

Two Salem Families Enjoying Interesting New Residences

GETTING SETTLED IN a new home is the big interest for several Salem families these days. Among those now occupying new residences are Mr. and Mrs. Coburn Grabenhorst and sons who are atop Candleria Heights on Alvarado Terrace, commanding a grand sweep of the city, valley and mountains to the east. Mrs. Grabenhorst and two handsome little sons, Coburn, Jr., who is four, and Geoffrey, two and one-half years old, are glimpsed in the living room here. Interesting features are the full windows across the east end of the long living room so none of the view is lost. (Jesten-Miller Studio picture)

ALSO ENJOYING A NEW home on West Washington on Fairmount Hill are Mr. and Mrs. Al W. Loucks and daughters, Judy and Suzanne. Mrs. Loucks and daughters are pictured below in the family living room. An interesting window detail also features this home and also catching the eye is the flower box set in the mantel and in the same color as the walls and containing fresh plants and greenery. There were hyacinths blooming the day the photographer called. (Jesten-Miller studio picture)

THE MARRIAGE of Miss Geraldine Ann Majeski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Majeski, to James Roger White, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. White, was solemnized this morning at a ceremony in St. Vincent de Paul church, the Rev. George O'Keefe reading the rites at 11:30 o'clock.

Baskets of pink apple blossoms and white spirea decorated the church for the service, and a cluster of white lilacs tied with white satin was at each pew. For the music, Mrs. V. A. Rodakowski sang and Wayne Meusey played the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white heavy slipper satin. The dress was designed with a bertha of Chantilly lace bordered with seed pearls, fitted bodice, a row of buttons down the back, long sleeves pointed over the hands, a bustle in back, the skirt extending into a long court train. The full veil was arranged from a tiara. For her flowers the bride carried a bouquet of stephanotis surrounded by tiny rosette roses and centered with a white orchid. The bride carried a point lace handkerchief which had been carried by Mr. White's great grandmother at her wedding.

Miss Rosemary Majeski was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a Colonial gown of powder blue taffeta made with a fitted bodice and a bertha collar. The skirt was caught up with a bow in front. She carried a quaint old fashioned nosegay of garden flowers surrounded by pink rosette roses similar to those in the bride's bouquet. Mrs. Anne Peterson and Miss Rose Papac, both of Seattle, Miss Alma Sullivan and Miss Mary White, the latter a sister of the bridegroom, were the bridesmaids. Their dresses were like those of the maid of honor in style, Miss Papac and Miss Sullivan wearing pale pink and Miss Peterson and Miss White, soft apple green color. All the attendants wore ruffled headpieces matching their gowns and short mitts of the dress material. The bridesmaids also carried nosegays and garden flowers.

Vivian Ripp was flower girl, wearing a pale pink taffeta dress and carrying a small nosegay.

George E. Day was best man and the ushers were Leonard Lutz, Charles Domogalla, John Crockett and Ralph Majeski, brother of the bride, were the ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Majeski wore a pearl gray crepe dress with lace, a flower hat and gray accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a fitted gray suit with blue-green accessories. Both the mothers wore corsages of pink baby orchids.

The reception following was in the American Legion club. A large wedding cake, pink and white flowers and silver candelabras holding lighted tapers decorated the bride's table. Baskets of flowers decorated the rooms. Mrs. A. M. Gix of Portland, aunt of the bride, cut the cake. Mrs. Kale Smith, grandmother of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Vera James, his aunt, poured. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. L. E. Weeks as hostess, Mrs. Edward Holland and Miss Irma Brisbeau, at the punch bowl. Mrs. Bruce Hills passed the guest book. At the gifts table were Miss Florence Schlosser and Mrs. Stan Tomaszki. Mrs. M. S. Innocenti and Miss Georgia Green also assisted at the reception.

For traveling the bride wore a light gray fitted suit with matching gray poke bonnet and pink accessories, and a corsage of white orchids.

The couple will be at home at 1047 Madison after May 1 following a trip to eastern Oregon and Sun Valley.

LAWRENCE-HILL WEDDING

Wed this afternoon in a ceremony in the First Congregational church were Miss Dawn Marie Hill and Richard Lawrence. The vows were exchanged at 4 o'clock, the Rev. Seth R. Huntington officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hill, Mr. Lawrence the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Lawrence.

For the music, Mrs. Jean Hobson Rich was at the organ and Robert Gwenn was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of white satin, fashioned in plain lines with a row of buttons down the back, a sweetheart neckline, long pointed sleeves and a full train. The full length veil cascaded from a tiara of seed pearls. The bride carried a prayer book with white orchid and streamers.

Mrs. A. L. King was matron of honor, wearing a pink gown and carrying a nosegay. Miss Marilyn Anderson was bridesmaid, wearing a pink gown similar to that of the maid of honor and also carrying a nosegay. Miss Donna Lawrence, sister of the bridegroom, was junior attendant. She wore a teal blue frock and carried a nosegay.

Kenneth Lawrence was best man for his brother and the ushers were A. L. King, E. D. Lawrence and William E. Hill.

Mrs. Lawrence wore a rose colored dress with gray accessories and corsage of pink rosebuds, and the bride's mother wore a navy blue dress with gray accessories and corsage of rosebuds.

The reception following also was at the church. Mrs. J. G. Stewart, grandmother of the bride, presided at the coffee urn. Mrs. William E. Hill, sister-in-law of the bride, was at the punch bowl and Mrs. Peter Luthi served the cake, assisted by Mrs. N. D. Farrell, a cousin of the bride. Mrs. J. G. Stewart, Jr., and Mrs. Con DeRoss, aunts of the bride, assisted about the rooms. Mrs. Willard Lawrence, an aunt of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Howard Obershaw had charge of the gifts. Miss Jeanette Stewart, a cousin of the bride, passed the guest book.

Following a trip to Canada, the couple will go to Roseburg to make their home. For going away the bride wore a rose colored suit designed with straight skirt and fitted jacket with peplum in back, and black accessories.

Tuesday afternoon brings the dessert and card party for the women of Chadwick chapter, Order of Eastern Star, at 1:15 o'clock in the Masonic temple.
