

Frank Harrow Interprets Detroit Dam—Frank Harrow, head painter for the Detroit project, made this oil color sketch of the Detroit dam as it will appear when completed in 1953. Four days of work were required to complete the painting, now a property of the U. S. engineers. Harrow, who has painted from Mexico to Alaska, has held several one-man shows. Other of his area landscapes are on display in a Detroit cafe.

Rector Held on Slaying Charge

Rochester, N.Y., April 27 (AP)—The Rev. George Hetenyi, 40, an Episcopal clergyman, was held in $50,000 bail today in the slaying of his wife, whose bullet-pierced body was recovered from the Genesee river.

The Hungarian-born minister was held as a material witness after he angrily smashed a window and furniture in the county building when asked to identify the body.

Mrs. Jean Hetenyi, 25, former California war worker and violinist in the Oakland, Calif., Symphony orchestra, had been shot twice in the breast with .25 caliber bullets.

Police said a bullet removed from the door of the Hetenyi family automobile was fired from the same gun as two slugs removed from Mrs. Hetenyi's body.

The body lay unidentified in the morgue for 55 hours before it was identified by FBI fingerprints made while she was employed on the west coast war plant.

Hetenyi, supply minister in the western New York Episcopal diocese, insisted that he had his wife "hadn't been living together and said he knew nothing of her activities."

New York, April 27 (AP)—The Dun & Bradstreet index of wholesale food prices declined one cent in the past week to $5.67, the agency reported today.

The decrease brought the index to a level one cent above the 28-month low of $5.66 reached last February 8. The index was $8.76 a year ago.

At $5.66 on February 8 the index was at the lowest point since OPA price controls were removed and was 23.1 per cent under the all-time high of $7.36 reached last July 13.

HISTORIC MEDICAL HIGHLIGHTS—No. 31

A MATTER OF MINUTES

DID you ever stop to think how much of your life is regulated by your clock? Getting up in the morning, going to the office, the amount printed on your pay check, meeting your best girl on Saturday night — It's all timed to the minute—or if it isn't, things are likely to get pretty chaotic. Your body runs on a schedule too, sleep, food, exercise —it needs them all, and regularly. Off its schedule, with irregular sleeping, haphazard eating, your body has a hard time functioning properly and efficiently. Keeping on time all the way means more fun per minute.
