigation company
