Boudreau On Probation

It's a well known fact that little sentiment is mixed up in professional baseball and a player's past isn't worth a great deal if he isn't producing. And in this connection Lou Boudreau remains on "probation" with the Cleveland Indians in his role of manager. At least that's Boudreau's opinion as expressed in an article appearing in the recent issue of "Sport". The article is an excerpt from Boudreau's book "Player-Manager", written by Ed Fitzgerald which will soon be on the market.

Lou Must Win

The demonstration staged by Cleveland fans in 1947 when Owner Bill Veeck was considering a trade his manager to the St. Louis Browns was not the reason the deal wasn't consummated, Boudreau reveals. Negotiations just didn't pan out. Lou knows he must win again in order to stay on as head man, but he'll accept any decision Veeck makes and stay on as a player if Bill fires him as a manager. "I'd like to end my days as manager here, but I'll be happy to play for the people of Cleveland, regardless of whether I'm manager or not," says Boudreau.

Fishing Tackle

One of the reasons for the depletion of the supply of fish is man's efforts to produce equipment that will be more successful in his efforts to secure the limit. One of the latest pieces of tackle that is rapidly gaining popularity in this part of the country is the spinning reel. Many fishermen will have that affair on his rod as he whips the streams come next Sunday. The spinning reel is the product of England and Scotland where it was developed many years ago. Its recent introduction in this country has met with considerable success. It is claimed for this reel that it is capable of casting lighter lures than a bait casting rod but heavier than a fly rod. Then, too, it is much easier to use in tight spots.

Needs Special Line

The spinning reel reaches its maximum effectiveness when a line that has the thickness of a heavy sewing thread is used. One such line, manufactured in France from nylon has a test of 3 to 7 pounds. While several special lures have been developed for the spinning reel, the ordinary small wobbler or the conventional fly with weighted heads and bodies can be used with good success. It has been demonstrated that the use of a spinning reel permits the fisherman to get his lure into holes that are not available with other type of equipment. It is recommended that a spinning rod of from 7 to 7½ feet in length be used. A rod that has action a bit stiffer than the fly rod. Spinning reels, made in this country may be purchased from $9.95 up.

Rods Less Costly

Like many varieties of merchandise, the manufacturer of fishing supplies has pretty well caught up with the demand and in some instances the producer has begun to shade prices. This is true in the case of rods. The quality has been improved, also. Virtually all brands of reels are in good supply, including most of the older lines. Hooks manufactured in Norway and England and reels developed in France are recent importations. So, if the fish will cooperate, it looks like a good season for the angler.

Consult Guide

One thing the fisherman should do before setting forth and that is give the Oregon's Angler's Guide a thorough perusal. The new laws are full of exceptions, late openings, stream closures and the like that may cause trouble to the unwary. Then because memory is a tricky thing, a copy of the guide in a hip pocket might eliminate an embarrassing moment with the game warden. Although the legislature upped the fees, the old rate of $3 for a resident fisherman is still in effect. All residents over 14 years of age must have a license. However a "juvenile" license for 14 to 17 years, inclusive may be secured for $1. All non-residents, regardless of age, must have a license. The fee is $10.

Tacoma, Wash., April 26—The Tacoma Tigers finally found a Salem pitcher they could handle and Gene Peterson was the victim Monday night as the locals and the Senators concluded their four-game series.

The visiting Solons won the abbreviated first game of the twin bill 4 to 3 behind the expert elbowing of Bus Sporer, but the Tigers, hitting on a more timely basis, clouted Peterson and Glenn Miller for 10 safe blows as they won the second game, 10 to 5. It was called at the end of the eighth on account of the 11:50 curfew rule.

When Manager Bill Beard and his club left for Bremerton to open a three-game engagement with the Tars Tuesday night they took with them the series three to one. Tacoma will entertain Wenatchee for three contests.

