

Prize Winners In Art Work

David Remington and Dale Jones, pupils at the Garfield and Bush grade schools, respectively, tied as grand prize winners in connection with a program of creative art based on the radio program "This Land of Make Believe." Each Monday afternoon the children listen to the broadcast of the story and then draw or paint a picture illustrating the story.

A week ago Lauren Porter, third grader, and David Remington, fourth grader both of Garfield school, won over all competitors in the state in their respective classes.

David Remington and Dale Jones were in competition with all pupils in the first to eighth grade group.

As a result of Monday's broadcast listening Carol Ann Whitman of Garfield received honorable mention in the third grade division.

Pictures are judged for creative artistic talent and for accuracy in illustrating the stories. The Garfield teacher whose pupils have been successful is Mrs. Ethel Carothers. Dale Jones is a pupil of Mrs. Alice Robinson.

Lions Take Straw Vote On 2 Ballot Issues

While it was explained that the Salem Lions club does not participate in politics, individual members were given an opportunity to pass judgment on two issues during their luncheon Thursday noon. They voted 98 to 8 in favor of retaining the present city manager form of government and 90 to 17 for a by-pass highway east of the city.

Al Cox, coach of the freshman football team at Oregon State college, showed pictures of last Saturday's Rook-Frosh contest played in Corvallis and won by the Rooks. Carlos Houck, ex-Salem high griddier, now a member of the State freshman squad, indicates he is collegiate material, Cox said.

State Police Arrest 3,446 for Violations

State police arrested 3,446 persons during September for violating motor vehicle laws, and they warned 6,901 others.

Fines and sentences for these offenses totaled $28,174 and 3,296 days in jail.

There were 77 arrests for drunken driving, fines and sentences totaling $6,120 and 1,695 days in jail.

In the general law enforcement field, the officers arrested 397 persons. Fines and sentences totaled $4,916 and 107 years in prison.

The officers also arrested 217 persons for violating game laws and 14 for violating commercial fishing laws.

Large Hole Punched Through New Paving

County Commissioner Rice coming in Salem from Silverton Thursday morning discovered a large hole 10 or 12 feet long and about 18 inches wide punched through the new pavement just this side of the Pudding river road on the work recently completed under the federal aid program. It had started the center highway department with federal funds. He said the damage was near the edge of the road and apparently some heavy truck had gone through the surfacing.

He said that striping work on the same road which had been started by the county striping crew was held up by Thursday's rain. It had started the center striping at the end of the new improvement past the Central Howell school and had worked about two miles toward Salem when stopped. The court had attempted to get the state highway department to do the striping but that department had no machine available in his location just at present and turned the work back to the county. The road itself will be turned over to the county for maintenance after acceptance.

THE STORY

No American can afford to miss!

General Eisenhower writes his own story!

"CRUSADE IN EUROPE"

The Capital Journal, Salem's leading newspaper, begins on November 6 the exclusive serialization in Salem of the most important story of our generation.

General Eisenhower's own story, "CRUSADE IN EUROPE," is the authentic, behind-the-scenes report — the whole story — of America's most desperate war and America's most crucial victory.

The Supreme Commander of the greatest military force ever assembled writes a stirring, straightforward personal account — naming no words, pulling no punches, as he discloses the tremendous life-and-death decisions, the constant clash of famous personalities, battlefield successes and battlefield failures, baffling political intrigues on foreign soil, the ticklish relationship between American and Russian officers and men.

General Eisenhower's own story is more than a great war story. "Crusade in Europe," by the force and power and complete honesty inherent in its writer, will enable everyone who reads it to understand how the Axis menace was beaten and destroyed — and why the peace of all nations is still being seriously threatened in our world of today!

No American can afford to miss this story!
