Mill Workers Out on Strike

Several Salem woodworking plants were among 40 in the state, involving about 1000 employees, that were closed Tuesday in a union-management argument over wages.

The Salem plants included Oregon Sash & Door, Salem-Willamette Supply and the mill working plan of Keith Brown Building Supply, Reinholdt & Lewis were not closed although it is a union operation.

The Millmen's union is asking a wage increase of 17 1/2 cents an hour above the present top scale of $1.77 1/2. They offer the argument that they alone of the building trades have not had a pay increase, and want a new contract to replace the old one that expired March 1.

No pickets have been posted at the idle Salem plants. J. M. Scudder, attorney for the Woodwork Employers' association, said all of the association planning mills would close because the AFL Millmen's union struck the Cassidy Fixture Works in Portland.

In Portland Herman Schunk, union secretary, said the Brooks Showcase plant in Portland shut down in what he called a lock-out.

Scudder said the scale is 10 cents above that in Seattle and Tacoma and that Oregon firms have been losing business to the Washington plants.

Morse Favors Hoover Report

Assurances that Oregon's delegation in the national capital will give every consideration to the Hoover commission's report concerning the reorganization of bureaus and agencies and the elimination of such organizations, have been received at the Salem Kiwanis club. The club, several weeks ago wired Senators Guy Cordon and Wayne Morse, Representatives Walter Norblad and Harris Ellsworth and President Truman, urging adoption of the Hoover commission recommendations.

"There is no doubt about the fact that one of the crying needs of our government today is a thorough administrative overhauling along the lines of the Hoover commission," replied Senator Morse. He added that "as is my policy on matters of this kind, I shall not make a final commitment until I have had an opportunity to make a thorough report."

"The support of all thoughtful citizens is needed in order to accomplish the objectives sought in the creation of the commission on organization," wrote William D. Hassett, secretary to the president.

"The problem confronting us in considering legislation which would give the president general authority to reorganize the executive agencies in that we have no assurance that he will adopt the Hoover commission recommendations in full or in part," replied Senator Cordon.

4-H Youngsters Stage Spring Club Show

Silverton, April 26—Between 900 and 1000, or half of the 1800 youngsters enrolled in 4-H work in Marion county, are here for the annual spring club show and Silverton is being made well-aware of their presence.

Judging in all divisions including demonstrations is under way and will not be completed until late Wednesday afternoon. The exhibits will be closed to the public until judging is completed and will not be open until 6 o'clock Wednesday, closing at 9 o'clock.

More than 200 posters were entered in this division of the health contest and were being scanned by the judges. All home demonstration contests are being held in the kitchen and dining room of the First Christian church.

Bob Hug and Media Dean were piano accompanists.

Refreshments were served and the Glen William orchestra played for dancing.

County Budget

It was plain from discussion had that it is the intention of the committee to slash enough to come within the 6 percent limit and not have a surplus which would have to go before the people to vote upon.

$255,000 Increase
The budget as it came up to the committee showed requests about $255,000 in excess of last year's budget or $243,844 out of balance as to the 6 percent limit. This is alleviated somewhat by legislative action in road matters which take up as an $85,000 slack or which throws it actually out of balance $158,844 and committee members showed determination to lop off this amount in small or large bits as they may be found to get inside the limit.

The committee is expected to be in session two or three days with a considerable number of hearings already set.

Members Added By Amvet Organization

Eleven new members were indoctrinated at the third organizational meeting of American Veterans of World War II, held at the YMCA Friday night. The membership now totals about 40.

Next Friday night the Amvets will meet again to decide whether they will apply immediately for a national charter.

The membership enrollment slogan is "If you can wear the honorable discharge emblem you can be an Amvet."

Acting commander is Dale Gibson, Willamette university student.

Growers Reminded Of Protection Spray

D. L. Rasmussen, county extension agent, reminds cherry growers to maintain a protection spray or dust cover on their trees even though the weather has been very favorable during the blossom period.

Since most trees are in the petal fall stage, growers can protect against brown rot with the same fungicide used during the popcorn and full bloom sprays or dusts.

Lead arsenate is recommended for syneta beetle control during the petal fall stage. Lead arsenate can be added to the fungicide spray being used for brown rot control.

Fire Didn't Stop Barber's Trim

An innocent "victim" became the center of attraction Tuesday when spectators were drawn by Salem fire equipment to witness a small fire at the R. G. Warren jewelry and watch repair shop at 141 S. Liberty St.

Throughout the excitement, a fireman and equipment rushed into the building, Knight Peary, a nurseryman who lives at 375 S. Liberty, sat in a barber chair in the adjoining store of the same building which houses the jewelry establishment.

Lue Lucas, who clips customers in the first chair at 139 S. Liberty, continued his trimming without interruption throughout the excitement.

Warren, who is preparing to move part of his jewelry business to a new location on the High street side of the Senator hotel, said the fire resulted when an electric coffee maker had been turned on and forgotten.

A calendar above the device caught fire. The blaze was confined to a rear room, and Warren reported little damage. He said a crystal cabinet had been burned in the resulting fire. The jeweler reported he put out the blaze before arrival of the fire department.

U.S. Navy Ships

A British consular official said 150 British nationals had registered to leave on the Dutch steamship Boisevalin. French consular officials said they had only one Frenchman listed so far as wanting to leave.

"We are glad Frenchmen are remaining to maintain our national interests," one official said.

The British followed the American lead and withdrew warships of their Shanghai force. Movement of the ships into the Yangtze estuary will put them out of artillery range when the Reds arrive in the world's fourth largest city.

Mulcrone Back in Jail for Assault

John E. Mulcrone, released under order of the police court to undergo surgery at a veterans' hospital while serving out fines for disorderly conduct, was back in City jail Monday on a new charge.

Mulcrone and Howard Howe, 415 Pine street, were arrested on assault and battery warrants signed by Sidney Prairie, 887 Bellevue, and Mrs. Leota Wilkins, 718 N. Front.

According to police reports, Mulcrone and Howe broke into Mrs. Wilkins' home and beat both her and Prairie. Howe had threatened to beat the victim, the report said, if Prairie visited Mrs. Wilkins while he was a prisoner at the state penitentiary.

Mulcrone apparently failed to keep his engagement with the veterans' hospital. Howe posted $100 bail.
