

Oregon's Development To Continue in 1948

By Eldon Barrett
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
"Oregon's development will continue in high gear in 1948." That is the prediction of the Oregon Postwar Readjustment and Development Commission.

In his monthly report, John W. Kelly, executive secretary for the commission, reported that continued "high gear" development will result from "unabated" population increase, expansion of existing industries and establishing of new industries, a large labor force and a "vast" amount of new construction.

"The westward sweep of migration is unabated with Oregon practically assured of the position of second state in the nation for percentage increase, where it stood in 1947," Kelly said.

He pointed out that this flux of new residents will enlarge the labor pool, and, coincidentally, result in an enlarged market. A large market will move existing industries to expand and new industries to move in, Kelly said.

Demand for skilled and semi-skilled workers will be maintained at a top level, the secretary predicted, as a "vast amount of construction is planned for this year and there is a heavy carry-over from 1947 contracts which have not yet been completed."

label which read "From the Friendship Train." The people of Strasburg were so delighted at getting this food that they themselves took the initiative and printed these labels.

Following this, a group of Strasburg citizens set up a committee "Pain De L'Amitie," which has been producing 10,000 "petit pain" (white rolls) each day from flour brought in by the Friendship Train. These rolls are given to school children daily, together with a small portion of sweet milk which arrived on the Friendship Train, plus soup made from Friendship Train dried beans.

This program will last approximately two months and should have an important effect upon the health of the children. Apparently the communists also thought it would have an important effect upon their future friendship with the United States.

AUBURN SLOGAN-COINER

Auburn, N.Y., is famous for its stay-at-home folks. Guests at the huge state prison there are at-home practically all the time. However, Auburn allowed two of its leading citizens to migrate to Washington, D.C., and Washingtonians would gladly give one of them back to Auburn.

He is John Taber, chairman of the house appropriations committee and watchdog of the federal budget. The other Auburnite is Taber's secretary, Amelia Aveduti, and Washingtonians are quite happy to have her around. In addition to being one of the prettiest and most popular damsels on Capitol Hill, Miss Aveduti also is a slogan-coiner. The other day, hoping to get her boss in a good mood so he would excuse her from work early, she concocted a new slogan for Taber's main obsession, the republican party. On a big cardboard poster, which she placed prominently in the office, she wrote:

"Don't be a dem fool—Vote republican in 1948." Her plans, however, backfired. For the slogan reminded Taber that he had to write a long letter to the republican national committee. Miss Aveduti dutifully took the long dictation,