Ray Fortier, Manager Bob Johnson's choice for Monday night's opener, proved tough through five innings as he held the Solons hitless. In the meantime the Tigers picked on Bus Sporer two runs in the second after two were out. Sporer, in this frame, walked two and brushed a third with a pitched ball to fill the bases. Jack Warren singled two of them home.

The roof fell in on Fortier in the sixth when Bill Beard doubled with the bases loaded. Mel Wesley, Bob Cherry and Hill Beeson had earlier hit singles.

Tacoma picked up a third run in the fifth on two hits and an error.

With the score tied at three-all, and two out in the seventh Wesley poled a triple into the left corner of the field. Bob Cherry doubled him home with the winning run.

With the exception of one inning, Sporer's control was good. He walked four during the seven frames.

Peterson got into trouble at the outset of the nightcap and before he was relieved by Miller in the sixth had issued seven walks, and seven hits for a total of seven earned runs.

The Solons cut loose with a blast of four blows in the third including singles by Beeson and Gene Peterson, a triple by Bud Peterson and Cherry's double to chase across four runs to take a momentary lead. Tacoma went to the front by picking up a tally in fifth as Pitcher Hank Sciarra opened with a double and went the balance of the at bat on Hank Bartolomei's two bases.

In the fifth Jim Wert reached first on a fielder's choice, advanced to third on Wesley's double to center field and amble home when Al Spaeter drew a base on balls.

The Solons drifted to the rear from there on out as the Tigers scored two in the sixth, one in the seventh and two in the eighth.

Bob Cherry came out of the Tacoma series with a seven for 12 record or an average of .583.

Parnell Shows Strong In Washinton Shutout

New York, April 26 (AP)—Mel Parnell, the lefty who might have pitched the Red Sox into last year's world series, was making it his personal project today to see that they don't miss out this year.

When the Red Sox wound up in a pennant tie with the Indians in the 1948 race everybody expected Marce Joe McCarthy to pitch Parnell, a 15-game winner in the playoff. Instead, McCarthy chose Uncle Denny Galehouse, an elderly soul who hadn't won a game in three weeks, and who had an unimpressive lifetime record of nine victories and 18 defeats against Cleveland.

So while Parnell chafed in the dugout, the Indians massacred Galehouse and they, not the Red Sox, wound up in the world series.

Parnell had the best earned run average on the Red Sox staff last season and the fourth best in the American league, a neat 3.14 mark, but he's out to beat that this year.

Up to now, in fact, he hasn't even yielded a run. Yesterday, he pitched his second straight shutout, beating Washington, 2 to 0, on seven hits to run his string of scoreless innings to 18.

In New York, Vic Raschi of the Yankees pitched a 3 to 2 five-hitter over the Athletics, scoring his ninth victory over them against one defeat since coming into the league.

The Braves also got a well-pitched game from Bill Voelke who blanked the Dodgers in Brooklyn, 3 to 0 on six hits.

Clint Hartung won his second game, scattering nine hits as the Giants came from behind to beat the Phils at Philadelphia, 6 to 3.

Rip Sewell, 41-year-old blooper ball specialist, continued his "hex" over the Chicago Cubs last night by pitching Pittsburgh to an 8 to 2 win.

Harry (the Cat) Brecheen of the Cardinals chalked up his first victory by beating Cincinnati, 9 to 3, in another night contest.

Detroit at St. Louis and the American was rained out and the Indians and Browns were not scheduled.

Portland Pro Takes Single Hole Playoff

Portland, Ore., April 26 (AP)—Emery Zimmerman of Portland won a three-way single-hole playoff Monday to capture the Northwest Professional Golfers association championship here.

Zimmerman, Ed (Porky) Oliver of Seattle and Harry Lamberger of Portland were tied with 141's after 36 holes. Zimmerman birdied on the playoff hole to win the crown.

The tournament also served to pick sectional representatives for the National PGA tourney to be held in Richmond, Va., May 25-31.

Oliver, former Ryder cup team member, was an automatic choice. Zimmerman did not choose to enter the Virginia tourney, thus leaving the two other berths to runnersup Lamberger and Harold West of Tualatin.
